Beginning at eight o'clock yesterday morning and playing continuously on the Y. M. C. A., Chapel and Auditorium floors, classes C, D, E, F, G, and H finished their first elimination round last night.

The lower class games were unusually fast, developing teams in each division which displayed winning brands of basketball. Gretna in Class E showed championship form by piling up the huge score of 56 points.

With forty teams eliminated from the race, the winners will start the second day's matches in an effort to play for the championship cup.

BASKETBALL EDITION

The twelve page special basketball edition of the Daily Nebraskan will be ready for distribution at Station A at 11 o'clock Friday morning. It will contain complete reports of Thursday's games, a schedule of the semi-finals, a review of the Cornhusker basketball season, reviews of the inter-fraternity and co-ed tournaments, a history of the Nebraska High School Tourney, and special articles on University sports.

Copies will be distributed to regular subscribers and to high school basketball players. Members of visiting teams should call at Station A in University Hall for their copies.

CONVOCATION

Miss Oolooah Burner, national student secretary, will speak at Convocation this morning at the Temple. Her subject will be "Campus Democracy and University Spirit." Instructors will excuse any student from 11 o'clock classes who wishes to attend. The University Band will play and the library will be closed. The meeting is for both men and women.

The Nebraska State High School Tournament sailed thru the biggest day in its history, when from eight o'clock yesterday morning to six in the evening 1200 athletes fought for the honors in their respective classes. The seating capacity of the Armory proved sadly inadequate to accommodate the throngs of Class A students who flocked in from Omaha, Lincoln, and University Place. For the first time in the history of the tournament Lincoln went down to defeat in the preliminary round, being eliminated by the fast Omaha Commerce team, 12 to 6.

It was a hard blow to Lincoln hopes to be wiped from the list in the first encounter. For last year's champions to lose the opening contest was a huge surprise, and something which had never happened before in the history of the tournament. Indeed this is the first time in the last six years with one exception that the Lincoln representatives did not reach the finals, and win the cup. The Omaha Commercial's seized the lead at the start and the Lincolnites trailed for the rest of the trip. Coach Beck sent Roddy Lamb and Sougey into the fray during the second half but without result. The Omaha boys were too fast, and the wise ones are looking to see them in the finals. It was during the mad excitement of this game that the grand stand caved in.

One of the big surprises of the day was the defeat of South Omaha at the hands of Norfolk. Splendid passing and wonderful goal tossing won for Norfolk. A mix-up occurred during the first half when both teams appeared in similar suits. Much confusion resulted and both teams were continually passing to their opponents.

GOSPEL OF GOOD ROADS PREACHED BY ENGINEERS

The third day of the second Nebraska Road Institute closed with an increased attendance and splendid programs. That the gospel of good roads has been spreading rapidly in Nebraska was indicated at the Wednesday morning session by the unusual enthusiasm shown. The auditorium in the engineering building was filled with men from different parts of the state who were interested in better highways. The western part of Nebraska was very well represented.

President Wolz emphasized the necessity of loyal co-operation in connection with state and federal aid. Mr. Wolz has been traveling over much of Nebraska during the past year and he brought a message of good cheer to the members of the institute. He heartily advocated community organizations.

Charles H. Roper, president of the

The closest scrap of the day was staged by the School of Agriculture and Newman Grove, the former triumphing after the game had ended, and an extra five minutes were added.

The decision of the athletic association which barred the girls on the Hayes Center team from participation in the tournament will no doubt cause a great slump in the gang which would have sallied out for the spectacle.

DISCUSS PURPOSES OF ORGANIZATION

The three organizations, Y. W. C. A., W. S. G. A., and the W. A. A. met with Miss Burner, national student secretary of the Y. W. C. A., Wednesday evening to discuss their purposes. The aim of each organization was discussed in detail. The W. S. G. A. or the Girls' Club is to cultivate the high ideals of the girls and to promote democracy. Half of the dues paid by members each year goes to help support a girl in the university. After the girl graduates she pays it back with interest to the organization and it is used to help another girl thru school. The purpose of the Y. W. C. A. is to cultivate the religious side of the girls and to forward the idea of service. The W. A. A. seeks to promote girl's athletics on the campus. Girls who are not specializing in physical educa-
