BRIEF BITS OF NEWS

During the spring vacation, which begins Wednesday, April 2nd, and ends Saturday, April 5th, the classes in field geography will go by car to Louisville, and South Bend, Nebraska, where in addition to studying soil conditions, they will be shown the methods of stone quarrying and sand dredging. The topography of the land will also be observed and studied. Probably a short field trip will be made Saturday, March 30th.

Most of the films depicting the legislature in action have been completed and others showing the progress of a bill through the assembly and the general working of the legislature have been started.

Captain C. J. Frankforter has issued a general bulletin to the effect that all students in basic and advanced courses of the R. O. T. C. should obtain a copy of the 'Military Student's Textbook,' volume 1, published by Moss & Guild. These may be procured at the Regents' Book Store for $1.25.

JAPAN IS FRIEND OF UNITED STATES

 the Philippines, because they are in the tropical zone, while Japan is in the temperate, because their acquisition would mean an increase in coastline, which would necessitate the expense of an increased navy, and because the Philippines have not been found profitable in proportion to their expense.

"Japan wanted to cement friendship between the Celestials, but was obliged to play the game as Europe played it in order to preserve her own position," Dr. Minakuchi said. Then he described the annexation of various parts of the Chinese empire by European nations, and their plans of dividing the country among themselves. Japan was obliged to fight Russia for her own national existence, he said, as well as to preserve the independence and territorial integrity of China.

Dr. Minakuchi believes that to accomplish a union between the East and the West there must be one common speech and faith. English is being taught in the schools of China, Japan, and India, it is already the language of commerce, and will soon be the prevailing language of the East.

In conclusion, he said the common link between the East and the West is the Christian religion, that of reason, brotherhood, civilization and progress.

THIRD AWGWAN NUMBER READY FOR SUBSCRIBERS

 editor-in-chief, has some splendid editorials and voices another protest against the date set for Ivy Day.

It is altogether an excellent and interesting number and well worth reading by every Nebraska student who is really interested in the college as a whole and all its activities.

STUDENTS WHO FLY MAY CONTINUE ACTIVITY THROUGH AERO CLUB

 sisting of about twenty planes under command of Major Balfinger, which will leave Washington in the near future for a cross-country tour of inspection of landing fields and to add an impetus to the 5th Liberty Loan drive, will arrive in Lincoln on or about May 1st. The Lincoln Aero Club has extended to Major Balfinger and the members of his flying circus the use of their beautiful airdrome in South Lincoln.

The Aero Club will entertain the members of the circus on their arrival and demonstrate the advantages of Lincoln's airdrome. A late returned aviation officer, a member of the L. A. C., will meet the flying circus in a plane recently completed here, and escort them to the airdrome. After an exhibition and a luncheon at the Commercial Club, where they will be the guests of the Aero Club, the members of the circus will resume their journey westward.

Extensive preparations will be made for the banquet on next Tuesday evening for the coming events. An elaborate program has been arranged. Among the guests of honor who will attend are Gov. McKelvie and Mayor Miller. Four minute talks will be given by Lincoln's citizens and the evening will close with an illustrated travelogue covering the past, present and future of aeronautics.
