 four groups—Applied Mechanics, in charge of Prof. Slaymaker; Civil Engineering, under Paul Lindley; Electrical, under Oliver P. Reed; and Mechanical, under Seth Taylor. Every phase of engineering instruction and production was presented. Students and instructors were on hand at every machine to explain its theory and use. The mysteries of electricity were laid open to the wondering eyes of the on-lookers. The pouring of white hot iron for castings was shown. In the machine shop, which is the most up-to-date, best organized laboratory of its kind in the Middle West, a huge terrestrial telescope manufactured entirely in the shops was exhibited.

Following is a list of the exhibits:
 Department of Applied Mechanics—Tests of steel, wood and other material of construction.
 Department of Agricultural Engineering—Automatic lab. tractors.
 Department of Mechanical Engineering—Operation of steam and hydraulic machinery; gas and oil engines; process of ice making; foundry work; forging and steam-hammer; wood-turning and wood-working; machine shop.

NEBRASKA HIGH IN M. V. BASKETBALL

 soursi scored the most points with 495 to its credit. Kansas was second with 398; Nebraska third with 371; Kansas State fourth with 357; Washington fifth with 228; Iowa State sixth with 214; Drake seventh with 205, and Grinnell eighth with 154.
 Missouri not only secured the most points during the season, but also had the best average game with 35 5-14. Kansas State was second with 32 5-11; Kansas third with 28 3-7; Nebraska fourth with 23 3-16; Washington fifth with 22 4-5; Iowa State sixth with 21 2-5; Grinnell seventh with 19 1-4, and Drake eighth with 18 7-11. Based on offensive, Missouri should have won the title; but the defense of the Tigers was not so good as was that of Kansas State. Missouri had 312 points scored against it in 14 games, as against 323 for Nebraska in 16. This gave Missouri an average of 22 2-7, as against one of 20 3-16 for the champions. Kansas was especially weak on the defensive, as 429 points were scored against it in 14 games for an average of 30 9-14. Had the Kansas defense been anywhere near as strong as its offensive, it would undoubtedly have finished in the first division. No less than 2677 points were scored in the 47 games played, which made an average a game of practically 57 points. The results of the championship games follow:

Jackson High Point Winner

G. P. Scott, '20, of the University of Missouri, was easily the leading individual scorer in the Missouri Valley conference championship basketball race of 1919, as he made no less than 189 points. This was no less than 51 points more than were scored by Capt. W. C. Jackson, '19, of the University of Nebraska five, who finished in second place with 148. Third place honors went to P. V. Vogt, '19, of Missouri, who had 132, while fourth place went to Capt. J. A. Clarke, '19, of Kansas State Agricultural College, with 124.

Higher scores prevailed in this conference than in the "Big Ten" or eastern college circuit, as 2677 points were scored in the 47 games played, as against 2315 in the 53 games played in the Intercollegiate Conference Athletic Association, and 809 for 17 games in the Intercollegiate Basketball League race. This makes an average of 56 45-47 for the Missouri Valley, 47 15-17 for the Intercollegiate, and 43 35-53 for the "Big Ten."

There were six players who finished the season with over 100 points in the Missouri Valley, whereas there were only two in the 100-class in the "Big Ten," and no one in the Intercollegiate. In addition to the first four men, as mentioned above, the other 100-point men in the Missouri Valley were H. L. Shepard, '21, of Iowa State Agricultural College, and Roy Bennett, '21, of the University of Kansas. Shepard was fifth in the standing with 117 points, and Bennett sixth, with 114.

P. V. Vogt, '19, of Missouri, had the honor of scoring the most goals from the floor with 66. Scott of Missouri third with 52. Captain Clark of Kansas State, was easily the leader in goals from the foul line with 98 made in 11 games, or an average of nearly nine to a game. Scott was second with 73. The full list follows:

Spring football practice will start at 4:00 p. m. Monday, April 7. Every football man and every aspirant for gridiron honors must draw their equipment this week and be prepared to turn out next Monday. This includes freshmen and all men who ever intend to try for the team, whether they are eligible or not at the present time. Coach Stewart will be available the rest of this week and needed equipment can be obtained from him or Schellenberg.

ALUMNI NOTES

The alumni of the university who reside in Lincoln and suburbs will meet at 7:30 Thursday evening, April 3, in the Commercial Club rooms to form a permanent organization. Brief addresses will be made by the Hon. H. H. Wilson, Rev. W. T. Elmore, who will speak on the relation of the alumni and the university; George Lee, who will discuss Lincoln organization; Chancellor S. Avery, who will speak on cleaning up the campus and will show lantern views.

L. C. Oberlies, '95, will provide music. Mrs. A. G. Warner will speak about the alumni exhibition of historical relics for the semi-centennial celebration.

It is hoped that all of the alumni of the campus will assist in order to make the results of the meeting as effective as possible for organization.

The meeting is being arranged for by M. A. Hyde, O. J. Fee, George Hager, Ralph Moseley, and Mrs. C. W. Roberts. Miss A. C. Hunter is publicity agent.

Many of the alumni classes have planned their reunions for alumni class reunion day, Friday, May 23. A considerable number of these are expecting to meet in the Commercial Club, where the meeting of the classes from '73 through '86, which have united, will take place. J. S. Dale, secretary of the board of regents, and who has been on the campus ever since he graduated, is a member of the class of '73.

Dr. F. F. Tucker and wife, of the class of '94, are planning to visit the university at commencement time. Dr. Tucker has been spending a furlough in this country. He will return in July with his family to Pangchuang, North China, where Dr. and Mrs. Tucker have made an enviable record as physicians and missionaries. Dr. Tucker is a lecturer in the University of Peking.

CORNHUSKER IN FINAL STAGE OF COMPLETION

The form for the 1919 Cornhusker has been finished, the paper for the book has arrived, and the printer is now working on the page borders for the volume. All of the cuts will be in by the end of this week and the engraver has his work well under way.

This means that the hardest work has just begun and that the editor will be working day and night to complete the job while the members of the staff will take a vacation. Because of this elaborate and expensive work the Annual will probably not be ready for distribution before May 14.

"Senior Pins" are now on sale at College Book Store.

WANTED—Jameson's advanced mechanical drawing texts; will take all copies. Call B-1321 or see Prof. Rasmussen.
