Students Enjoy Annual Trip—Same Towns Bid for 1920 Entertainment.

The three towns visited by the annual University Week entertainment have declared that this year's program is one of the best which has been presented. Many people found it possible to visit the towns on the circuit and very good crowds attended all performances. The entertainers have reported appreciative audiences and it is probable that the same towns will make bids for next year's program.

ENGINEER INVENTS NEW ELECTRICAL SEPARATOR

Bernard Papke, a student in the college of engineering at the University of Nebraska, has invented a direct drive electrical cream separator. The separator is especially designed to be universally operated from any farm lighting plant. Special features of the new device include the reduction of the machine's height, elimination of several gear ratios, and a detachable pulley on the motor for the operation of other farm machinery.

Papke has completed the first separator which has been fully guaranteed by the electrical engineering department of the university.

MISS COPPOCK CAMPAIGN STARTS ON CAMPUS TODAY

Mrs. Katherine Eddy Will Assist University Girls in Drive For Funds.

The Grace Coppock campaign begins Tuesday afternoon with a tea given in honor of Mrs. Katherine Willard Eddy, who arrived Monday evening, and Miss Me Yung Ting. Miss Ting was not expected till Wednesday evening, but found it possible to come earlier. The tea will be given under the auspices of the Freshman Commission and the Xi Delta.

Mrs. Eddy is an active executive of the Foreign Department of the Y. W. C. A. and has just returned from an extended trip in the Orient. A large part of the trip was spent at the National Headquarters in China, and in speaking to groups of Chinese girls. Mrs. Eddy visited at the university two years ago during the Nebraska-China campaign.

Miss Me Yung Ting is one of the fifty Chinese girls being educated in America under the Boxer Indemnity. The indemnity paid to the United States as the result of destruction of American lives amounted to over a billion dollars. The United States returned this money to China to be used in educating their people in American schools. Miss Ting was graduated from Mount Holyoke and is now taking the medical course at Ann Arbor. Her coming to America was a direct outcome of the work of Grace Coppock.

Vespers will be held Tuesday evening at 5 o'clock. Mrs. Eddy will speak on "The New Orient." Helen Kendall will preside. Miss Me Yung Ting will speak Tuesday at 7 o'clock at the Woman's Hall to the girls on the committees.

STUDENTS INJURED WHEN AUTOMOBILE OVERTURNS

Willnam Maddox, '19, of Falls City, and Harold Burke, '22, of North Platte, were injured when the automobile driven by Maddox in which they were riding was overturned near Eagle Sunday night. Burke's arm was fractured and Maddox received severe body bruises.

The two students were returning from Falls City, where they had spent spring vacation. They were reported Monday night to be recovering rapidly.

FAST COMPETITION IN PENN CARNIVAL

Cornhusker Speed Merchants May Attend National Track Meet This Month.

Large Eastern Colleges Will Be Represented by Many Famous Athletes.

Cornhusker track enthusiasts are interested in the following announcement of one of the greatest national track events. Nebraska hopes some day, to compete in this great tournament and the wonderful prospects for next year's team map turn this dream into a reality.

Pennsylvania's Annual Relay Carnival to be held on Franklin Field on April 25 and 26 looms up once more as the greatest athletic meet of the year. Already, the list of teams entered is approaching the 300 mark and it now looks as if every college relay team fast enough to warrant taking to the meet and every star college athlete east of the Rocky Mountains will be on hand for the great classic.

All the big colleges of both the east and the west have sent word that they will be on hand. The track games of the past two weeks indicate that the calibre of the teams entered will be right up to pre-war standards. Harvard, Princeton, Cornell, Chicago, Michigan, Columbia, Dartmouth, Notre Dame, Yale and many other colleges have had their athletes in action and some remarkable performances have been seen. In the east, the University of Pennsylvania and Harvard have made the best showing in relay racing.

Pennsylvania's one mile team has shown itself the fastest indoor team in the east. In the west, Chicago has a similar distinction so that the meeting of these two teams at the Relay Carnival will be well worth seeing. But outdoor racing is different from indoor work and both Pennsylvania and Chicago will have to look to their laurels for Harvard, Pittsburgh, Michigan, Columbia, Dartmouth, and Massachusetts Inst. of Tech. will have real fast teams to put in this event.

Fast Half Milers

In the two mile relay Harvard recently proved against Yale that they have some fast half milers. They will be hard to beat in this event at the Relay Carnival, though Cornell, Notre Dame, Chicago, State and Columbia are known to have fast quarters. The long distance men have not yet had their innings but judging by general reports, the four mile relay championship will be up to the standard. The eastern colleges will watch Coach Stagg of Chicago closely as he has a rare lot of distance men and will be strong in either the two or the four mile event, though he can hardly expect to have fast teams in both races.

COEDS START SALES FOR SEMI-CENTENNIAL BOOK

Orders will be taken this week for the Semi-Centennial Anniversary Book of the University of Nebraska, issued in honor of the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the institution. The book will contain about one hundred and fifty pages, will have six illustrations, and will sell for the low price of fifty cents when bound in paper and for a dollar when bound in cloth.

Proof for the book has already been read. The number of copies to be printed will be governed by the number of subscriptions taken. Many have ordered half a dozen or more copies, who expect to send them to alumni. (Continued on Page Three)

BIG UNITED AG MIXER WILL BE HELD FRIDAY

Plans for the United Agriculture Mixer which will be held in Art Hall, April 11, are rapidly nearing completion. The mixer will promise to be the biggest event of the year on the Ag calendar. Friday's social affair will be attended by all agriculture students of the university and the committee on entertainment are confident that the mixer will go down into the annals of school history.

The committee announces that a good program has been arranged for the evening. An excellent orchestra has been engaged to furnish music for the dancing. The nominal price of twenty-five cents will be charged for admission.

FRANCIS DIERS SHOT IN HOLDUP ACCIDENT

Little Improvement Shown In Condition of Uni. Student Injured Saturday Night.

Francis H. Diers, '22, of Lincoln, who was shot in the abdomen by a youthful holdup Saturday night while auto riding south of the city with Paul Dobson and two girl friends, is still in a critical condition at the Lincoln Sanitarium. The .45 caliber bullet which was fired by the boy bandit lodged in Dier's liver and was removed by operation Sunday, leaving him in a serious condition. The doctors said last night that he was about the same and they could not report any marked improvement.

The two couples were motoring in Dobson's car at Twenty-fourth and VanDorn streets about 11:45 p. m. when three men, masked with bandanna handkerchiefs rushed out ordered the occupants of the car to throw up their hands. Two of the holdups jumped onto the running boards of the car and pointed revolvers at the men. Dobson who was driving reached down to shift the gears and both of the gunmen fired. One bullet hit Diers, who was riding in the back seat, and the other glanced past Dobson's head and shattered the wind shield. All three bandits then fled and were not seen until the police caught them Monday morning. (Continued on Page Three)

HUSKER MAT MEN GRAPPLE THURSDAY

Every Wrestler in School Urged by Dr. Clapp to Enter Tourney.

Entries Must Be Made by Wednesday—Medals and Jerseys to Winners.

The Cornhusker wrestling season will culminate Thursday night in the big annual all university wrestling tournament at the Armory. The preliminaries will start promptly at 8:00 o'clock and bouts in the six classes will be run off in quick succession. All entries must be made with Dr. Clapp today or before 6 o'clock tomorrow.

The tournament will be staged under the rules of the Western Intercollegiate Gymnastic, Wrestling and Fencing Association. Time limit for the bouts will be seven minutes and all contestants must be down to actual weight and may weigh in any time after 11:00 a. m. Thursday. A referee has not been selected, but it is probable that Dr. R. A. Clapp, who has been coaching the team this season, will officiate.

Medals for Winners

The man who proves his supremacy in each of the six classes will be the undisputed university champion in this division and will be presented with a medal and a jersey. E. H. Long of the College Book Store has donated the handsome medals and the jerseys are the usual scarlet and cream wrestling jerseys given by the Athletic Department at the end of each season. However, if the gate receipts prove heavy enough the management is considering the purchase of six beautiful dress jerseys, which can be proudly worn on all occasions.

Open to All

This annual tournament is an all university affair and any man may enter, be he freshman or senior. The heavyweight honors will without doubt be landed by a representative of the first year men, as Pucelick and Monte Munn are the two strongest contenders in this field, unless some dark horse suddenly takes the mat. Dr. Clapp strongly urges every man (Continued on Page Three)

Burglar Visits Theta House; Goes Away Empty Handed

The Thetas opened spring vacation with a burglar.

He was the first prowler to visit a fraternity house this year. Moreover he was a nice burglar and didn't take anything, although he stirred up some little excitement. Here's the way it happened in the vicinity of the Kappa Alpha Theta house, 1548 R street, in the early hours of last Thursday morning.

The shades of night had fallen fast. The Junior Prom was over. The long line from Piller's had been absorbed by the darkness, and everyone seemed to have the spirit of a real spring vacation. Long files of girls with suitcases went forth to catch those trains that persist in leaving during the wee hours of the morning.

The Kappa Alpha Theta House was dark—dark as the shadows around it. Only the glimmer of a dimmed street light served as a beacon to the weary passersby. Two objects or rather personages were the sole moving bits of scenery in the silhouetted landscape. These objects were sitting very still on the front porch of the Theta House. They were Mildred Smith and Orville Ellerbrock who had returned from the Junior Prom.

Out of the inky blackness of the night emerged a gaunt figure on a bicycle. Stealthily he tiptoed to the front window of the house. Quietly he peered in. All was dark. Not a creature was stirring within and only two were slightly stirring without.

Suddenly spying the front porch occupants the dark figure paused, groped in the darkness, and was gone.

At 2 A. M.

A Theta freshman had just sounded the gong in the dining room announcing that it was two a. m. when she suddenly remembered that she must hasten back to bed. Five minutes later all was quiet again. The only sound was the mumbling from the study where some diligent Theta poured over her Political Science lesson.

Without warning a shrill scream issued forth from the chamber of Miss Fay Davis. She had seen a flashlight as it flickered through her transom. Her nail file was ready for instant action. Quietly she lay and thought she heard a bicycle going softly down the stairway.

On the third floor Miss Ruth Wilson had decided shortly after retiring that the heater in the basement must be turned on. Leaving her room she descended to the cellar. While she was gone the bicycled burglar entered her room. When she returned the burglar had disappeared, but Mistress Fay with white face, met Mistress Ruth at her doorway and related the happenings of the previous ten minutes. Immediately Miss Wilson clutched a blanket, which remained in her hand.

The burglar burgled nothing. It is not known whether he wanted money only or whether the rumor of smallpox at the Theta house discouraged him in his plundering.

The Student Should Know---

THE ART GALLERY

The University Art Gallery situated on the third floor of the Library building is one of the landmarks on the campus by which students unconsciously visualize the university. It deserves special consideration since it has just finished its twenty-fifth annual exhibition. This exhibition of renowned paintings is given every year and is conducted by the Nebraska Art Association. This association is not connected with the university but its interests and plans have always centered around it. It is a stock company with F. M. Hall for president, Professor Grumman, secretary, and W. E. Hardy, treasurer. The art gallery contains a very fine collection of paintings and also casts. Some of the most noted of them are, "The Peep," by Andre Danchev; "Little Peasants of Brittany," by Elizabeth Nourse; "The Prime Orchard," by Edward Payne; "The Golden Screen," by Robert Reid and "The Waning Day," by Edward Pottbock. The regents are anxious to increase the number of paintings.

The art gallery is used for many purposes besides exhibitions. Art classes are held in it every day. Recreations and dances have been given there. It is also used for rehearsals for the University chorus. Frequently the University orchestra gives an entertainment in the art gallery and it is always open to the public. (Continued on Page Three)
