FRANCIS DIERS SHOT IN HOLDUP ACCIDENT

Proved to Be Boys

The holdups turned out to be three boys, sixteen, seventeen and eighteen years old, when the police arrested them yesterday morning. Two of them, Hershell Wendell, 17 and Earl McAtee, 14, were caught as they were crawling out from under the house of Wendell, at 2146 South Ninth street, having slept there all night. They both admitted the crime when questioned by Detectives Anderson and Longstreth, and told of Fred Shirley, 18, who was the third member of the gang. All three were taken to the police station and further questioned by the officers.

Shirley, who is a senior at Lincoln high school, proved to be the one who shot Diers and Wendell the one who fired at Dobson. The other took no active part in the shooting but was around with an old revolver.

After committing the crime, they fled and caught a freight train to Appleton, but came back on the next train to Lincoln. Wendell and McAtee crawled under the house where they spent the night in hiding, but Shirley went home and was found in bed when the police went to arrest him Monday morning.

Confesses Another Holdup

The youthful trio admitted committing another holdup in the same neighborhood last Tuesday night when they stopped R. C. Roper and ordered him to shell out. They found only 75 cents on his person, overlooking $15.00, and told him that if he would drive them to a certain corner of the city they would not take his money. He did so and the affair was not reported.

A charge of attempted highway robbery will probably be entered against the youths.

who intends to get into the wrestling game next year to enter the tourney. Plans are being laid to make next season the greatest in Nebraska wrestling history and the experience gained in this big contest will be a valuable asset to the grapplers who next year will test their powers with the strongest college men in the valley. Dr. Clapp is decidedly optimistic over next year's prospects and the fans who watch the men work out Thursday night will agree that his optimism is well founded.

ENGINEERS!

Fifty per cent of your success as an engineer is going to depend upon your technical skill. That you are spending four years of your life studying an engineering course shows that you appreciate that fact. Do you, however, appreciate that equally important fact that the other fifty per cent of your success will depend upon you as a man, your personality, your capacity to lead men?

De Lesseps, one of the greatest engineers that ever lived, failed to build the Panama Canal because he could not inspire the confidence of his workmen. Goethals succeeded because he had the personality to command the respect, the admiration, and the unquestioning obedience of the laborers who under his direction accomplished that great engineering feat.

In your first real engineering job you will have to handle gangs of men. Do you believe you can do it tactfully and successfully?

You will not be satisfied, however, to remain an employee all your life. You hope to rise to the top of your profession. Don't forget your promotion will depend to an immeasurable degree upon your executive ability, your leadership qualities.

Carnegie had in his employ hundreds of men who knew more about steel than he did. He owned and managed the business because he understood more than the mere making and molding of steel. He knew men and how to manage them. Develop that executive ability of yours. Read today's back page.

GIRLS!

You are not going to marry him for his money—but how much less than $2,000 a year can the two of you live on? "The average college graduate," says the Literary Digest, "makes only $969 his first year, $1,287 his second year, $1,523 his third year, and at the end of five years is making only $1,885 a year," is he today developing those success qualities which will make your dreams come true? Read today's back page.

STUDENTS!

Has the thought of going to college become a dream because of lack of funds? Are you going to sit back calmly and allow the best thing in life to pass you by? Don't!

We can help you earn a scholarship to any college in the country and we can show you testimonials from hundreds of students we have helped. Write Review of Reviews Scholarship Fund today for "Victory," the booklet that tells how.
