TAG YOUR IT

Have you purchased a tag yet? If not, you will have an opportunity to do so some time today. They are selling at one dollar each, but the solicitors will be glad to accept any amount that you are able to give. A dollar from one thousand students will send the relay team to Harvard and Chicago, and besides, will buy sweaters for the "letter men" of the past season. The cause is a worthy one, and will receive the support of every loyal Cornhusker. If you have failed in your support of the other movements that have been initiated on the campus this year, you now have the chance to redeem yourself. A dollar given today will clear your conscience for the mistakes of the past.

It is not expected that all the money will be raised from the student body. In fact, the students should not be required to assume the entire burden of sending the team to the east. The business houses of Lincoln that live from the student trade during the school year, derive quite as much benefit from excursions of our athletic teams about the country, as does the student body. Such trips are one of the best advertising mediums for the state, for the city, and for Lincoln business men. The merchants of Lincoln, although they may feel that they are "bled" by various calls for subscriptions from the University, are indebted to university students for a large share of their business each year. An estimate made some time ago, placed the annual university trade with Lincoln stores at an amount over a million dollars. Lincoln merchants realize that the University is a gold mine of extremely profitable business.

There are certain concerns and establishments in the city, that profit more than others from the university trade. Such are the Lincoln Hotel, Rosewilde party house, Schembeck's orchestra, the theaters, the pool halls, the cigar stores, the drug stores, the clothing establishments, book stores, banks, and grocery stores. Establishments like the Lincoln Hotel, which receive such an enormous business from the University each year, should give subscriptions of not less than one hundred dollars. It will be an example of sheer ingratitude if these places do not come to the aid of the University at this time. They should be made to stand the expense of the eastern trip with these students, and the faculty should not be expected to pay any large share of the amount. In fact, much more cannot be expected from the faculty after what they have done so far this year. They have come to the front with liberal subscriptions in every campaign that has been held on the campus this year, and if any single body has done its part, that body is the faculty.

Already the fraternities and sororities have promised that they will subscribe one hundred per cent for the tags. In the last campaign the non-fraternity students were not given a chance to boost the team along. Today, however, they will be given their opportunity. They have an opportunity to show to the school that they, too, are as active in boosting for the University as are the fraternity and sorority students. In all campaigns such as this, it is always the fraternity people that lead. They have the advantage of organization, in taking hold of and pushing things. We would like to believe that their spirit is no better than that of the non-fraternity people, but that they are always forced to give over the leadership in campaigns and "drives" to the more active fraternity students, who are accustomed to get into things on the jump. Show your spirit then, you students who are not given a chance to "run things," and show the school that your spirit is quite as loyal as that of your fellow students who are members of the various Greek letter organizations.

FETE DAY VISITORS

Fete Day will be held at the University Saturday. State high schools will flock to Lincoln for the second time this year, to engage in athletic sports. Last year about fifty athletes from eleven schools participated in the events; this year there will be 150 participants. The size of the meet will be nearly treble that of the one last spring. As was the case with the basketball tournament, the track meet will be the largest in the history of the state. Each succeeding year sees more interest taken in the University sport carnivals, and each year brings the high school lads to the University in increasing numbers.

It is a boon to Nebraska that this is so. Nebraska high school boys are becoming more interested with each passing year in the University and its affairs. They are beginning to take an interest in the University. They are coming to feel that they are a part of the institution, and that as soon as they are finished with their secondary education, they will come to Nebraska to take part in the athletics of the school which is their true alma mater. We must encourage this feeling all we can, for the future of Nebraska depends upon the men that are to come from the small towns and schools of the state. They must not go to Iowa, to Kansas, or to any other university except Nebraska. This is their true home, and we mean that they shall come here. We must give the boys a welcome Saturday, and let them know that we are counting on them to come to Nebraska as soon as they are ready for college.
