Omaha

Guardian of Public Health

OMAHA is one of the leading hospital centers west of the Mississippi. Here are located fifteen modern hospitals, containing 1,425 beds, treating annually more than 70,000 patients from Nebraska, Iowa, South Dakota, Wyoming and surrounding states.

Omaha is helping to safeguard the health of a vast territory.
During the "flu" epidemic a vaccine prepared in Omaha was furnished free to hundreds of doctors all over the country.

The medical colleges and hospitals of Omaha are annually graduating hundreds of doctors and nurses, who carry the lessons they learn all over the Middle West.

PERSONALS

Caroline Kimball, '18, of David City is visiting at the Gamma Phi Beta house.

Kathryn Epperson, ex-'21 of Clay Center, is spending the week at the Alpha Xi Delta house.

Harold Gerhart, '21, will spend Sunday in Omaha.

Mrs. W. Moodie is the guest of her daughter, Marian, at the Delta Delta house.

Lieut. Harold McGlasson, ex-'19, who has been in France for the last year, has returned to Lincoln.

Michigan is planning to enter a team in the eastern intercollegiate meet this spring in order to make up for missing the Penn relays. The Wolverines are coming back into form now, after the upset at the Drake relays, and expect to walk over all opposition for the balance of the season without any trouble at all. The big test for the Maize and Blue comes in the Chicago dual meet to be held at Ann Arbor May 17.

ALUMNI NOTES

JUNIORS IN BASKETBALL
