GREEKS ARE LOW IN SCHOLARSHIP

Sigma Alpha Epsilon Wins Hainer Cup—Alpha Delta Pi Leads Sororities.

Farm House Makes Highest Average Ever Reached by Any Fraternity.

The scholarship report for the second semester of last year issued Saturday showed Sigma Alpha Epsilon at the top of the national Greek letter men's organizations and Alpha Delta Pi leading the sororities. The scholarship standing, as a whole, was lowered by the absence of older men from school.

The Farm House made a record that far exceeds that made by any fraternity or sorority in the past. Eighty-five per cent of the grades of its members were above 80, and its index number or weighted average was 311.

The Hainer cup, which is given to the national Greek letter fraternity member of the inter-fraternity council, which has the highest scholastic average, is this year given to Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Lower than Usual

While some fraternities did quite well there were very few that did moderately well and the number at the bottom was unusually large. The scholarship among the men, both fraternity and non-fraternity, was lower than usual, due to the fact that many of the older men had not yet returned from the war, and the consequent predominance of the younger element.

The scholarship among the sororities took a decided drop, while that of the non-sorority women was the highest yet attained by them.

Following are the individual records:

Anxious to travel for a big English firm in the ham line, an Irishman obtained an interview with the proprietor. "What experience have you had?" the Irishman was asked. "Eighteen months," was the answer. "Eighteen months!" scornfully repeated the proprietor. "What could you learn about bacon in that time? Why, I've been studying for forty years, and don't know half enough about it yet." "Bedad," exclaimed Pat, with a confident smile, "if I had been studying it for forty years, I'd know how to make a pig." He got the job.

Hardly Courteous

One girl said to another: "I always feel safe when there is a man in the house." The second girl with a nasty laugh replied: "I don't see an yreanon why you shouldn't."

IOWA PREPARES FOR GAME WITH HUSKERS

IOWA CITY, Sept. 27.—Football season for 1919 at the university got officially underway Monday, September 15, when twenty-two husky grid warriors, mostly veterans, reported to Coach Howard Jones and Assistant Coach James Ashmore. Now in the neighborhood of forty men are reporting twice daily on Iowa field in preparation for the hard battle with the Nebraska Cornhuskers, October 4.

NEW STRUCTURES ON CAMPUS IN SERVICE

Buildings Finest Examples of Modern Educational Architecture.

While hundreds of University of Nebraska students were enjoying the cool breezes of the Minnesota lakes, and others were in the midst of a diligent summer employment, the construction department at the university was working day and night in order to have the new buildings at the university entirely ready for the swarm of students expected in September.

The new social building, a beautiful example of modern educational architecture, was opened for university use immediately after registration. Although the walks and approaches surrounding this and the teachers' college building are yet in the process of construction, students are overlooking this necessary delay, and appreciating the fact that the buildings are ready for occupation. The new college of business administration is housed on the third floor of the social science structure, and the second story is devoted to the departments of history, political science and sociology. The building is built primarily for room and sufficient lighting facilities. The sky-light system has been used with success and with the large number of windows the building is most excellently lit.

UNIVERSITY MAY REACH SALVATION ARMY DRIVE GOAL

Although the complete returns are not in, reports of last week's salvation army drive indicate that the university has reached its $1,000 goal. According to Irene Shuff, who was in charge of the campaign, Alpha Omicron Pi was far in the lead among the sororities for amount of subscriptions. Delta Delta Delta was second and Achoth third. The fraternities had turned in no report late Saturday night.

Miss Shuff had turned into headquarters $718 Friday night and the contributions Saturday increased that amount by about $100. Complete returns will be in by Tuesday.

The military department of the state university has received an addition to its staff in Major John N. Houser of the field artillery, United States army who reported for duty to Colonel William F. Morrison on September 23.

Major Houser is a native of New York and was graduated from the United States military academy, 1912, and commissioned in the field artillery. Previous to the war he served at Fort Sill, Okl., on the border and in the Hawaiian Islands. During the war he served with various field artillery organizations in the United States and was sent to France for a short tour of duty in the spring of this year.

Major Houser's university experience consists of one semester as a student at Cornell university prior to his admission to West Point. His last station was Columbia university, New York city, where he has been engaged in R. O. T. work since February except for the time spent abroad.

It is expected that Mrs. Houser and her young son will arrive soon to join Major Houser. They are at present in Dayton, Ohio, at the home of Mrs. Houser's mother.

The university keeps one man busy looking after the keys and locks of the institution. There are over 10,000 locks to the university buildings. One of the new buildings has 420 locks.

FLING UPHOLDS WILSON'S WORK

Nebraska Historian Denounces Work of Opposition Element in Washington.

Tells of Difficulties Encountered by President Wilson While at Paris.

In his first public address since returning to Lincoln, Dr. Fling of the European History department strongly denounced the attitude of the opposition element in Washington to the work President Wilson was conducting while at the Peace Conference in Paris. In speaking before the teachers' institute at the Lincoln High School Auditorium Saturday morning, Dr. Fling gave a very interesting account of some of the things he came in touch with while at the Peace Conference as delegate from the war department, showing the extreme difficulties under which the president was working, with opposition from home continually barring the way to the accomplishment of his work.

Three times during the past eight years, declared Professor Fling, the fate of the world has rested on the United States First in 1911, second from 1914 to 1918 and now. In 1911 he charged, when France, England and United States were about to make a treaty that would have averted the world war, members of the foreign relations committee of the United States senate actually changed the context of the document in order to defeat it.

There is no question, he said, after reading 6,000 years of history, but that the world must organize to insure peace, and as the people of the United States are not "quitters" as soon as they wake up to the realization that they must organize with the rest of the world then we will have a league of nations beyond doubt.

BUCK FOR STUDENT DORMITORY SYSTEM

Dean Proposes erection of University Housing Quarters With Private Capital.

Thinks Time Has Come When Students Cannot Be Cared for by city

A movement to establish student dormitories at the University of Nebraska has been endorsed by Prof. Philo M. Buck, dean of the college of arts and sciences. Dean Buck presented the matter before a downtown business club at a luncheon held at the commercial club Friday. He proposed that business men of Lincoln erect dormitories close to the university campus with private capital and rent them to the university on a five or six per cent rental basis.

"The city cannot house more students than at present," the speaker said. "Within a very few years the attendance for the two semesters will be 10,000 which cannot be cared for under the present hit and miss plan."

Dean Buck said it was impossible for the university to erect these buildings, unless at the expense of other departments of the university which could not afford to suffer. It was essential, however, he said, that these buildings be turned over to the control of the university, which would equip them and lease quarters to students at cost.

Speaks Unofficially

Dean Buck told the club that he spoke without any authorization of the board of regents, but he was sure that his proposition would be acceptable to university authorities.

The immediate need, he said, was for two $100,000 units, which would take care of close to 400 women, now in the worst need of accommodations. Five hundred of the 1,400 women registered are accommodated in sororities, he said.

KANSAS U. REPORTS BRILLIANT OUTLOOK FOR COMING SEASON

K. U. football stock took an advance of several points in the Missouri Valley exchange at the close of practice Monday. Forty-five men, the largest number to report so far, went through an hour and a half of football running and signal work.

Most of the men are getting well hardened and Wednesday will see a scrimmage between the varsity and freshmen squads according to Coach McCarty. The freshmen squad, which is being coached by K. A. Schlade-man, numbers about sixty, includes a number of high school, college and army stars, and will undoubtedly give the varsity a run for the money.

DRILLING SOON TO BE IN FULL SWING

Measurements for Uniforms Is no Small Job—Sizes Vary Greatly.

Work in the military department is rapidly rounding into shape under the new system of drilling smaller units of men during each class hour of the day, and holding the regimental drill once a week. Companies have been formed at the arm campus, and at both city and farm campuses, drill sergeants have been selected to teach the "rookies" the rudiments of what it takes to be a good soldier. At the earliest possible date there will be a selection of officers and the regiment will take a more definite form.

At the present time, however, the taking of measurements for uniforms is keeping the department continually on the jump. The men registered or the work have seemed, to some extent, somewhat backward about going through the necessary rite of being measured, so as to be sure of properly-fitting uniforms. Added to this is the great difference in the size of the men, with shoes ranging in sizes from three to eleven, and waist measurements indicating that both extremes of thin and fat are included in this year's drilling. The department urges that the remaining five hundred or so who seem somewhat backward fall in line and be taped for their clothing.

RHODES APPLICANTS MUST MEET WITH COMMITTEE THURSDAY

Candidates for the Rhodes scholarship at Oxford university are requested by the committee of selection to meet in Prof. J. T. Lees' office, Administration building, 203, Thursday afternoon, October 2, at 2 o'clock. The university nominating committee consists of Prof. Lees, Dean P. M. Buck and Dr. Guernsey Jones. The selection in the state will be made by Chancellor S. Avery and two former Rhodes men, Professor Rice and Paul Good.

Two Nebraska men are to be selected for the scholarship this year. One of them is a late selection for last year and will leave for Oxford in January. The second is the selection for this year and will leave next October.

Selection committees have been named in other colleges and universities in the state and will make their nominations before October 5, to the general selection committee.

The appointment is for three years at $1,500 per annum and is the most generous undergraduate scholarship in existence.

Applications from university men must be on file with Professor Lees before noon, Thursday, October 2. They must be accompanied by letters of recommendation not exceeding four in number, preferably from former teachers, or at least persons who know the applicant intimately. The application must also be accompanied by a transcript of the candidate's scholarship record from the registrar's office.

A large number of students availed themselves of the excellent opportunity to meet and become acquainted with the fellow students by attending the open house of the Union literary society in the Temple last Saturday evening. Nearly two hundred were in attendance. An interesting program was the feature of the evening: Violin solo, Koby Sirinsky; vocal duet, Mrs. Jean Protzman, Miss Hazel Beckwith; reading, Miss Coryell; music, mixed quartet; selections by five-piece orchestra.

DOUBLE GRID BOUT ASSURED

Nebraska - Oklahoma, Creighton, Marquette, at Rourke Park October 25.

Announcement of Creighton Acceptance to Double-Header Made at Omaha Banquet.

October 25 will be a big day in the football history of Omaha. Announcement was made at the University Club smoker in Omaha Saturday night which was attended by Dr. J. T. Lees, acting director of athletics; Coach Schulte, Assistant Coach Schissler, and Captain Dobson, that a contract had been signed with the Creighton university authorities to stage the Creighton-Marquette football game as a preliminary to the Nebraska-Oklahoma conflict. Rourke Park will be the scene of the great gridiron tournament.

University authorities feel that the combination is the ideal arrangement. It was feared that two football games in Omaha on the same day on different fields would split the attention and attendance. Under the present agreement all football attention will be focused on the one spot. The University Club of Omaha is handling the arrangements and will build temporary bleachers and additions to the grand stand to accommodate 10,000 people.

One feature of the big carnival will be the attendance of the king and queen of Belgium, if it can be arranged. King Albert and his party will be in Omaha on October 25 according to schedule and will be invited to attend.

Tribute to Schulte

Vincent Haskell of the University Club presided at the smoker and told what he thought of the new Husker coach in the following words:

"I made a trip to Lincoln to see how things were coming. There I saw a he-man—not a guy with kid gloves, cane, and nicely tailored suit—but a he-man, charging, raging and stamping about—a man who was handling men. I think we can trust this man Schulte. He knows football."

Coach Schulte told those present what he thought of conditions at Nebraska. He said:

"I find here in Nebraska that you people have been running sort of on one gear—that is, you place too much emphasis on football to the exclusion of other sports. I have been studying my men at the university and I can say that there should not only be one sport emphasized, but four."

"Baseball, basketball and track are just as assured of success on a wide scale as football. I look for the time to come when the University of Nebraska will be the biggest and greatest all-around athletic school in the country."

Dr. Lees explained to the alumni the changes that had taken place in the organization of the athletic department at the university during the summer. He explained that the departments of physical education and athletics which had hitherto been separate organizations were now united under one head. In September, 1920, Fred W. Leuhring, athletic director at Princeton will head the department at Nebraska. Schissler and Dobson also spoke.

Formidable Iowa Reports

The battle with the Hawkeyes at Iowa City this coming Saturday will be more than an ordinary scrimmage. Both Iowa and the Huskers are laying claim to powerful teams. Reports from the enemy camp state that Coach Jones has had his first team picked for over a week and the machine tuned up in fine shape.

If reports are accurate, the two teams stand about fifty-fifty on beef. Iowa claims their line will average 190 pounds while the Cornhusker minimum estimate is 185 pounds. The first team which has been selected by Coach Jones and which will probably face the Nebraskans is: ends, Charlton and Belding; tackles, Synhorst and Slater; guards, Hunzleman and Mockmore; quarterback, Kelley; halves, the Devine brothers; fullback, Captain Lohman.

The return of Sam Kellogg to the Husker squad shot a little more "pep" into the dope box. It is now felt that the material with which Coach Schulte will construct the Nebraska steam roller is complete and it only requires a little firing up to get her into action. The firing up will be conducted intensively this week and behind closed gates. There will be a "no admittance except on business" sign tacked up all around the athletic field. And Thursday night they will leave for Iowa City.

Season Tickets for Students Will Go on Sale Tuesday

Scarlet and Cream to Meet Notre Dame, Ames, K. U. and Syracuse

Cornhusker Schedule Calls for Limit of Support from Every Nebraskan

Student season tickets or the stiffest home schedule Nebraska University has ever faced will go on sale Tuesday morning, September 30th, and will last only four days, closing Friday, October 4th. During this time the Athletic Department expects to dispose of at least 2,000 tickets, for every student at the University who has the slightest injection of Nebraska spirit is going to stand behind the team to the limit.

To encourage attendance, the Athletic department has decided to offer, to all students, season tickets, which include the four home games, for four dollars. All other seats will be two dollars per game or eight dollars for the series. Another important decision reached was that there will be no charge for reservations, as in the past. The center section on the south side of the field will be reserved for students. This section will only be open to those holding student football tickets.

Students have the privilege of securing a season ticket at a very reasonable price, and an excellent seat among the strongest supporters of football Nebraska has ever had.

Four of the best games on the football schedule will be home games. Notre Dame meets Nebraska here on October 18th, and this game between two strong teams, promises to be a thriller. Ames will pit her strength against Nebraska here on November 1st, and Kansas will be present on Annual Homecoming Day, November 15th. The last game of the season will be played on the home field with a strong eastern team, Syracuse.

It is going to take all the pep and ginger the student body can muster up to put the team successfully through that series of games. It will take concentrated attendance and concentrated rooting. No one will be admitted to the student section without the regular student season ticket, and those south bleachers that have been reserved as the student section must be jam full at every game. That means it's up to each and every one to beg, borrow, steal, or scrape together in some manner or other $4.00 before this coming Friday night. "BUY A TICKET."

Uniformity on Bulletin Boards

Do Students Favor a Plan Whereby the Present Unsightly Poster Plan Would be Replaced by a Dignified Announcement Program?

What do students think of a uniform method of making announcements on the bulletin boards? The present practice of vying with one another in the size and vivid colors of these bulletins is frequently criticised by campus visitors and leads to unfair opinions. With this thought in mind every young man and woman on the campus and every student organization is asked to register answers to the following questions with the Nebraskan. What is your decision?

1. Does the present method please you?
2. Would you like the fixing of a maximum size and shape for all bulletins, the same to be all black lettering on white paper with no decorations?
3. Would you approve of this plan? All are to submit their announcements to some one university office for the week, some time prior to Saturday noon of the preceding week. These announcements would be arranged alphabetically under the days of the week. A plainly printed and dignified copy of the assembled program would be posted early Monday morning on every bulletin board on the city and the farm campus.
