GOOD PROGRESS IN TICKET SALE

Students Must Invest Four Dollars Before Close of Bargain Campaign

Hardest Games on Schedule Will Be Fought On Local Field

The members of the Black Masque, Innocents and the "N" club in their campaign to sell 2,000 football tickets have accomplished wonders in the line of salesmanship. The purchase of season tickets although large has not come up to the expectations of the solicitors. Reports from the campaign leaders say that a concentrated effort on the part of all the workers must be made to sell more pasteboards before the end of the week if the 2,000 goal is to be reached.

Ticket salesmen say that they have sold only to the dyed-in-the-wool Cornhuskers and that the majority of the student body has evidently avoided the canvassers. The report is probably a gloom story and must be considered lightly. Never before has a football ticket bargain at Nebraska failed to go over the top. The campaign will not fall through providing every loyal student reaches into his jeans for four hard dollars.

These four dollars will admit the bearer to four of the best games on the schedule. Furthermore the students will have the privilege of securing the best seats without reservation. Two thousand husky voices from the student section should materially assist the players in overcoming the opponents. Every student at the University of Nebraska who has not yet secured his or her ticket should not hold back the desired money. School spirit should prompt him to take the initiative and by so doing help sell the quota.

UNIVERSITY HAS POST OF AMERICAN LEGION

"Post Number 45" Organized at Meeting Wednesday

Mass Meeting of All Eligible to Membership in Near Future

Dean O. V. P. Stout of the Engineering College has received the charter for the University of Nebraska post of the American Legion. This branch is to be known officially as "University of Nebraska Post, State of Nebraska Number 45."

The charter members are authorized to organize a post in the university under the "declared principles of the American Legion."

A meeting of the charter members has been called for Wednesday evening, and as soon as possible a general mass meeting for all university men interested in the formation of such a post.

The following are the charter members of the post:

S. Avery
O. V. P. Stout
E. E. Brackett
P. H. Buck
Elroy S. Munson
E. F. Moore
G. G. Stewart
E. L. Goldsmith
H. H. Vaughn

MCKELVIE PROCLAIMS "EDUCATIONAL WEEK" AT TEACHERS' REQUEST

A proclamation setting aside "educational week" and calling for its observance has been issued by Governor McKelvie at the request of the state superintendent's office and officers of the state teacher's association. In it the governor says Nebraska's progress as a state has been due to its educational system and that changes and reforms now imminent in the profession should have the attention of the people.

Educational affairs suffered somewhat from neglect during the war the governor declared, owing to the fact that many persons left the teaching profession.

The time specified as "educational week" is the period beginning Nov. 4.

AVERY WILL PRESENT CUP AT CONVOCATION

At Convocation this morning Chancellor Avery will present the Hainer Scholarship cup. The Hainer cup is given to the national Greek letter fraternity a member of the inter-fraternity council, which has the highest scholastic average.

Dean Buck will speak on the subject of the "Aims of the Arts College."

Governor McKelvie will speak at Convocation next Thursday morning, October 9. His subject will be "A Responsible Form of Government."

ENGINEERS RECEIVE SOME GOOD ADVICE

Faculty Members Urge Value of System and Every Day Study

First Meeting of Engineering Society—Blue Print Plans Discussed

The first regular meeting of the Engineering society was held last evening in the Mechanical Engineering building. President R. E. Walker had charge of the meeting, and opened with a short outline of the work of the society in connection with the engineering students' welfare and instruction. He then called upon Harry Hubbel, editor of the Blue Print, for a few remarks regarding the coming issues of the university engineering magazine.

According to the usual custom of the society, the first meeting was mainly devoted to talks to the freshmen by members of the engineering faculty. Dean Stout delivered the first talk. The main keynote of his discussion was, in his own words, "Have yourself well in hand." He urged the value of system in school work and activities, and emphasized the necessity of early decision as to a particular line of specialization. He quoted several accepted definitions of engineering, touching upon the breadth and variety of the profession as a whole. In closing, the dean pointed out the especially fine outlook for engineers in the present day.

Chairman W. Chase of the agricultural and mechanical engineering departments, gave an interesting talk. He advised the freshmen, and upperclassmen as well, to "make a survey" of the work in hand—to see what they are working for. He advised the students to do each day's work as it comes, and to mingle in all the activities they could find time for.

Do Each Day's Work

Prof. G. R. Chatburn also emphasized the importance of getting "Every subject every day," and gave an interesting history of American engineering and engineering schools. Interesting talks were given by Professors Ferguson, Sjoren, Hollister, Slaymaker, Haney, Edison and Davis. Almost every one of the speakers included in their talks an invitation to the students to "get on."

Go to the Rally Tonight

Cornhusker Songs and Yells Will Hold Sway at Armory in Royal Send-off to Football Team

Tonight is the night of nights! The big Pep Party to send the team to Iowa holds forth in the armory. Bring all your friends and fill the seats and standing room.

Cheers for Nebraska and a winning team will make the rafters of the Armory echo and re-echo. Nebraska's cadet band is booked to furnish some real pep, and every true Husker should be out.

The team will be on the platform where all may see the men who are to battle with the Hawkeyes on Saturday, and where they may view the students who are backing them with a vim. Nebraska must win the game, and the students must turn out 100 per cent strong to give the team a record send-off before they entrain for Iowa City tonight.

Seven-thirty in the Armory! That is the time when old U-U-U-n-i will begin to swell forth from the throats of hundreds of rooters. The cheer-leaders of last year, together with new men who are trying out for the position, will be on hand to keep the pep going. This monster rally is no place for silence. Every student should be there to yell our team to victory. Come on now, lets go! Everybody up on number one, and show them what we can do!

NOTRE DAME FANS WILL PAY TRIBUTE TO HEROES

Blue and Gold Gridders Prepare For First Game Behind Sealed Gates

NOTRE DAME, Ind., Sept. 30.—An innovation absolutely unique, as far as can be ascertained, will be introduced at the Notre Dame-Kalamazoo game here Saturday. For one minute preceding the kickoff Cartier field will be wrapped in silence in honor of the Notre Dame men who gave their lives on European battlefields. This tribute will be paid the fallen heroes of the local institution at every contest staged here this fall.

Head Coach Rockne is anticipating lively opposition from Kalamazoo college in the inaugural tilt of the season. The invaders won the college championship of Michigan in 1917 and many of the members who composed that stellar aggregation are performing with the 1919 eleven.

Hold Secret Practice

Behind sealed gates the Gold and Blue gridders dashed up and down Cartier field today rehearsing a blousetful of new plays with which they hope to bewilder their opponents Saturday. Journalistic legates were the only spectators of today's activities and the same menu will be served for the balance of the week.

Captain Bahan donned the mole-skins Tuesday after a few days' siesta and piloted the first string men through signal practice. His co-laborers in the backfield were "Dutch" Bergman, who has spent several days unraveling a badly distorted rib, George Gipp, influenza convalescent and Cy Kasper. This combination worked together flawlessly and will probably start the game against Kalamazoo.

STUDENT CONFERENCE AT YORK OCTOBER 11

University Is Planning to Send Delegation to State-Wide Gathering

With everybody from policemen to actors and waiters striking for shorter hours and higher wages, and the resultant rise of the "High Cost of Living," a remedy for present labor difficulties would be welcomed by everyone. Such a remedy will be suggested by J. Stitt Wilson at the Student Conference to be held at York, Neb., October 11th and 12th.

Mr. Wilson is recognized as one of the leading thinkers on labor problems in this country. He has made a very close study of this subject for a number of years and has lectured several times in England and Europe. Other speakers at the conference will be: Dr. Kurtz, President of McPherson College, A. J. (Dad) Elliott; and Harrison S. Elliott.

Opportunity will be given in the conference for an open discussion on campus life, which should be of great interest to all concerned. A large number of University of Nebraska students are planning on attending and arrangements are being made for a special train. This promises to be one of the most timely and most profitable student gatherings held in the state for a number of years. It is being conducted under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A.

For further particulars see any member of the Committee on Delegates, which consists of: A. H. Johnson, C. Christensen, Lawrence Slater, Lawrence Finney, Francis Flood, Paul Armstrong, H. Gerhart, Howard Murfin, John Burley, Waldo Rice, Rudolph Sanstedt, Harold Yates, Otis Applegate George Driver, and Sam Brownell; or call at Y. M. C. A. office in Temple building.

FIRST GRIDIRON DEATH AT CONNECTICUT

Durham, N. Y., Sept. 27.—The first football death of the year occurred here tonight when Gardner Dow of New Haven, Conn., died as the result of injuries received during the game between the Connecticut state agricultural college team and the New Hampshire State eleven.

Dow was hurt when he attempted to tackle Farmer, the New Hampshire star halfback. It is thought in some manner Farmer's foot struck Dow in the stomach. He was carried to the infirmary and died there early last night. Authorities will investigate the cause of his death.

A Husker Giant

MONTE MUNN

Monte will be in the lineup Saturday. He can be used at either center, guard or tackle. With 6 feet 5 1/2 inches to his credit he is the tallest man on the squad. Monte tips the scales at 203 pounds.

MILITARY COURTESY TAUGHT TO CADETS

Colonel Morrison and Major Hauser Explain Fundamentals of Military Efficiency

The chapel and Temple crowded Tuesday evening by the R. O. T. C. Cadets who received lectures on military courtesy and discipline by Col. Morrison and Major J. N. Hauser. Beginning with the organization of the army into its smaller integral parts, the instructors gave data on the sizes, equipment and command of the larger units. The value of discipline and the means of procuring discipline were also discussed. The salute, its purpose and its value in enforcing discipline was given a lengthy analysis. The first duty of a soldier is obedience and that is obtainable primarily through the salute.

Major Hauser was recently transferred to the University from Columbia University where he was an instructor over the R. O. T. C. unit. The major is a West Point man, has been in France, prior to which he was commander of the Ninth Field Artillery at Fort Sill.

UP ANCHOR--FULL STEAM FOR IOWA

Husker Gridders Leave Tonight for Invasion of Hawkeye Territory

Huge Rally in Memorial Hall Before Warriors Launch Drive

Old man gloom and his family will stay at home tonight. He may haunt the deserted athletic field but the campus will be forbidden ground. Every Cornhusker rooster can't go to Iowa, but they can rattle the Armory with some of the steam that would be exhausted if the battle were on the home field.

The Husker crew sails tonight into unexplored, troubled waters. Saturday's conflict will be a vital test for both the squads of Coaches Schulte and Jones. Both football machines open the season with this clash. Many claims of strength have issued from both camps and the results will show of what stuff the teams are made.

The team will be on display at the Armory tonight, so will the cadet band. The latter organization is paying its own expenses for the trip and will give a few samples of patriotic stock which they will render at Iowa City.

Short Scrimmage Yesterday
Mud on the athletic field Wednesday made practice rather slow. For about thirty minutes the varsity were turned loose on the freshmen and pushed over two touchdowns in that period. The first year men were powerless against the attacks of the backfield, and melted before the smashes of husky Dale at fullback.

Stanley Henry showed his speed at half and skirted the ends for long gains. The freshmen were bewildered by several new tricks which have been added to the varsity repertoire.

The freshmen didn't get a chance to run the ball very often and had absolutely no luck in piercing the line. Forward passes proved more successful and several were completed in spite of frantic efforts on the part of the varsity men to prevent it.

No Definite Lineup

The varsity lineup used by Coach Schulte in last night's workout included: Swanson and Cypreanson, ends; Hubka and Wilder, tackles; Wade Munn and Young, guards; Monte Munn, center; Dobson and Henry, halves; Newman, quarter; and Dale at fullback. Martin and Perry did most of the ground gaining for the freshmen.

Coach Schulte has not yet announced definitely what the lineup for the Iowa game will be, or who will make the trip. The announcement will probably be made sometime today as the squad leaves for Iowa City at 10:30 p. m. There are thirty-five or forty candidates for the varsity and it is no small task to pick a prize crew from the bunch.

Latest reports from the Hawkeyeville indicate that the bugs over there are still confident that the Huskers will be drubbed. The general feeling around these parts seems to be that the Iowans won't have such an easy time gathering in the money as they think.

Members of the university faculty, while generally denouncing the present system of bulletin boards express some difference of opinion in regard to the proper method of replacing them in making announcements. The need for uniform and more dignified posters is emphasized by those who have talked about the matter. Some are inclined to favor the plan of having a printed program to be placed on every campus bulletin board while others believe that organizations who wish to make announcements should be restricted merely to a poster of uniform size.

Professor Virtue thinks that born from the point of view of fairness and of art, the system of uniform bulletin boards is an excellent idea. It is his opinion that bulletin boards are for announcements only and that too frequently this fact is lost sight of and advertisements displayed.

Some of Harvard's best-known alumni returned to Cambridge as "students" in the three days school established for the divisional chairmen in the campaign for a new $20,000,000 endowment fund for the university.
