HUSKER WINS 1st IN STOCK JUDGING

Leroy W. Ingham Highest Individual Entry in Daily Judging at Chicago

Stock Judging Team has Won National Honors the Past Twelve Years

The Nebraska stock judging team again won honors at the National Students Dairy Judging contest. Leroy W. Ingham, a junior in the agricultural college, was awarded the De Laval scholarship of $400 for making the highest individual score. Other members of the Nebraska team were: Donald Douglas, Phil B. Campbell, and Halsey C. Noyes, alternate.

The contest held at the Stock Yards Coliseum in Chicago opened Monday October 6, and the result announced Wednesday evening. Nebraska's team composed of the five men mentioned ranked fifth when the count was finished.

Nebraska university's alumni chapter in Chicago acted host to the 1919 Cornhusker team at a luncheon in the Hotel Morrison Wednesday noon. Twenty-five graduates, from 1893 on, were present. It was the first get-together meeting since the outbreak of the war and all were enthusiastic for the idea of making a custom of it. Robert W. Swain is president of the alumni organization in Chicago at the present time.

Won Honors With Regularity

In the last twelve years, the Nebraska stock judging team has headed the list oftener than any other team in the country. The Cornhuskers have stood at the top on four different years and their nearest rivals are Missouri with two to her credit. The Nebraskans have also brought more breed judging trophies than any other college team. This makes two consecutive years that a N. U. man has headed the list of highest individual point winners, last year Martin N. Lauritsen, '19, now in the Dairy Department at the farm won premier honors and Ingham repeated this fall.

Fifteen colleges from all parts of the country, Washington to South Carolina had teams taking part in the Chicago contest. The following table shows that the colleges of the middle west more than held their own.

1. Kansas
 2. S. Dakota

- Jersey Scholarship ($400) to Jesup of Purdue.

Nebraska entered a team in the Dairy products judging contest. The results of this contest have not been announced. There were seven teams entered.

Dean Edgar A. Burnett, of the College of Agriculture, Professor J. H. Franson, and Professor B. H. Thompson were with the team in Chicago. The son of Dr. Bessey, who has just returned from France with the 113th Engineers and is now engaged in engineering work in Chicago attended the alumni gathering and told of Nebraska men he had met in France. Dr. Barr, '93, who has charge of the Olivet Institute in Chicago spoke of their work in Americanizing the foreign born.

"I object to admitting the plaintiff's ankles as evidence."
"On what ground?"
"Ahem! Your honor, this is a breach of promise suit and I don't want my client's judgment to appear at fault in passing up a pair like that."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

INTIMATE FRIEND OF COMMANDANT KILLED

Col. W. F. Morrison and Major J. N. Hauser were grieved to note in Thursday morning's paper that a friend and fellow collegian, Major D. H. Crissey, had been killed in landing at east Lake City while participating in the trans-continental air race. While a cadet at West Point, Col. Morrison was the room mate of Major Crissey's brother for over two years. He was also one of the instructors for a time, under whom the deceased spent much of his time. Majors Hauser and Crissey were squad mates on the West Point basketball team.

Another acquaintance and intimate friend of the colonel, Col. Brown, was reported injured when the plane in which he was riding fell near Deposit, N. Y.

GOVERNOR McKELVIE EXPLAINS CODE BILL

Describes New Civil Administration Code Bill at Convocation Thursday

In a vivid and forceful manner Governor McKelvie addressed the students on "A Responsible Form of Government," explaining the Civil Administration code bill, its purposes and aims, reasons of adoption, and benefits to be derived, at convocation yesterday. Governor McKelvie, in detailed outline form, compared the difference between this new form of administration and the recent form which had been in usage for many years. "This old form of administration," he explained, "hindered those officials placed in authority from carrying out to the fullest extent their services to the public, because of the interweaving of the commissioners with other branches of the administration; so that no definite responsibility rested upon any one group of men."

Under the new form of administration a secretary is appointed whose duty it is to be accountable for one departmental office. Six departments have been approved being divided into the following groups: finance, agriculture, trade and commerce, labor, public works and public welfare. Each of these departments have sub-divisions as under: finance, business system with uniformity, accounting, reporting and purchasing, then the budget and taxation. This form then fixes the responsibility upon the individual departments without in any way altering the constitution. Also this system eliminates the necessity of so many employees as fewer can handle the same amount of work. Formerly sixty days time was all the officers were allowed to investigate various matters of state affairs which with other duties hindered them from devoting their full interests to matters in hand. Consequently lack of uniformity and thoroughness was evident. Under the present system each secretary can begin at once to work upon affairs of his office and be prepared to give full data for the aid of the departments. The board of control appoints the secretaries so that the "one man power" is eliminated.

This code bill has been enthusiastically supported by several previous governors, who advocate that the civil administration code will be a saving of expense and an improvement in efficiency as well as centralization of responsibility.

Three girls are still needed to respond to the call for social service workers which Miss Warrick, girls' work secretary of the city Y. W. C. A. recently made to the University girls. Seven have volunteered; ten are needed.

The seventh and eighth girls of Lincoln are to be organized into Girl Reserves. The leadership of them is offered to the University girls. This is an opportunity to serve, especially to those who are experienced in teaching or leading girls. Others may help. Those projecting this plan are very enthusiastic about the value of the work as an education.

The Girl Reserves will meet for an hour after school once a week. Besides attending these meetings, the Advisers will meet in a training class once a month.

PICK DELEGATES FOR STATE CONVENTION

Riddell and O'Brien to go to Legion Convention to Represent University Post

At a short and snappy meeting of the University Chapter of the American Legion, held last night in the west wing of the Memorial Hall ceregates were elected to the state convention which will be held in Omaha, October 11. This convention will precede the national convention which will be held November 11, at Minneapolis. Assistant Chairman Ralston opened the meeting in the absence of Dean Stout. By a unanimous vote of those present, John L. Riddell and John O'Brien were elected to represent this chapter.

The number of men present at the meeting was comparatively small considering the large number of ex-service men in the university. Dean Back expressed great regret that sufficient publicity had not been given this last meeting of the chapter, and asked that every member take it upon himself to encourage attendance at future meetings. It is called to the attention of ex-service men who are members of the American Legion in their home town that their membership can be transferred to the university chapter by making application to their post commander. It is thought that these men would enjoy the distinction of belonging to a chapter at their Alma Mater.

INFORMATION ABOUT WAR RISK INSURANCE FROM MAJOR DEWESE

Information regarding War Risk Insurance may be obtained at the commandant's office from Major Dewese according to the heads of the military department. The department recently received much material dealing with this insurance and will be glad to impart any information that it may have at hand. Ex-service men who desire to know about their insurance should see about this as soon as possible since further information from the department at Washington indicates that a specialist in War Risk Insurance will be sent to give detailed data should the number interested be sufficient to make this move advisable.

Four Stars Have Dropped From Scarlet and Cream Lineup Which Will Sally Onto Northrup Field

"No Commuters" said Schulte

Loyal But Pestiferous Camp Followers Will Be Taboo on "Minnie" Trip

The Cornhusker football squad is now in Minneapolis and will workout on the turf of Northrup field this afternoon. The cream of Nebraska gridiron material pulled out of the Burlington station Thursday afternoon at 4:30 to the tune of "There'll be a hot time in the old town tonight" played by the Cadet Band, and "Number One" from the assembly students.

"We're going to hit those Gophers with a zip," said one of the backfield men just before leaving.

The Cadet Band leaves for Minneapolis this evening.

The following men were chosen by Coach Schulte to go to Minnesota.

Backfield men: Captain Dobson, Bekins, Cypreanson, Dale, Howarth, McGlasson, Newman, Schellenberg, Hubka, Wright, Henry.

Linemen: Bogue, Day, Jungmeier, Kellogg, Lyman, Monte Munn, Wade Munn, Peucelik, Swanson, Young, Wilder, Dana Henry.

"Jobs and Lanphere were not in shape to go," said Coach Schulte Thursday. Jobs has not been attending classes all week and has been unable to get into the scrimmage or signal drill. The coach also stated that Wade Munn, Lyman and Schellenberg would be unable to play.

One of the last patriots to say farewell to the coach and squad at the depot was Tim Corey, Cornhusker football captain in 1916. Corey was a captain in the Peace Conference Courier Service in France and visited fourteen European countries during his round of duty. He is on his way to accept the position of assistant coach at the University of Ohio.

"Absolutely there will be no commuters. The commuters made things mighty uncomfortable last time."

Signed, Henry F. Schulte.

This was one of the interesting little developments of the day. The coach later explained for the sake of emphasis that guards would be placed at the Pullman doors to keep out the too ambitious students.

The term commuter may be a mystery to the uninitiated, but the generally accepted meaning, in Webster or not, is: "A commuter is a student, usually too poor to pay his way to follow the team into hostile territory or broke as a result of the game's fortune, who obtains transportation by secreting himself in the Pullman berth with a football player or keeps out of the way of the conductor or sleeping underneath said bunk."

Rumors have been whispered around the campus that after game fortune decreed that the Huskers must take the little end of the score from the Hawkeyes, numerous and divers students who had patriotically opened their purse strings when Iowa money began to flash, found that they had neither cash or credit wherewith to purchase transportation back to dear alma mater. Rumor also has it that the comfortable carrying capacity of a certain Pullman on the return trip from Iowa City was quadrupled on Saturday night.

The Nebraska lineup which will face the Gophers when the first whistle blows will probably be:

- L. E. Swanson
- L. T. Wilder
- L. G. Young
- C. Monte Munn
- R. G. Jungmeier
- R. T. Hubka
- R. E. Kellogg
- Q. B. McGlasson or Newman
- L. H. Howarth
- M. Cook
- R. H. Dobson
- F. B. Dale

The officials will be: referee, Schommer of Chicago, Umpire, Adams of Ohio State; Field, Judge, Reed of Michigan; Head Lineman, Saxton of Dartmouth.

"Latin is a dead language, isn't it?"
"Yes."
"Does it pay to study it?"
"Depends on your game. Doctors and lawyers seem to make it pay very well."—Kansas City Journal.
