APPOINTMENTS FOR CORNHUSKER STAFF

Davis is Senior Editor, Landale Junior Editor

Freshman Appointments are Delayed Pending Applications

Appointment of the 1920 Cornhusker staff was announced Monday by Editor Harold Gerhart, following the announcement that work on the year-book would begin at once in order to assure the best possible art work in this year's annual.

Gaylord Davis, feature editor of the 1919 Cornhusker, was chosen senior managing editor of this year's book. The remainder of the list is made up of students who have shown adaptability for the work to which they are assigned and many of them have served on student publications previously.

Freshmen Not Appointed

Members of the art staff and the freshmen editors have not been appointed as yet. The reason for not making appointments to the freshmen staff at this time is that there are undoubtedly a few freshmen in school, who have not as yet spoken to the editor, but who are desirous of doing this work.

Offices of the Cornhusker are being maintained temporarily in the west end of the basement of University hall.

The call for Junior and Senior pictures for the Cornhusker were issued Monday by Editor Gerhart. These pictures and fraternity and sorority pictures are asked for early this year so that the engravers may have more time to work on cuts and thereby eliminate the necessity of accepting poor cuts at the last minute as has been the custom in past years. Appointments for pictures may be made at Townsend's studio at any time now.

Several fraternities have already made arrangements to have their pictures taken and within two weeks all fraternity pictures will be taken.

The following staff has been announced for the 1920 Cornhusker:

Athletics—Byron McMahon, Jesse Patty.

Girls' athletics—Ruth Lindsay, Ethel Hoageland.

Organizations—George Driver, Ruth Snyder, Dallas Utterback, Florence Wilcox, W. J. Barton.

Student Life—Gayle Grubb, Sadie Finch, Oswald Black.

Fraternities—Sago Ross.

Sororities—Carolyn Reed.

Military—Burks Harley, Harold Long.

Colleges—Gertrude Henderson, Kathryn Brenke, George Skelstad, Ben Lake, Jeanette Moore.

"LIFE OF ROOSEVELT" AT CONVOCATION TODAY

Regent F. N. Judson, of Omaha, will speak at convocation today on "The Life of Roosevelt." Chancellor Avery will introduce Mr. Judson and this last address will be a most fitting climax for the effective student organization and co-operation working for the effective student organization and co-operation working for the Roosevelt Memorial fund.

The campaign, which has been conducted by tagging and pledging, among students, faculty and school employees, has been most agreeably distinctive, for at no time has any stress been used for the furtherance of the fund, the attitude being taken that it is an honor and a pleasure to donate for this cause. It is the anticipation of the central committee that 5,000,000 men and women will contribute and the result be a most fitting memorial to an American whose unselfish work will be a monument forever.

Complete figures are not available at the present time but from contributions received and present indications, the campaign has been a most successful one.

SAME TO YOU

"Sure," said Patrick, rubbing his head with delight at the prospect of a present. "I always mane to do me duty."

"I believe you," replied the employer, "and therefore I shall make you a present of all you have stolen from me during the year."

"Thanks, yer honor," replied Patrick, and may all your friends and acquaintances trate you as liberally.—Houston Post.

PRE-MEDIC HOP

The annual hop of the Pre-Medic society will be held this year at the Rosewilde, December 19. The committee has decided to have programmes and refreshments. Those on the committee are:

Howard H. Bennett, chairman; G. S. Everetts, J. C. Root, W. C. Kerner, G. S. Johnson, R. O. Whitman, J. B. Spain.

The chaperons will be: Dr. and Mrs. E. D. Barker, Dr. and Mrs. H. B. Latimer, Dr. and Mrs. J. F. Stevens.

HARRY KIRK WOLFE FELLOWSHIP FUND

Palladian Opens Campaign for Research Endowment of $10,000

Prominent Nebraskans Unite in Praise of Former University Professor

A movement has been launched by the alumni and students of the university to establish an endowment of $10,000 to support a research fellowship in philosophy in memory of the late Kirk Wolfe, who for many years was head of the department of philosophy. The Palladian society at its forty-eighth annual banquet heartily endorsed the fund and pledged itself to raise $3,000.

Professor Wolfe, himself a member of the Palladian society, which dates back to 1871, graduated from the university in 1880, and became a member of the faculty 1889. As a member he has had many hundreds, if not thousands of students working under him, many of whom have tendered their services and contributions toward raising the fund.

T. F. A. Williams, '92, is chairman and Prof. H. W. Caldwell, '80, is treasurer of the Palladian committee. Other members of this committee are Prof. H. C. Filley, '02, president of the Palladian alumni; Miss Edna Bullock, '89; Judge C. M. Skiles, '92; A. C. R. Swenson, '19; and Ray H. Cowen, J. W. Bucina and Paul Conner and Miss Alice Allen, who is the present president of the Palladian society. They will confine their efforts to the past and present members of the society. $1,000 was pledged by the sixty active members in a recent meeting. The Palladian society is old enough and strong enough to raise the remaining $2,000, part of which has already been raised, several alumni pledging $100 each if ten such contributions be made.

A general committee is being organized among Dr. Wolfe's students, by Miss Nellie Drake, '11, who received her M. A. in 1914 under Dr. Wolfe, and is acting as temporary chairman and treasurer. The Double Torch, a society of advanced students in the department of philosophy is actively assisting Miss Drake with her organization. The committee hopes to reach all former students, non-graduates, as well as graduates.

What Others Say

The establishment of a Harry Kirk Wolfe research fellowship has been urged for some time and would be a most fitting memory to an alumnus and member of the faculty whose brilliant work has been an inspiration to all who have come in contact with him. The university, although in existence for forty years, has had no graduate research endowment, which is bad for the school and effects the scholarship attained, for the institution cannot compete with other state universities having such endowments. The need of such an endowment is most ably stated by Dr. H. B. Alexander of the university faculty:

"Regarding the fellowship in honor of Dr. Wolfe, I sincerely hope that the movement will be successful for a number of reasons. In the first place there is no form of commemoration which would do more, nor indeed so pleasing to Dr. Wolfe himself were he here to know of it, for his interest in the welfare and prospects of his students was always primary. In the second place it is certain that few services to the university could be so valuable as the establishment of a series of fellowships for graduate research. Virtually all other large universities have them and they are of the greatest service to such institutions in that they keep alive the spirit of investigation and scholarship, without which no college can maintain its quality. It is hardly to be expected that Nebraska will provide such fellowships out of the public purse."

ETHEL HARTLEY WRITES FROM CHINA

Former University Student Takes Up Work in Peking

Miss Ethel P. Hartley, who recently sailed to China where she expects to be engaged in missionary work for five years continuously, has written the alumni office on the state university campus as follows from the Peking, China, Language school.

"I have just come from a meeting of the American Collegiate alumnae in Peking where we heard an interesting talk from a Mrs. Smith of Bryn Hawr college. Her subject was, 'The Development of International Scholastic Relations,' but her talk was more formal than the high sounding title would suggest. She says that Bryn Mawr has scholarships for British, French, Italian, Chinese and Japanese girls—just think of the different points of view all brought together in one college. I am very anxious to know whether Nebraska University is offering two scholarships for Chinese girls, which it was hoped last spring might be arranged. It certainly would be one of the finest advantages Nebraska girls could have to learn about the women of our immense country in the Orient from a representative Chinese girl."

"The alumni association here are hoping to get acquainted with the Chinese girls returning from America."

HARD TIME PARTY FOR Y. W. C. A. GIRLS

Women Hear of Work of Nebraskans in Foreign Fields

Gingham dresses and hair ribbons featured the "hard times" party given by the Y. W. C. A. at the Armory, Saturday afternoon. Relay races, "three deep," and other games suitable to gingham dresses and hair ribbons marked the occasion. Sweet cider was served during the afternoon and dancing was enjoyed. Mary Brownell was chairman of the committee on arrangements.

A talk was given by Miss Ella D. MacLaurin, associate executive of the foreign department of the Y. W. C. A. Grace Coppeck, an alumna of the University of Nebraska, now national secretary of the Y. W. C. A. in China, is accomplishing great things, according to Miss MacLaurin. She reports that a commission of prominent people sent to China said of Miss Coppeck, "That for statesmanship and ability they had never met anyone like her."

Miss MacLaurin has been working in the religious field since girlhood and has traveled around the world in behalf of her work. She described the social conditions of women in the Orient.

She said that according to the information she was able to obtain more people from the University of Nebraska.

The telescope will be available for use before and after the lecture, if the skies permit. Public evenings will be held regularly this winter, the second and fourth Tuesday evenings of each month.

MAJOR GENERAL WOOD TELLS OF ROOSEVELT

Intimate Personal Memoirs of Great American Soldier President

Life of Roosevelt Reviewed by Friend Who Knew Him Best

Major-General Leonard Wood addressed an enthusiastic audience of 1,500 at the City Auditorium last night in behalf of the Roosevelt Memorial Fund. He was most enthusiastically received when introduced by Ex-Mayor Don Love.

With characteristic military carriage and perfect self-control, General Wood talked of the many personal encounters between Colonel Roosevelt and himself. These reminiscences were of a delightfully intimate nature, and often General Wood was stopped by a hearty laugh or the clapping of hands as some personal characteristic, which at this time he said, would so effectively assist our administration, was brought out.

Colonel Roosevelt before the Spanish-American war was assistant secretary of the Navy and General Wood at this time was a daily visitor and the two had many long talks and rides together. It was recalled that at one time, just before the outbreak of the Spanish war, when Secretary Long of the Navy, was taking a much needed rest, Colonel Roosevelt took complete charge of the department and in the first four hours of his regime so effectively set things in motion that to his actions a portion of the decisive victory of Dewey is traced.

During the Spanish-American War, Colonel Roosevelt went into active service although much against the advice of his personal friends who thought he could be of much better service in the Navy department. He was offered the command of a regiment but said he was not in a position to successfully operate such a unit. This is how Colonel Roosevelt came under the command of General Wood. Many illuminating characteristics of our stalwart American were brought out while he was in this position. General Wood states that "discipline is the conscious effort of an intelligent individual," and Colonel Roosevelt not only demonstrated that he possessed the necessary qualities.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS MEET TO PLAN HIKE

The girls of the Walohi camp gathered in the Y. W. C. A. room five o'clock Monday for the regular weekly meeting, planned a hike and under the leadership of Mrs. Teal, their guardian and took up some of the elements of camp fire life which would be helpful in organizing camps.

The Walohi camp is a university organization which continues from year to year. It is a class designed to train girls to organize younger girls into camps and to serve as guardians. To accomplish this the girls form a regular camp fire organization and conduct it the same as a younger girls' camp.

Nine girls attended the meeting. Registration in the class is still open.

The Lincoln Hiking club has invited the Walohi camp to participate in a hike to its cabin eight miles out of Lincoln Sunday afternoon. The girls plan to accept the invitation. Those who wish to will return by train, while the more ambitious will walk. This is to be the first of a series of organized camp fire hikes.

A part of the meeting was devoted to a discussion of camp fire ideals. The camp fire law, some of the signs and a couple of songs were introduced at the meeting. The girls plan to learn these.

NEBRASKA FACED HEAVY SCHEDULE

Huskies Have Met the Best Teams of the Country

Kansas and Ames Have Strong Elevens But Nebraska Should Win.

Nebraska has a good football team. Iowa and Notre Dame beat her, Minnesota and Oklahoma tied her but nevertheless she has a good team. These schools all have veteran teams this year and Nebraska's record against them is by no means a disgrace. Perhaps the 1919 Cornhusker machine is not as strong as have been the teams in the past few years. Coach Schulte was sadly lacking in veteran material at the beginning of the season but he has perfected an eleven of which Cornhusker supporters may well be proud. No blame can be placed on the shoulders of the coaching staff for the outcome of the games already played. The Huskers have faced teams of equal or superior strength and emerged with two defeats and two draws.

In the glorious days of old, when Nebraska teams never knew what it was to meet defeat and Missouri Valley championships were foregone conclusions, we must not forget that the schedules were vastly different from the 1919 lineup. The schedules of those victorious times contained such teams as Wesleyan, Washburn, Morningside, Haskell Indians, and other second rate institutions and of course Nebraska beat them. We were unable to schedule games with such teams as Notre Dame, Minnesota and Syracuse, which occupy prominent places on this year's schedule. Nebraska is branching out and meeting the best teams of east and west and defeat must be expected along with victory.

The average student does not stop to take these facts into consideration, but immediately begins to knock the members of the team or the coaching staff. Notre Dame had a team of veterans this year. They defeated the Western Normal School by a score of 52-0, and this Normal outfit soundly trounced the Michigan Aggies. In the light of these scores Nebraska's 14-9 defeat at the hands of Notre Dame does not seem so bad. Oklahoma started the season with twenty-two veterans reporting and Sooner teams have always been strong. Ames and Kansas are coming at Nebraska with exceptionally strong elevens. The Cornhuskers strong in these games but each will be a fight to the finish. Cornhusker fans all remember the powerful Jayhawker aggregation that whipped the Huskers 7-3 a few years ago. A number of the men who starred on that team are performing on the 1919 eleven so that the Kansas game will be a tough struggle.

The question that faces Nebraska gridiron fans is this: Shall the Cornhusker school return to the easy schedules of old or shall Nebraska continue to grow in the football world and meet the representative teams of the nation in properly arranged schedules?

FRESHMEN LAY PLANS FOR NIGHT OF GAYETY AT THEIR PARTY FRIDAY

The freshmen party scheduled for Friday is an assured success. The entertainment committee announces that it has procured some of the best of local talent to complete its program of music and dancing. The refreshment committee asked the reporter not to divulge the nature of the refreshments lest upperclassmen should disguise as freshmen in order to help dispose of the eatables.

The wearers of the green plan on an exclusive affair for their coming out. For, as previously announced, freshmen only will be admitted. The explanation for this ruling lies, it is said, in the well known fact that freshmen are inclined toward shyness when placed in close proximity to sophomores and upper classmen and since this is to be a freshmen party it was deemed best to exclude members of the other classes.

Inter-College Basketball Meeting

Thursday evening at 7:30 the Armory will be the scene of a mass meeting of all men interested in inter-college basketball. This is the first year any project of this kind has been attempted at Nebraska. The plan has been tried and found successful in other schools and Coach Paul Schissler is confident it will prove satisfactory at Nebraska. A large delegation is desired from every college in the University as definite plans for the coming season will be discussed and managers appointed for the different college teams. As many representatives as possible from each college should be in attendance.

Medal of Honor to University of Nebraska from Paris College

The University of Paris has sent to the University of Nebraska a bronze medal in gratitude for services rendered by students and faculty during the world war. The same medal has been sent to every university in the allied countries.

A letter sent by the vice-recteur to Chancellor Avery explains the purpose. This is a translation:

The university of Paris has struck as a memorial of the war a medal which represents learning in the service of justice and which recalls the services rendered by teachers and students, on battlefields and in the quiet of the study or the laboratory; scientia instrumentum justitiae, libro, ense, such is the inscription which is read on the face of the medals. The University of Paris has decided to offer a copy of this medal to every university in the countries allied to France; it is particularly agreeable to have this opportunity of thanking the University of Nebraska for the brilliant part its professors and students took in the common victory. The University of Paris wishes the medal to be a testimony of its fraternal friendship."
