

CREIGHTON WANTS POST-SEASON GAME

Creighton is the latest school to angle for a post-season game with the Cornhuskers. The Catholic school has longed for a chance at a Nebraska team and now that they have the strongest team in years, while Nebraska is having a poor season, they want to match their strength against the Cornhuskers. There can be no denying the fact that the Creighton eleven is a powerful aggregation and would no doubt give the Cornhuskers a run for the money.

But all the dreams and desires of the Creighton fans will be of no avail. Nebraska will not meet Creighton. When questioned concerning the proposed game, Provost Lees said that there was not a chance for Creighton to schedule a game with Nebraska. The Omaha school is not governed by the same eligibility rules as Nebraska. Men are allowed to play with Creighton four years and freshmen are also allowed to participate in varsity games. Several of the members of the present Blue and White team are playing their fourth year and at least two of the Creighton huskies are first-year men.

A successful business man says "To succeed, it is only necessary to keep pegging away." Evidently most of these successful business men were cribbage players.

Yesterday we heard a man start an address with "As I stand before this august assembly." Evidently he didn't know this was November.

A University student who has worn a pair of shoes for six months, said of them that they were faithful to the last.
