ALLUMNAE WILL BE ROYALLY WELCOMED

Social and Athletic Events are Planned to Entertain Returned Graduates

With Olympics, football and the annual home-coming party to present old grads, and visitors, preparations for the Homecoming day, November 15, are almost complete. The various committees in charge of the day's program have been working diligently to complete their plans.

In the morning the Olympics, the annual freshmen-sophomore fight takes place at the M street ball park. Preparations by the classes have been most thorough and both committee chairmen are anticipating a decisive, clean-cut victory. The biggest freshman class in the history of the school and the return to the sophomore class of many war veterans has made available exceptionally good material, and keen rivalry is predicted in every event in the boxing and wrestling as well as in the other events. The historic pole-rush will probably be the most amusing feature of the day. The Olympics is one of Nebraska's oldest traditions and alumni are always stired by recollections of their early days in the university, when they see the first and second year men decorated in the fiercest war arrays and lined up for battle with the class rivals.

With confidence and pep again restored after the smashing defeat of Missouri's Tigers, all are looking with expectation toward the annual home-coming football game with Kansas Jayhawks. Pep will be in predominance, for the fate of Nebraska's successful football season hinges upon the outcome of this game. Old grads will attempt to prove that they haven't forgotten their lung-power capacity so that students will be forced to exert themselves to the utmost. Something new will be presented to them when the new chant is sung.

Home-Coming Party

The annual home-coming party, which has become an established tradition in the school, and affords an opportunity for old friendships to be revived and new ones to be made, will be held at the Armory in the evening, and elaborate preparations are under way. The affair promises to be most successful and the entertainment committee expects the largest crowd that ever attended a university party. Both students and alumni will participate in the evening's entertainment and in the chapel those wishing to renew old friendships will give each other the glad hand while in the gym two jazzy orchestras will furnish music for those wishing to dance.

The refreshment committee has promised "good eats" in great abundance. Those on the committee are: Helen Sparks and Harvey Glebe, joint chairmen, Charles Howard, Clarence Benten, Gerald Maryott, Blanche Votopka, Alberta Shires, Eugene House, and Annabelle Beal.

In the evening several parties, banquets, and dances will be held at the hotels and different fraternity and sorority houses. This will complete the reception program for the visitors and alumni.

The alumni office will be turned over to the former students of the university during the time for their stay. The visitors' book will be open for all members to register and will aid them to locate fellow graduates and friends who have returned for the anniversary.

CAUGHT ON FAKE CALL

Five Portland (Ore.) ministers fell victims to some practical joker when they answered anonymous telephone calls requesting them to go to a remote suburban address to perform a wedding ceremony. Three Congressional ministers, one Presbyterian minister and a Methodist preacher were gathered on the front porch of that address when it dawned on them that they had been "stung." With mingled feelings they compared notes and then wended their divergent paths homeward.

Y. W. C. A. WILL HOLD DISCUSSION GROUPS

"University Girls and Reconstruction" is the subject to be studied in the Y. W. C. A. discussion groups, which will meet somewhere on the campus once a week. Enrollment is open this week.

Nine discussion groups are to be organized. The schedule for these classes is at the Y. W. C. A. room.

Girls may enroll at the Y. W. C. A. room or with representatives of the organization on the campus.

ARMISTICE PROGRAM AT HIGH SCHOOL

Lincoln High School held a special assembly Tuesday in honor of the students and former students who served in the late war. Personal invitations were mailed to the boys who left the high school to enter the service, urging them to visit their former school. The center section in the large auditorium was reserved for the service men.

The following program was given: Remarks, Mrs. Frank G. Pickell. "Welcome Home," Boys' Glee Club. "My Experiences in France," Turner Tefft.

"Armistice Day in France," Clare Boggs.

"Lincoln High in the Army," Walter Gardner.

"Our Soldier Boys," Girls' Glee Club. Address, Dr. H. H. Harmon.

Community Singing, led by Mr. Ferguson.

DR. FLING TELLS OF PEACE CONFERENCE AT CONVOCATION

Dr. F. M. Fling delivered an address on "The Peace Conference" at convocation in Memorial hall yesterday morning. His speech in brief follows:

"We are celebrating today the anniversary of the suspension of arms. One year has passed since the fighting ceased. The congress at Paris has done its work and the senate of the United States has under consideration Article 10 of the covenant. This is the most vital part. The most vital question of all history is before the people of the United States. The fate of the world has rested with the United States for the second time within a few months. It was our decision in 1917 that led to the defeat of Germany. Today it looks as if we were about to fall back to the conditions of 1914. We assume that the war is won and all is accomplished, but it is only won to give way to present opposition. The center of the crisis is in the United States and in Article 10.

"We should ask ourselves the question of the significance of the world war. It was a struggle between two conceptions of world organization. A world society has come into existence. It was a question of whether four or four odd states should form an empire or a democracy. It was because Germany took the first solution of the problem that we had a world war. The destruction of our vessels on the high seas was only a symptom of the thing. In January, 1917, Wilson spoke to the senate of a concert of powers to prevent any such overflowing disaster overtaking us again. There was objection in this country towards enforcing peace. After the war was on Wilson began to speak definitely on the league of nations. The common people of Europe are back of the league of nations.

Wilson said this was not to be an ordinary peace, but a new era had begun in the history of the world. He said he must go to Paris to represent this idea, to see the thing our men died for put through. There has been growing opposition in the U. S. senate. It was the most natural thing.

TICKETS SELLING FAST FOR GIRLS' HUSKER LUNCHEON

Tickets for the girls' annual Cornhusker luncheon to be held Saturday are selling fast. Wednesday and Thursday tickets will be sold at a table in the Library entrance, as well as at the Students Activities office. No more will be sold after Thursday. Plates at the Windsor hotel, where the affair is to be held, will be laid for 300.

Bessie Love will be a guest of honor at the luncheon. A program full of pep will be given in connection with the event. True Jack, as toastmistress, will call on Miss Clark, of the physical education department, Irene Springer, Lois Melton and Alysie O'Loughlin to respond on toasts. Football is the theme of the program. Lucile Cline will sing the "Cornhusker," Nebraska's rallying song, and the cheer leaders will be there to lead the yells.

Sorority houses are requested not to serve lunch Saturday. It is expected that an enthusiastic attendance will help to make this luncheon one of the most enjoyable in the history of the school.

UNIVERSITY LEGION WILL MEET TONIGHT

War Veterans Will Elect Permanent Officers for University Post

A call has been sounded for every ex-soldier, whether or not he has already become a member of the University Post of the American Legion, to attend a meeting of this organization which has been scheduled for Wednesday evening, November 12th, at 7:30 in the Temple theatre.

This meeting has been called for the purpose of perfecting a permanent organization of the Post at the University of Nebraska, and to elect permanent officers to replace those temporarily elected at the first meeting some time ago.

It is not yet too late for former service men to join the Legion, but no more charter memberships were given out after 11 o'clock Tuesday morning.

At the first meeting of the Nebraska University Post which was held in the Armory October 7th, the question of politics and anything of partisan issue was flatly barred from discussion at any of the meetings of the Legion.

Dean O. V. P. Stout has been temporarily post commander since the election held in early October. A. R. Ralston has been acting as deputy post commander. H. L. Hubbell as post adjutant, Professor Brackett as treasurer, and the executive committee has been composed of Dean P. M. Buck, chairman; C. J. Frankforter, William Day, Harold McGlasson, and Oakley Cox. The terms of the temporary officers were limited to two months.

John L. Riddell and John O'Brien represented the University Post of the Legion at the state convention which was held in Omaha, October 11th. This convention preceded the national convention which was held last evening at Minneapolis.

The American Legion's membership at the university has increased by leaps and bounds and each day many ex-soldiers are availing themselves of the opportunity to join.

STOCKMEN MEETING AT UNIVERSITY FARM

The high price of labor is now one of the most discouraging features of the feeding business, according to sentiment expressed at a meeting of stock feeders at the university farm on Tuesday. This is especially true where silage is depended on as one of the main feeds. Many silos are empty in the state on account of farmers feeling they can't pay the big prices asked by labor or because they are not able to obtain help at any price. Labor-saving machinery is being rapidly developed for silo filling, it was brought out at the meeting, but as yet this is so high priced that it means a material addition to the cost of fattening stock.

About 150 attended the morning session of the feeders. Most of the time was taken up discussing the cost of feeding. It was brought out that alfalfa is selling all the way from $15 a ton in the stack in the western part of the state to $25 or more in some other parts. Some of the feeders believe it will sell for $30 or more before the winter is over. The eastern part of the state is now rapidly nearing the end of its hay supply, while there is still much on hand in the western part. Feeders also differed considerably over the price of corn. Western part of the state men thought $1 a bushel is a representative feeding price, while eastern men thought $1.40 would be nearer the correct figure.

There are still many feeders in the state that are not convinced as to the value of silage for fattening cattle, and Professor Gramlich admitted that the experiment station had not been able to consistently find it of as much value as some claim for it. Several feeders told of putting dry corn fodder in silos with considerable success. A Dawson county man said he fed $30 alfalfa hay last year. He has no silo and is not convinced that they are all that is claimed for them.

The afternoon was scheduled to be spent in inspecting experimental lots of stock at the agricultural experiment station. Fifty head of western steers have just been purchased for experimental feeding in an effort to test the value of certain feeds. The feeders will see these steers before they go on feed, and next spring again after they are finished and at the latter date see what the substitute feeds did in the way of making a profit.

DR. FLING WILL ADDRESS MEN AT FIRST "Y" FORUM

Dr. Fred Morrow Fling will address the first meeting of the "Y" Forum Thursday at 5 o'clock. The "Y" Forum is the name for the new meetings to be conducted weekly under the auspices of the university Y. M. C. A. These meetings will be held each Thursday evening at the same hour in faculty hall, Temple. A speaker will be secured to address the men on problems of the day and their relation to the campus. The latter part of the meeting will be devoted to open discussions, debates and questioning.

Establishing these meetings is an outgrowth of the J. Stitt Wilson meetings held several weeks ago at which the suggestion was made that university men should get together to discuss matters of vital interest to college men.

PEP RALLY THURSDAY TO PRIME TEAM FOR SATURDAY'S BATTLE

A "life and pep" rally to give the team a mighty boost for the struggle with the Jayhawks Saturday will be held at the 11 o'clock convocation hour Thursday morning. Everything in the way of "pep," steam, góger, push, and life that can be uncovered, will be needed to send the team into the battle with a vim necessary to vanquish those from our southern neighbor-state.

Convocation rallies, whenever put into practice, have been immensely popular with the students at Nebraska, and have always been monster affairs in regard to attendance. The university band will be on hand to lead the beginning strain "U-Ran, N-Rah, U-N-I" of the new chant. Members of the team, Captain Dobson, Coach Schulte, Professor Cochran, O. J. Fee, and Professor Scott will give informal talks to the assembled Cornhuskers.

Those in charge say that every true Nebraskan, and every loyal supporter of the Cornhusker team must be present Thursday morning, to inject more "pep" into the rooters and team than was noticeably exhibited at the Ames game. The game with the Jayhawks has always been a momentous struggle of rival teams and the one this year promises to be no exception to the rule. The fate of the Jayhawk is the thing that will bring all Cornhuskers, both students and faculty, together for the rally Thursday morning. The cheerleaders will be much in evidence tomorrow to direct the yell-making during the session.

Kansas will be here on a special train from Lawrence. The sound of "Rock chalk, Jayhawk, Q U" will compete hard with the new chant of Nebraska as the cars containing the Kansas rooters steam into the station Friday. The slogan is "Every body at the rally."

Lost—Vespers, Nov. 11. They were first missed when a group of girls approached Art Hall about 5 o'clock and found the doors locked.

Found—Vespers. Loser pleas call for them at Art Hall, 5 o'clock next Thursday.

A group of girls went to Art Hall yesterday afternoon to attend vespers, but the vespers were not there. Then the search began. The janitor was asked if he had seen such an article on the premises. He replied in the negative. Someone suggested looking in Faculty Hall. The girls started in that direction, but saw that the room was not lighted. The Y. W. C. A. room was suggested, but it, too, was closed.

All but one of the girls gave up the search. She continued the detective pursuit until she got in communication with the conspirators. She was told that the vespers planned for Tuesday would be delivered without ransom or reward at Art Hall five o'clock next Thursday, if that schedule is approved by the authorities in the office. Miss Pauline Groves will speak at that time.

Vespers were postponed because Tuesday was a school holiday.

DES MOINES SCHOOLS CLOSE

Des Moines schools were closed on Tuesday and will remain so until the end of the coal strike. Lack of fuel was the reason. Several buildings and business places will have to close within 48 hours if coal is not available.

JAYHAWKS ARE CONFIDENT OF VICTORY OVER CORNHUSKERS

BASKETBALL MANAGERS

The managers of the basketball teams of all colleges will meet Thursday evening at 7:30 in the athletic office. This will be a very important meeting, and Coach Schissler asks that all managers be present.

WAR VETERANS CELEBRATE DAY

First Anniversary of Signing of Armistice a Half Holiday

Enjoying a half holiday, taking dinner at the Scottish Rite Temple, dancing and attending the movies was the way Lincoln war veterans celebrated the first anniversary of the day the Hun laid down his arms. All classes were held in the morning as usual, but school was dismissed for all in the afternoon. The day was observed in convocation by an address by Dr. Fred Morrow Fling on the League of Nations.

The sudden cold wave that swept the city did not stop the merry-makers. When the dinner bell was sounded for the banquet at the Scottish Rite Temple a line of ex-soldiers were waiting to get in hat reached for more than a block down the street. Every theater in the city was filled to capacity, and many hung out their sign, "Sold out." Crowds continued to come and go to the auditorium, where the dancing was going on, until a late hour.

The Nebraska Women's Educational club will meet Friday afternoon in Omaha, opening its session with a luncheon at 1 p. m. at the Fontenelle Hotel. Fifty-five Lincoln women members of the club, and it is expected that most of them will attend. The officers are: Miss Sarah T. Muir, Lincoln, president; Miss Belle M. Ryan, Omaha, vice-president; Miss Jennie B. Adams, Lincoln, secretary; Miss Stella B. Kirker, Lincoln, treasurer; Miss Mary Foster, Omaha, auditor. Election of officers and the report of a commission appointed to present legislation to be proposed to the constitutional convention touching educational matters will be the principal business to be completed.

LIVED ON 75 CENTS A DAY

Although Mrs. Charlotte Y. Ackerman, a widow of New York, left an estate valued at upward of $250,000 at the time of her death in February, 1917, during the latter years of her life she adhered rigidly to a self-imposed rule that her expenses for food should be kept within a minimum of 75 cents a day.

Mrs. Ackerman died at the age of 84 years. For many years previous she had lived alone as far as relatives were concerned. She had two servants who procured their meals and sleeping accommodations outside her house. Her only charge accounts were for bread, ice and gas, according to the referee's report.

CHAIN RUSH TO BE SUBSTITUTED FOR PUSHBALL CONTEST

The pushball contest has been eliminated from the Olympic contest this year and a chain rush will be substituted. The pushball contest has always been a feature of the annual inter-class scrap but as Ames, from whom the ball has always been rented, has rented it to another school, none can be obtained.

The chain rush which will take the place of the push ball contest, has been used for several years in the East but will be used Saturday for the first time in Nebraska. The chain rush is made up of fifty men from each class. They hold on to an iron bar, four feet long, and at the end of ten minutes, the side which has the most hands on the bar, is the winning side.

Tommy: Father, what is the difference between vision and sight?

Tommy's father: Well, my son, you can flatter a girl by calling her a vision, but don't call her a sight.

Record Against Oklahoma Last Saturday Raises High Kansas Hopes

Trainload of Students Will Accompany Team to Lincoln to Cheer It on In Homecoming Game

The Kansas Jayhawkers are seemingly proud of the record they made against Oklahoma last Saturday, and believe that their tie score with the Sooners means a victory over Nebraska. None of the Jayhawkers were injured and Coach McCarty's men will be in perfect physical condition to combat the Cornhuskers. There will be plenty of Kansas fans on hand to cheer the Sunflower to do their mightiest, according to the following dispatch received from Lawrence, Lawrence, Kans., Nov. 11.—The first practice after the scoreless tie with Bennie Owens' Sooners last Saturday was just a workout for the Jayhawkers. Coach McCarty is not going to overwork his men this week in preparation for one of the biggest games of the K. U. schedule, but he will devote some little time to perfecting an offense.

The Kansas defense proved itself impenetrable in the game Saturday. Even with Neels, all-Valley tackle, absent, and Wood, star quarter, on the sidelines, the backfield and line worked so well on the defense that not a single Oklahoma runner was able to get away for any large single gains.

Caplan Laslett, who featured the game at left end, has been characterized by sport critics as the best player in the midwest, is running his team through some brand new plays this week that will probably be sprung against the Huskers.

Two or three hundred Kansas fans have chartered a special train to take the trip to Lincoln next Friday night, along with the team and the band.

All Kansas hopes are sanguine to a very large degree. "We are not worrying about how Kansas is going to score, the question is—How is Nebraska going to score?" is a common remark on the campus.

All the men who were out of the Sooner game on account of injuries are back now, and Coach McCarty will probably start the entire regular lineup against the Cornhuskers next Saturday. No Kansas men were injured in the struggle Saturday, which is taken as an indication of the perfect condition of the Kansas eleven. "If the Sooners, twenty pounds heavier per man, can't hurt them, the Huskers won't have much chance of laying any of them out" is the consensus of opinion on Mount Oread.

TEAR UP FRESHMEN

The Huskers held the first scrimmage of the week last night and tore up the Freshman outfit in short order. Newman was at the helm and will no doubt start in his position against Kansas. Wright, Henry and Jobs constituted the rest of the backfield and the trio of speedsters gamed at will on the Freshmen. Jungmeyer was used at center and played the pivot position like an old-timer. Just who will start the fray with the Jayhawkers is a matter of conjecture.

In view of the fact that the Cornhuskers and Jayhawkers both played tie games with Benny Owen's Oklahoma proteges, two pretty evenly matched elevens will fight for victory on the Nebraska field next Saturday. Both the Kansans and the Nebraskans believe that they outplayed the Sooners and consequently both are confident of victory. The two schools have long been gridiron enemies, and the fact that Nebraska is now out of the Missouri Valley Conference and relations between the two schools have severed, will make this year's contest a fight to the last ditch.

OBSERVE ARMISTICE DAY WITH BIG MASS MEETING

Armistice day, November 11, the first anniversary of the signing of the armistice, was celebrated at the University of Wisconsin by a great massmeeting of students and faculty addressed by Dr. Paul S. Reinsch, '02, who recently resigned as ambassador to China. The massmeeting was held at 11 o'clock in the morning in the university gymnasium.

Nebraska is apparently leading all states in this division in Red Cross roll call. Pawnee county has over ten thousand new members. Kimball county already has enrolled more than last year. Prospects are for a record enrollment.
