LINCOLN HIGH DOWNS HER OLD ENEMY

Lincoln high laid low her old enemy, Omaha high, Saturday, trampling over the metropolis lads with a score of 28 to 0. All chances of Central high for the state championship are now ruined, and Lincoln and Beatrice will fight for the title Thanksgiving Day.

Rhoddy Lamb was the individual star of the game. In the final period he made a run of fifty yards and an other of ninety, both for touchdowns. Lamb proved himself one of the greatest quarter backs that ever managed a Lincoln team and is practically assured a berth on any all-state selection. Lewellen and Mockett also played a brilliant game and added their full share to the Lincoln gains.

The first half found the two teams pretty evenly matched. Neither was able to score through the first two periods, but in the third quarter Lincoln opened up and grabbed a couple of touchdowns and Lamb added two more in the final period. Deffenbaugh and Lewellen were responsible for the two counters in the third quarter, Lew crossing the Omaha line for one, after receiving a pass from Deffenbaugh, and a line plunge by Deffenbaugh scoring the other.

HUSKER ROOTERS MANIFEST LOYALTY

Loyal spirit was manifested at the Kansas game in the Cornhusker cheering sections. Several thousand Nebraska students filled the bleachers and combined their pep and enthusiasm with the football prowess of Schulte's team in sending Kansas home defeated for the seventeenth time. Three new cheer leaders, clad in scarlet and white, led the Husker songs and yells. Turner Tefft, Leonard Kimball, and Harold Stoa were the three and all exhibited the earmarks of excellent leaders.

A novel feature of the day was the elaborate parade staged by Husker students between the halves. At the head of the procession was a banner on which was an image of a tombstone, with the epitaph, "Here lies the Tiger." Closely following were six pretty co-eds acting as pall-bearers of the Kansas Jayhawk. Then came the slogan, "And the Jayhawk Shall Sleep with the Tiger." After the parade had passed, the stands stood with uncovered heads while two concert artists of the Nebraska cadet band, rendered Taps in honor of the Nebraska and Kansas heroes who gave their lives in the cause of democracy.

When the final whistle sounded and the game was over, the Cornhusker rooters remained in the stands until both teams had withdrawn from the field. While the players were leaving, all united in singing the Cornhusker song in honor of the victorious Cornhusker team.

Capture of Freshman President:

The capture of the freshmen president last Friday by the sophomores has resulted in the threatened suspension of several students who were connected in the affair. Members of the sophomore class declare that he was in no way maltreated and that the charge of hazing is unjust. A determined stand was taken on this point by a committee of students selected to appear before the faculty.

UNCONVENTIONAL GIRL ADVERTISES FOR "DATE"

New York, Nov. 15.—An advertisement, which the advertising department of the Columbia University's daily newspaper, the Spectator, says is the legitimate appeal of a young woman, appeared recently in the publication as follows:

"Are you bound by convention. A Columbia girl from out of town, cultured, well bred, and fairly good looking, wishes to make the acquaintance of several men in order to be introduced at Columbia functions. She is entirely unconventional and is willing to meet the men half way by paying all expenses. Strictly confidential. Address B 36, Spectator."

The students who publish the Spectator professed ignorance of the identity of the young woman or whether the number 36 had any reference to the age or figure of the advertiser.

Hundreds of masculine students are awaiting replies from her, as the advertisement was well answered.

Bread rationing was discontinued on September 1.

to telephonic conversation between the two sexes. The object of it is to exchange ideas, either in regard to dating or social status generally. The advantage of it is that it hides the expression on the faces of the conversationalists, and a joyous feeling on the part of either may be conveyed, i. e. it is an advanced form of camouflage. It may be brief or prolonged, as the case may be, depending on the reception received. It is always considered proper to prolong the conversation if someone else is waiting to use the phone. The calling up is divided into two parts: the humorous and the serious side. The humorous side deals with general topics, such as remarks about the weather or inquiries about school work, and serves as an opening to the more vital things of life. The serious side, or the vital thing is rather personal and deals with how the one being talked to is going to spend the time between certain specified hours on some particular night. If it were not for the calling up, there would be no dances, movie dates, in fact, there would not be such a thing as a co-ed school.
