the vast number of students who are expected to turn out at the number of places that entertainments will be held.

VOTE CLOSE ON TREATY

These voted for the treaty with the Lodge reservation: Ohio state university, Detroit university, Michigan college of mines.

Western reserve was for a separate peace.

New England

In New England there was a decided preference for the compromise proposition which was shared generally by the eastern colleges. In the middle west the early returns showed a preference for the same proposition, while the votes were quite evenly distributed between ratification with the Lodge reservations for second place.

In the south early reports from 12 universities and colleges showed a large plurality for ratification without amendments. Those favoring the compromise plan came next.

The intercollegiate treaty referendum committee received telegraphic returns here from all the colleges and complete results were expected to be announced before midnight tonight.

BOULDER QUINTET READY FOR FRIDAY GAME WITH HUSKERS

The season has far advanced. In addition to her strong squad of men, Colorado is expecting the high altitude to have a material effect on the wind of her opponents, especially after the two games with Ross Parson's Tigers at Colorado Springs yesterday and today.

Ignorance as to the style of play of the Cornhuskers and the scarcity of students who have seen them in action, gives an atmosphere of uncertainty on the campus. The prowess of the Nebraskans in other branches of sport, however, leaves little doubt that they will present a speedy quintet; and Colorado is conscious that she must produce in top-notch form in order to turn back the Scarlet and Cream.

The probable lineup:

- L. F. Schrepferman (c)
- R. F. Willard
- C. Breckenridge
- L. G. Brown
- R. G. Noggle.

BOX BUTTE COUNTY MAN TO SEND FIVE BOYS TO UNIVERSITY

C. A. Newberry of Box Butte county will defray the expenses of five boys to attend the university school of agriculture winter short course in agriculture, according to a letter received by Principal H. E. Bradford from W. R. Pate, superintendent of schools at Alliance. Mr. Pate asks for suggestions as to selecting the boys. His letter in part follows:

"We have a mighty liberal and far-sighted man out in this neck of the woods by the name of C. A. Newberry. If you know of any bigger man I should like to get acquainted with him. The reason for the above explosion is that Mr. Newberry wishes to send at his own expense five Box Butte county boys to the university each year for the short course in agriculture. He wishes to send boys who are interested in farming and who have ability enough to profit by such a course."

The winter short course in agriculture begins January 26 and runs until February 20. It is open to boys with an eighth grade education and at least 18 years old. Practical courses are given in general agriculture, dairying, rural economics, animal husbandry, poultry husbandry, horticulture, crops and soils, farm management, and farm bookkeeping.

Special Overcoat Sale

Includes our regular stock of Kuppenheimer and many other well known makes

Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, only

To hold a Special sale of a tremendous stock of fine overcoats so soon after the unprecedented scarcity that existed all the fall is one of the peculiar outcomes of the conditions in the clothing market.

Hundreds upon hundreds of overcoats that should have reached us in the early fall were not forthcoming when wanted. It was the same way everywhere. The mills were late in delivering fabrics. The manufacturers were still later in delivering the finished garments.

Then of a sudden the tide turned. Shipment after shipment of the finest overcoats have come to us—two months late. Rather than carry a lot of them over to next winter, we're going to clean house right now with liberal price reductions.

Only Four Prices

(The original price ticket remains on every coat)

|                                    |             |                                    |             |
|------------------------------------|-------------|------------------------------------|-------------|
| All coats up to and including $40 | $25 | All coats up to and including $65 | $45 |
| All coats up to and including $50 | $35 | All coats up to and including $85 | $55 |

If you need a coat this year or next don't let the thought of possible lower prices next year stop you, for undoubtedly they will be higher than they were this season.
