OUR POLICY.

It is customary for each succeeding staff of the Nebraskan to announce their policy. We feel that it is hardly necessary for us to declare a new one, but we will follow as closely as possible the original Nebraskan aim which has been the key-note of the paper since its beginning in 1897—"that the Daily Nebraskan shall be devoted to the daily life of this university. We realize that newspaper work should be constructive rather than destructive and we intend to take a definite stand in the interests of the students, faculty and university as a whole. The motto for this semester is to be 'News—up-to-date and exact.'"

SUPPORT YOUR PAPER.

This week the business staff begins its subscription campaign. Make it a point to have your name on the subscribers' list. The Nebraskan is the daily mirror of school life at this university and you will find it worth your while to read the paper every day. It will enable you to discuss intelligently campus affairs and problems with your friends and really to know what is going on in your school. A dollar and a quarter is a cheap price for a daily lesson in current events and campus civic affairs. There is no better way to show Nebraska spirit than to support the college paper, for that paper aids all other activities by giving them publicity and acting as a medium between the student body and school life. Subscribe now and if the solicitor does not see you, take your money to the Student Activities office.

SENIOR CAPS.

The balloting on senior caps this week calls to attention another Nebraska tradition, and a very worthy one. The senior girls are voting during registration on whether to wear caps the last two weeks of the semester or only on Commencement day.

In former years, many classes have worn the "Mortar-board" from Phi Beta Kappa day till the end of the year, and at some schools, seniors wear them all year. It would certainly be lamentable to drop this tradition entirely, especially when the new plan brings about such a happy medium. A senior cap has a peculiar significance in the history of college life—the significance of sixteen years or more well spent in preparing for the big problems of life. Let us not abolish this symbol of achievement from Nebraska university.

Society

Friday, January 23

The annual banquet of Farm House was held in the Garden Room of the Lincoln Hotel, when fifty guests were present. The tables, which were so arranged so as to form a large "U," were decorated with heaping baskets of fruits. The toast-master of the evening, who was introduced by L. A. Wilson, '20, was R. W. Carpenter, '20, who called upon the following for toasts: S. B. Bigelow, '20, "Reveille;" P. H. Stewart, '16, "Fatigue;" F. A. Hobart, '21, "Mess;" and E. J. Yates, '20, "Retreat." Following this various other alumni gave impromptu toasts, which further carried out the idea of a series of bugle calls. A special feature of the evening was the use of stereopticon slides, specially drawn for the occasion, which were cartoons of the different members of the fraternity. The out-of-town guests were as follows: Robert Reier, Red Cloud; F. R. Kelly, Nora; L. B. Reist, Beatrice; H. C. Nerrick, Adams; and W. H. Eller, Omaha. Dean Burnett was invited as an honorary guest.

Saturday, January 24

Farm House entertained eighty couples at an informal at the Lincoln Hotel. The color scheme, which was scarlet and white, was carried out by the use of tall jardiniere of colored roses, interspersed with stands of palms. The following were out-of-town guests: Robert Reier, Red Cloud; F. R. Kelly, Nora; H. C. Nerrick, Adams; C. A. Olson, Bristow; and A. J. Kjelson, of Stromsburg, Professor and Mrs. H. J. Gramlich, and Professor and Mrs. H. G. Young acted as chaperones.

Saturday, January 24

Fifty couples were entertained at a house-party of Alpha Omicron Pi, that was held at the chapter house. The sorority colors, red and white, were used as the motive in the decorations, which took the form of two-colored streamers hung from the ceiling. An original manner of serving the punch was making it come from an old-fashioned wooden pump, that was placed in one corner of one of the rooms. Mrs. B. A. Harrington, and Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Floyd were invited as chaperones. Doris Vallery, '17, and Jeanette Adams, '19, of Eagle were out-of-town guests.

Silver Lynx entertained about twenty couples at a house dance at the chapter house. Decorations carried out the fraternity colors, old rose and silver, in the shaded lights and lamps. The chaperons were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bedford, and Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Neuman.
