FACULTY TO AID ARTS STUDENTS

aggregating 18 hours, from among those designated by the department and approved by the course of study committee. Elementary or beginning courses open to freshmen shall not be included in the major and some courses must represent distinctly advanced work. A major may include courses in departments other than the one in which the major is offered. Each candidate shall also be required to offer a minor consisting of courses aggregating 18 hours in one or more subjects designated by the department in which the major is offered and approved by the course of study committee. At least eight hours of a minor must be offered in one subject. A concise statement of the major and minor requirements indicating what courses are excluded and what courses must be included, shall be published in the announcement of each department providing a major.

3. That more adequate means of advising students be organized as follows:

1. A general circular of advice in regard to the selection of courses together a provisional course of study card shall be placed in the hands of all students at a considerable period before the day of registration and each student shall be required to come to his adviser with a tentative program of his work indicating his general aims.

(a) The dean of the college of arts and sciences shall appoint a suitable board of members of the faculty to serve as advisers to the students of the class of 1924 throughout their two years of work in the junior division.

(b) He shall also provide a suitable number of advisers to the class of 1923 to serve for one year.

(c) Thereafter the dean shall appoint such number of supervisors as may be deemed necessary for each entering class during its two years' work in the junior division.

3. It shall be the aim of the board of advisers.

(a) To meet with students during the entire week of registration to discuss with them the general principles which should control their choice of subjects, to discover their aptitudes and any choice of vocation which they may thus early have formulated, and to advise them of the opportunities afforded by the university.

(b) To offer each student an opportunity to meet his adviser for consultation at least once during each semester.

(c) To hold meetings for the purpose of discussing the problems arising out of their work and to evolve uniform standards as a basis for their advice.

(d) To indicate each course of study, card signed whether the selected program is or is not approved by the adviser.

Each student entering the senior division shall choose an adviser in the department from which he selects his major subject.

4. That the aims and purposes of the college and of the junior and senior divisions thereof be set forth in the catalog in such definite terms as may be agreed upon, for the guidance of the students, the parents and the board of advisers.

The faculty adjourned to meet again on Monday, February 1, at 5:00 p. m.

NEW STAFF IS CHOSEN FOR DAILY NEBRASKAN semester, and has previously served taken an active part in school affairs and her insight into university activities makes her thoroughly competent on the reportorial staff of the paper, and as associate editor. She has for her new work.

Mr. Hammond was connected with the Nebraskan last year as news editor, and is familiar with the newspaper "game" from "the ground up." Mr. Harding was recently appointed news editor before the close of the first semester and will continue the work which he began only a few weeks before a new staff was chosen.

Mr. Cowley has served on the reportorial staff of the paper for more than a year, and is familiar with the editorial department. Miss Finch has been a member of the Nebraskan staff for several years, and for the past semester has been society editor.

Dorothy Barkley has been appointed society editor and Orvin Gaston will continue to edit the sports department. Mr. Patty has been in touch with student publications at the university for several semesters and is well qualified to hold the position as circulation manager.

PLANS DISCUSSED FOR BIG MEMORIAL

Dawson; Mrs. Y. B. Huffman, '06, Broken Bow; J. H. Kemp, '98, Fullerton; Fred C. Laird, '06, Fremont; Charles McNamara, '06, North Platte; Samuel Rees, '04, Omaha; Ralph C. Roper, '00, David City; Leo B. Stuhr, '01, Lincoln; Harry A. Tukey, '01, Omaha.

View of Alumni

There has been much said by the alumni in different quarters about having the memorial take the form of an stadium or gymnasium with athletic equipment, one, both or all. This idea has found considerable favor. Other suggestions take the form of an artistic memorial arch at the Twelfth street entrance to the campus. For this the services of artists would need to be secured. At one time it was urged in certain quarters that a men's building of the club order sort would be the appropriate thing. Other suggestions have been a memorial chapel, a university auditorium, a men's dormitory or a woman's or two dormitories, one for each sex. All these were talked over at yesterday's meeting. Decision was left until the joint meeting with the directors in the near future.

It was unanimously voted to ask Regent Judson of Omaha to meet with the committee and be a part of its opinions of experts among the alumni will be sought as to the best ways of handling the project. Members of the committee who had been looking into the matter reported that there seemed to be a tendency in other states to erect utilitarian memorial. The University of Wisconsin proposes to erect a union building which will combine seven features—a memorial and a trophy room; reading and social rooms; commons consisting of dining rooms large and small; rooms for union board, senate, court, debating societies, spaces for dancing, offices for billiard and bowling rooms; alumni various student organizations; billiard and bowling rooms; alumni headquarters and faculty rooms; a theatre.

SPORT BRIEFS

The Cornell rowing schedule calls for a triangular race with the Princeton and Yale crews on Carnegie Lake on May 15, a race with the Harvard varsity and freshman eights on Cayuga Lake May 22, and the entry of three crews in the Poughkeepsie regatta. The date of that regatta, it is guessed at Ithaca, will be July 1, that being the most favorable period so far as tidal conditions are concerned.

Despite the many unexpected setbacks during the 1919 football season, all of the big Eastern football teams have heavy schedules in 1920.

Indications are that the remainder of the 1920 basketball season in the Big Ten will include many thrilling contests. Illinois, which at present is leading the conference race, plays the last few games of its schedule away from home.

Illinois students, and especially the sporting editor of the Illini, seem to think that the basketball championship of the Big Ten is already on its way to Urbana. Time will tell.

The faculty at Northwestern announces that the university is not yet ripe for the return of baseball, but sanctions an interfraternity bridge whist tournament and makes golf a varsity sport.

Weston, the star end on Wisconsin's football team, is putting up a classy game at guard for the Badger quintet for the season.

Yale probably will accept the invitation for a track meet in England this spring, Prof. Clarence W. Mendell, chairman of the athletic board of control, has announced.

Reports from Michigan indicate that Carl Johnson, crack sprinter, is in earnest training for the activities of next spring. Johnson tied the world's record of 5 3-5 seconds for the 50-yard dash last season.
