KEEN RIVALRY IN CLASS ELECTIONS

University Students Shy Hats in Political Ring for Class Offices.

Polls to Open at Nine O'clock Tuesday in 108 Social Science.

The political pot is boiling. Two candidates have filed for every presidency and for the office of Ivy Day orator, and only one day remains for electioneering.

Lucile Cline and George D. Driver will wage the battle for the senior presidency, while both H. P. Graven-gard and Fred N. Hellner aspire to be Ivy Day orator. Mr. Driver is a member of the Pi Kappa Phi fraternity, Mr. Graven-gard of the Bushnell Guild and Mr. Hellner of the Sigma Phi Epsilon.

James A. Lucas, Alpha Sigma Phi, and Harold E. McGlasson, Kappa Sigma, have filed for the junior presidency. The sophomore presidency lies between G. C. Bowen and G. S. Salter. Mr. Salter is a prominent student in the college of engineering; Mr. Bowen is a member of the Sigma Nu fraternity. The freshmen, like the seniors, will have to choose between a man and a woman for their president. Nell Bates, of the Gamma Phi Beta sorority, and Wallace D. Craig, of the Sigma Chi fraternity, have filed. Miss Bates is the president of the freshmen commission.

ALL-UNI MIXER WELL ATTENDED

Almost One Thousand Students Participate in Valentine Festival Saturday Night.

The big all-university valentine festival attracted approximately one thousand students to its merry-making in the Temple and the Armory last Saturday night.

Groups of fun-seekers began to gather in the Temple before seven-thirty, the time scheduled for the stunts to begin. Soon long lines were waiting at the entrance, where each paid thirty cents. For this he received a ticket for refreshments and admitted him to all the entertainments in both buildings. He also was given an introduction tag to write his name a stamp on the right hand, which ad-on. The skits were given in six rooms of the theatre. Several skits were given at the same time, but they were repeated so that it was possible for one to see all of them.

Most popular of all the rooms was the cafeteria where refreshments were served. The menu consisted of sandwiches, pickles, brick ice cream, wafers and coffee. At one time the line of people waiting for refreshments extended out the door of the cafeteria and across the hall to the theatre.

ENGINEERS TO HOLD ST. PATRICK'S BALL

The St. Patrick representatives met the first of the week and decided upon the methods by which members of the St. Patrick's ball committee should be elected. It gives out the information that the election will take place near the end of this week. The Bearer of the Barney Stone will be elected from the Junior Class, and The Bearer of St. Patrick's Baton and two guards from the Sophomore class.

The hall will be held at the Commercial Club March 20. It will be strictly an Engineers' affair. The officers elected will be informed secretly of their election and the information will not be given to the other members until the evening of the ball.

PROF. GEO. N. FOSTER AUTHOR OF NEW VOLUME

Prof. Geo. N. Foster of the college of law, state University of Nebraska, has lately published a book with the Lawyers Cooperative Publishing Company, of Rochester, New York on "Lawyers Legal Search," which gives definite rules of search explained by definite problems and illustrated with charts. The publishing house bought the copyright from the author and are now running it in their publication "Cases and Comment" a legal magazine, as a leading post card ad inclosed to all of the law schools and attorney patrons of the country. The big feature of the book as presented to the profession is as follows:

Every proposition of law is a cross between two lines of cases. Every cross between two lines of cases—every cross can be charted to prove and test your analysis of a set of facts. Professor Foster shows how."

CABETS MAY HAVE TO DRILL BARE HEADED

"The University of Nebraska R. O. T. C. shall be equipped with barracks caps," said the war department.

"All right," said Colonel Morrison, "they look better than hats anyway."

But when the war department took stock it found that it did not have enough caps to supply the unit. Now, with the shipping lists of the unit's uniforms arrived, minus those for caps or hats, the prospect seems eminent of a military organization wearing the army khaki with civilian headgear or no headgear at all.

The military department announces that the field artillery unit will begin to drill out of doors early in March. The department of grounds and buildings is preparing to grade a 75-foot square gun-park on the ground north of the Social Science building and erect a small shed to house the four cannons of the unit which are now stored at the state fair grounds. The Nebraskan expects shortly to print stories of feats of bravery performed by the heroic field artillery in the rock-strewn no-mans land east of Twelfth street.

However, the field artillery unit will have no monopoly on the glory for the military department recently received a shipment of 1,200 rifles for the infantry regiment and will issue them as soon as the coatings of oil in which they are packed can be removed. Six hundred of these rifles are Springfields and the remainder are Enfields. The former, because they are a little lighter, will be issued the State Farm companies in which the younger men are enrolled.

The department announces the following changes in assignments of officers: Captain Herring to be transferred from Company A to Company C; Captain Salter to be transferred from Company C to Company A.

The Pershing Rifles, a crack company, will be organized soon and drill will be under way with added vim within a week or so if the weather and other conditions are favorable.

ROAD INSTITUTE WILL HAVE LARGE ATTENDANCE

Indications are pointing to large attendance at the Nebraska Road institute's third annual convention which is to be held in Lincoln from March 1-5. Programs have been mailed to all the highway commissioners, surveyors, road supervisors and good road men of the state and those in charge are expecting an attendance of over six hundred. Everyone who is interested in good roads is invited to attend the meetings.

The Nebraska Road Institute was started by the college of engineering in 1918. Two hundred men attended the first convention and since then it has steadily grown. The convention this year will surpass the others in attendance and general interest. A program that takes up every phase of road management has been prepared. The list of speakers includes the best road authorities of the state.

Prof. Clark E. Mickey of the college of engineering has charge of the arrangements for the convention.

WOMAN'S HALL FORMALLY OPENS

Building for Use of University Women Ready for Occupation.

Dean Heppner Gives Reception Friday Afternoon to University Girls.

A very pleasing social affair of the year was the reception given by dean of women, Amanda Heppner, to all university girls, as a formal opening of the Woman's Hall at Fourteenth and R streets Friday afternoon. The honor guests were Miss Claire McKinnon, general secretary of the university Y. W. C. A., Miss Marjorie Selleck, new assistant to the dean of women, and Mrs. Bessie Thompson, hostess of the house.

Saturday afternoon the house was again open to the women friends of the university such as the mothers of university students, collegiate alumnae, and other organizations closely connected with the university. Sunday afternoon the house was open to the members of the faculty.

The house has undergone extensive remodeling and is now all that one could desire for a home for the women students. The old mosaic floors of the court and entrance hall have been retained while well finished oak floors are in the other rooms. Wilton rugs in deep turquoise blue are found in the large rooms on the lower floor. The furniture is overstuffed tapestry brocade, corresponding to the shade of blue in the rugs. The walls are pale buff. A narrow frieze with a running design in blue carries out the color scheme which was suggested by the tiling around the fireplace in the court and the beautiful colored glass skylight over the court.

The office of the dean of women is on the first floor and on every school day she will be found in her office at her regular hours 11-12 and 2-4. Her telephone number still remains the same—B-6144.

The office of the Y. W. C. A. secretary is on the left side on the first floor.

W. S. G. A. COUNCIL CREATES POINT SYSTEM

In a meeting of the W. S. G. A. council last Thursday the subject of the point system for girls was discussed pro and con. In order that all girls may work in the school activities and that all the more important offices are not held by a few girls, a system of points for each office held was brought before the council. It was presented by Mary Brownell. This system has been tried in many of the large eastern colleges and has been proven a decided success. The council wishes the university girls to read the plan of this point system and discuss it among themselves and to give any suggestions to the councils.

COMMERCIAL SUBJECTS ARE PROVING POPULAR

F. W. Ivey, associate professor of marketing, economics and commerce has two sections of his course in advertising with 120 and sixty in each. He was obliged to dismiss about thirty students who asked for the course but did not have the prerequisites. The course is open exclusively to upper-classmen only.

Salesmanship is offered this semester as an academic course for the first time in the history of the university. Prof. P. W. Ivey gives this at 7:30 p. m., Wednesday in the auditorium of the Social Science building. Several hundred students have appeared already for this work. It is open both to students and to business people and for this reason is given at night.

The other evening classes in this college are also popular. The class in principles of accounting meets at 7:30 Monday evenings in 302 Social Science building; principles of economics is held in the same room Thursday evenings.

HUSKERS WHIP AGGIES TWICE

Ponies Take Two Games Straight from Formidable Farmers from Michigan.

Western Championship in Sight of Nebraska Basketball Flippers.

The Nebraska Cornhuskers made another long stride towards the western championship by defeating the Michigan Aggies in two straight battles on the Lincoln floor Friday and Saturday nights. Only during the opening period of the first game did the Aggies in any way show themselves the equal of the Husker five. The superior floor work and basket shooting of Schissler's men was evident at all times and the stellar work of the Nebraska guards prevented the Michigan forwards from getting a great number of shots. The scores of the respective games were 43-28 and 39-20.

The first game was nip and tuck throughout the first half with Nebraska leading by two points at the end of the period. Baskets by Smith and Patty were responsible for the Husker scores while Figgie proved the main point getter for the farmers. At the beginning of the second period Jesse Fatty broke loose and began to send the ball through the hoop almost at will, scoring eight field goals in the last half. Meanwhile goals by Russell, Bekins, and Jungmeyer swelled the Husker count to forty-three. The Aggies accounted for only five field goals during this period.

The second game was even more one-sided than the first. Again Patty (Continued on Page Four.)

The Husker lads were winners over the city leaguers by the score of 23-10. Carman was the chief scorer for the freshmen, accounting for seven points. The lineup:

COLLEGIATE ALUMNAE TO MEET SATURDAY

The program announced for the meeting of the association of Collegiate Alumnae on Saturday, February 21, has been changed, owing to the expected absence from the city of Superintendent J. H. Newlon, who was to speak on "Present Day Tendencies in Secondary Education." Instead, Miss Louise Pound has been asked to discuss "Traditional Songs in Nebraska." Illustrative texts will be sung by Miss Leonore Burkett. Miss Burkett will also sing, by request, an operatic selection.

The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. O. M. Stonebraker and Miss Maurine Wingert, 1716 B street at 3:30 p. m.
