SAYS SITUATION BAD IN ORIENT

Grace Coppock Addresses Students on Chinese Question at Convocation.

Much Money Needed to Further Cause of Christianity in Far East.

A large assembly greeted Miss Grace Coppock Tuesday morning, who addressed the students of Nebraska on "The Student Movement in China." She told the story of that sudden outbreak of national feeling which swept the Chinese schools when it became known that Shantung was lost indeed. This outbreak was so important as to form a considerable factor in the Far Eastern situation. The students blamed the loss as much upon the corruption of the Chinese government as upon Japanese aggression. Spontaneously they rose in protest. Some 25,000 struck in Shanghai alone mostly from the grade schools. In many cases the faculty struck with them, although in the mission schools the faculty refrained from political reasons. The students paraded the streets two or three times a week with banners flying. The demonstrations were orderly and great pains were taken not to provoke violence. Nevertheless the patriotism of the people was roused to white heat. The effectiveness of the boycott on Japanese goods was largely due to the propaganda initiated and carried on by the students.

The significance of the student movement is that it is perhaps the first great manifestation of democratic public opinion in China. It also, by initiating the boycott, helped to build up Chinese industries. Many things formerly imported from Japan are now being manufactured in China.

Miss Coppock was introduced by Mr. Grumann, who said that in 1905 when she was in his classes he had been willing to prophesy that she would accomplish great things. Mrs. Raymond opened the program with a pipe organ selection.

PUBLICITY DEPARTMENT MOVES TO NEW OFFICE

Expansion of University News Service Necessitates Enlargement of Accommodations.

Miss Hunter of the publicity department of the University of Nebraska announces that Thursday she will change her office from the basement of U Hall to Room 163 across from the University Post Office which room is now being remodeled for her use.

This is practically a new department in the university having been instituted only last June. The State Farm however, it has several less important for some time with Mr. Lewis in charge. The main work of this department is to place before the public, both in and out of the state, interesting news notes of the students and faculty work of the university. Besides this, however, it has several less important functions; supplying out Sunday papers with "In University Circles;" keeping records on file of all university news sent out; sending personal notes to the editors of the home towns so that the home folks may know what their students are doing; an information bureau for literary works published by faculty, students and ex-professors; and sending copies of lectures by the professors on travels, government and reconstruction to the magazines.

Miss Hunter, the head of this department is a graduate of the University of Nebraska, and an ex-member of the faculty. She has had much experience as a member of the staff of one of Nebraska's largest dailies. She has also written and published seventy special articles about the university. "This work is as important as the advertising of any business concern," says Miss Hunter, "and should be encouraged." With the beginning of the second semester, Miss Hunter has been

SENIORS HOLD MEETING UNDER DRIVER'S THUMB

Margaret Howes was elected vice-president of the senior class at the first meeting held under the George Driver administration Tuesday morning in Law 101. Mary Waters was chosen secretary, Don Parry, treasurer and Roy Whitam was re-elected sergeant-at-arms.

At the election a business meeting was held. It was voted to observe color week some time in the near future. Each member will be required to wear the University of Nebraska colors during the week. A class party is planned to be held at the end of color week. The cap and gown question was discussed but no action was taken.

TOURNEY OFFICERS TO MEET TONIGHT

Men Will Receive Final Instructions from Coach Riddell at 7:30.

A final meeting for all referees, timers, scorers, floor managers, and police, who are to work in the tournament, has been called for tonight at 7:30 in room 102, Armory. Coach Schissler is insistent that every man who expects to act in one of the above named capacities be present. The final instructions in the details of each duty will be given the men; and in addition the official ribbons and badges will be given out at that time. No badges or ribbons will be issued at any other hour of the day, so that those who expect to be passed in to the games by their badges of duty must be at the meeting.

The list of referees below is practically complete. The men named will report to John Riddell at the meeting and receive their badges and assignments.

NEWS OF THE DAY

Boiled Down for Busy Readers

Washington, March 2.—Franklin D'Olier, national commander of the American Legion appeared before the House Committee on Ways and Means and stated that the majority of the ex-soldiers did not want a bonus but wanted aid to tide them over the present financial situation.

Lincoln, March 2.—Secretary of State Amsberry stated today that the republican aspirants for nomination would have to be weeded out in order to make the republican party successful. Too many candidates are apt to be their defeat.

Washington, March 2.—Attorney General Palmer has made a formal announcement that he is democratic candidate for the presidency of the United States.

New York, March 2.—T. D. Underwood, president of the Erie Railway, says that a two-cent passenger rate is sufficient to support most roads. He said that traveling accommodations would soon show a marked improvement since roads were turned back to private ownership.

Washington, March 2.—Twenty-one states have joined the federal government to dismiss the suit brought by Rhode Island to test the validity of the federal prohibition amendment.

UNIVERSITY WEEK PLANS ANNOUNCED BY MANAGEMENT

Fifteen Nebraska Towns Will be Visited by School Talent in April.

That the schedule and the program for university week will be bigger this year than ever before is indicated by the plans which are now taking definite form and will soon be complete. University week will be the first week in April.

The university devotes one week every spring to sending representatives of its talent to small towns of the state. These entertainment courses usually consist of lectures and musical and dramatic productions.

The entertainers will be sent out on two routes this year. This is without precedent. Last year only three towns were scheduled. The dramatic department will send "It Pays to Advertise," on one route, "Under Cover," on another route and a "Road Show" on each route. Announcements about the musical department's part of the program are incomplete, but it has been decided that the band and representatives of the chorus will go.

The towns on one of the routes are, Gothenburg, Chappell, Sidney, Kimball, Lexington and North Platte. "It Pays to Advertise" will be given in these towns. The other route has not been announced.

The cast for the "Road Show" and the representatives of the chorus will be chosen within a few days. Approximately fifteen people will compose each group from the dramatic department, each of which will include a chaperon.

A great number of students are desirous of going on this trip and only the best talent will be picked from the throng.

BASKETBALL EDITION WILL BE OUT FRIDAY

The Daily Nebraskan will publish a twelve page special edition Friday morning, containing a full account of Thursday's games, a review of the Cornhusker basketball season, the interfraternity and "co-ed" tournaments, and a record of the Nebraska high school tournament.

Extra copies will be printed and distributed to the tournament visitors who are in Lincoln this week.

Plenty of Entertainment Ready For High School Basketeers

The University of Nebraska promises to provide plenty of entertainment for the high school basketball men who will be the guests of the university this week at the tenth annual basketball tournament. The committee on entertainment has arranged for a number of interesting features and many more stunts are the athletic carnival.

The city Y. M. C. A. as usual will throw open its doors to all basketball men upon their arrival in the city. A guest membership card will be issued to every manager and player. This paste board will entitle them to all the privileges of the institution including the swimming pool, showers, reading rooms and cafeteria. For the benefit of the early birds who will pave the way for the visitors a wrestling match and gymnasium exhibition has been planned at the city Y. M. C. A. this evening at eight o'clock. An admission of twenty-five cents will be charged to defray expenses. A vaudeville program under the auspices of the student council of the Lincoln high school will be given at the high school auditorium at eight-thirty immediately following under preparation.

The big blow-out of the week will be held at the Commercial club in

IRGF STUDENTS TO PURCHASE ANNUAL

"Cornhusker" Management Gives Sound Reasons Why Every One Should Own Year Book.

University girls will launch the drive for Cornhusker subscriptions on Tuesday morning, March 9th.

Some sororities have entered contestants in the sales campaign, and many others have signed up to help the management make the sales drive a huge success. Keen interest is manifested by the contestants, and the girls are determined to put the campaign across. The management will be at the Student Activities Office every day this week, between one and two o'clock to meet those who wish to enter the contest.

The Staff presents many reasons why every freshman in school should buy a Cornhusker. The reasons for having, and warnings against failing to buy the volume, as follows:

"The only way to vividly recall the memories of your first year in college, will be by means of the Cornhusker of that year.

"Buying a Cornhusker is one of the biggest and best ways to show your college spirit and stand the test of loyalty.

"Don't feel that you cannot spare the money for a Cornhusker. It is money well invested and the book stands by itself in real cash value. Aside from its worth as a record of Nebraska history, it is a more expensive book than has been possible to publish heretofore.

"The volume is published for the students and faculty of the University of Nebraska and every year holds valuable records for every person connected with the university. With the passing of years these books become of more importance to the men and women.

ROCKY CHAMPS INVADE NEBRASKA

Colorado College Expects to Give Huskers Drubbing Friday and Saturday.

Campus Fans Anxious to See Post-Game With Chicago University.

The Colorado College basket-tossers, who handed the Cornhuskers one of the two defeats they have received this season, are coming to Lincoln to meet the Huskers on the Armory floor on Friday and Saturday afternoons of this week. Since playing Schissler's squad at Colorado Springs, the Tigers have annexed the championship of the Rocky Mountain conference and are confident that they will grab both ends of the twin bill from Nebraska.

Schissler's team has just returned from a very successful tour through Iowa, Illinois, and Indiana with five more victories chalked down to its credit. At each place where the Nebraskans exhibited they were hailed as one of the greatest aggregations of hoopsters seen in the West in many years and the fame of Cornhusker basketball has reached dazzling heights. Valparaiso players and coaches were very emphatic in declaring that Nebraska easily had any team in the Big Ten outclassed.

Unless a favorable answer is received from the University of Chicago authorities in reply to Coach Schissler's invitation to the Maroons to meet the Huskers in Lincoln, these two games with Colorado College will wind up the Cornhusker basket season. No word has as yet been received from the Maroon officials and whether or not they would consider a clash with Nebraska is a matter of conjecture. Nebraska enthusiasts have little doubt but what the Huskers can trounce the Chicago five or any other team in the country.

At the present time, however, all interest is centered on the coming games

MANY SPEAKERS AT NEBRASKA ROAD MEET

State "Highwaymen" Are Addressed by State Engineers on Road Construction.

The maintenance and construction of state highways was thoroughly taken up at the Tuesday session of the Nebraska Road Institute. The program for the morning was opened by an address by A. S. Merick, chief construction engineer, department of public works, on the construction of state highways. George E. Johnson, secretary of the department of public works took up the phases of the construction of state highways. A. H. Edgren who was to speak on "County Highway Patrol for Maintenance" was unable to appear and F. H. Morey who had been scheduled to speak on the "Administration and Organization of the Department of Public Works" at the Monday session, gave the address. Mr. Morey spoke of the relationship of the civil administrative code to the department of public works.

An illustrated address on the evolution of Nebraska highways by Professor G. R. Chatburn of the engineering college opened the afternoon program. The advancement of Nebraska Roads from seas of mud to smooth well-paved highways was shown. The evolution of a county bridge was the subject of the speech of D. L. Erickson, deputy commissioner of Lancaster county. F. T. Darrow, assistant chief engineer of the Burlington system spoke on highway railroad crossings.

The feature of the afternoon was the address of Mr. Harry Burhans, secretary of the Denver Tourist Bureau. Mr. Burhans spoke on the value of good roads for the community and showed how Denver had benefitted from them.
