THE DAILY DITTY

by
 Gayle Vincent Grubb

They're here! From every hamlet, burg,
 They've come to enter strife,
 And I've never seen so many youths
 In all my dad-burned life,
 With sweaters, Gad, there's every shade
 From "punkin" top to beet,
 And appetites that know no fill
 And mouths that always eat.
 We greet you tho', my sons, and hope
 The luck be all your way
 That the "hum" town fire bell will clang out

'Cause you're victor of the day;
 But ah, as one who's traveled o'er
 Our life's tempestuous tide,
 I wenee you'd list to what I say
 And hark as I confide.

Please cast the colored collar far
 A-down the rubbage can,
 And hear not when the clothing gent
 Begins like he's began;
 Let's have no more of tennis shoes
 As footwear for the feet;
 Let's cut the colored collar out
 And play and win and eat.

Now, fear not that I chastise you
 Because of what I think,
 I only carry on the news
 By means of printer's ink;
 And yet let's beat the Jewish guy
 That brings out by-gone slop
 And throws it in your lamplight 'till—
 Yuh get me right, old top?

UNIVERSITY WILL HAVE PRINT SHOP

 considerable headway may be made in the work during the coming school year. An effort will be made to secure presses and necessary make-up equipment. Instructors will be secured for these phases of the work.
 Editors of Nebraska have pledged themselves at their meeting last week to do everything in their power to influence the State Legislature to all of the work at its next session. The editors feel keenly the need for more linotype operators and pressmen and believe that this need may be met through the proper instruction in the University.

BASKETBALL

Thursday morning marks the beginning of the greatest Basketball Tournament in America. Eighteen hundred young men from all over the state are here to compete. Make yourselves at home. Make use of Lincoln's many facilities; enjoy yourselves.

Farquhar clothes are just the thing for basket-ball men---and young men everywhere. They are made for young men who want the newest and best things to wear. Be sure to include a visit to this store on your program while here for the tournament.

Excellent wages are paid craftsmen of the printing trade and the editors are sure that if the course is offered, a large number of students will take advantage of the opportunity to secure an education in this line.

Will Print Nebraskan

After the complete installation of the plant, The Daily Nebraskan, Agriculture and perhaps Awgwan and Engineering magazines will be printed in the University plant. The University authorities expect to save considerable money in the printing of their official bulletins and a number of the regular publications in the plant.

Work in the plant, will be entirely handled by the students under the supervision of the instructors. While the detailed plans have not been completely worked out, it is probable that those students who do the work for the publications will receive a salary as well as credit for their work. Mr. Busk intends to make a trip to the Indianapolis Typesetting School within a short time to secure ideas for the management of the school at Nebraska.

STATE TOURNEY IN FULL SWING

 Club. Banquets, programs and various athletics events have been scheduled to meet the pleasure of the high school guests and there is little doubt but what the visiting teams will greatly profit by their short stay in Lincoln.

Last Minute Changes

Several changes were made in the schedules late Tuesday afternoon. for the Deaf was taken from Class C to Class C and the Nebraska School for the Deaf was taken from Class C and put in the position originally held by Ravenna in Class D. It is generally believed that this is a better adjustment of the teams, as Ravenna has a team which easily exceeds any other in Class D. Word was received by Director Schissler yesterday that West Point could not enter the tournament. No reason was given but the Cuming County lads were removed from the schedule and the necessary changes made.

Speculation is rife as to the probable winners in the upper classes, especially in Class A. Lincoln is thought by many to be the most dangerous contender, but Omaha School of Commerce, runner-up of the meet last year, is again on hand with a string team of veterans. Norfolk and Lexington are reputed to have exceedingly fast quintets and either one of these teams may loom up as the "dark horse" of the tourney. Omaha Central and University Place are also aggregations of great merit. No doubt several surprises will be sprung in the first round of play.
