GRACE COPPOCK ISSUES APPEAL TO UNIVERSITY WOMEN AT MASS MEETING

 through them it reaches their whole household, and especially their children, the future leaders of China. Miss Coppock tells of one woman who became a Christian through the influence of one of these Bible classes, and since that time has brought twenty-nine members of her family to take the same decision. The social service division has many activities, among them the Time Investment Club, which trains college girls to use their vacation months in social service in their home villages, and the Baby-saving Shows held in the cities, which conduct a great campaign of enlightenment. Last should be mentioned the free schools that the women's social service clubs are starting in many places.

"In nearly all this work there is the opportunity sooner or later to reach the women with the evangelistic message in such a form that they will listen to it gladly. It is true missionary work, as well as social service; and it reaches the influential women who are not so easily reached by denominational missions."

Miss Alfreda Mackprang led the meeting. Miss Margaret Perry sang "Father of Lights," and Miss Margery Cooper sang "Day is Dying." Pledges were taken up amounting in all to $414. The first pledge was made by Miss Ethel Hartley, a Nebraska graduate who is now in China.
