WELCOME, BASKETBALL MEN!

The University extends the hand of welcome to the fifteen hundred basketball players and their many more friends who are attending the Tenth Annual Nebraska High School Tournament. This meet is by far the largest of its kind in the world and we are very proud of it. Last year 121 teams took part in the contest; this spring the number has increased to 189, which necessitated the addition of more classes. The object of the meet is to foster clean sportsmanship, square dealing and friendly rivalry by giving the younger boys from out in the state larger ideas of school athletics. Association with hundreds of other boys and the exhibition of University athletics leads to a broader conception than that of the "home" town and inspires those boys to greater things.

Have we convinced you that we have worthwhile things to offer you? The University of Nebraska offers educational opportunities that can not be equalled or surpassed by any institution in this section of the country. It offers a great variety of different lines of preparation suited to many individual needs. Young men and women are able to find themselves and adjust themselves easily to their particular bent. There is no tuition and there are many openings for the student who wishes to support himself during his college course. The athletic training most students are well informed about and are aware of the enviable record that Nebraska holds in that field.

But above all, the friendships formed at college are the really valuable inducements for that four-years' training. The men and women who are the leaders of a co-educational university will be the state and national leaders of the century. Do you wish to be one of that group?

STUDENTS AND CIGARETS.

One instructor in the College of Law has stated that no student who smokes cigarets will be able to pass his course. A survey of the group at the south door of the law building any morning between classes might cause one to wonder where the instructor is locked during the intermissions.

THE DREAM OF A UNIVERSITY PRESS.

Though a printing department at the University can not become a reality at the latest before the new year, the movement to secure such a department is certainly one which should have the support of every student. The field of journalism is one of the most attractive and interesting open to young men and women and the state should provide ample opportunity for instruction in this branch of work. With the establishment of the printing department, a concerted effort on the part of the large number of students registered for the journalism courses should result in a wide-spread interest in that type of work. We hope that some time in the near future Nebraska will have a real printing press and facilities to handle all University publications, and we feel certain that the University authorities will do all in their power to install this new department.

When some one should handle this
H. C. L. greed
That is making the people dig deep for the kale
That buys food that's rotten and high priced and stale.

A year from today and a new man will sit
In the high chair of honor, may God
grant it fit,
And the people will watch just what actions he'll take On the measures of reforms he's promised to make;
But who shall we choose from this motley of men Where each one thinks he has the key to the den
And the powers to let out or hold in the grim
And the foes of all human-kind rests all with him?
A young fellow high-signs to me and says he,
Now why don't you try for the presidency?
And forthwith he smiles a broad smile
as he states
It's a big open season for good candidates
In-so-much as the guys that are out of a job
And are stripped of their jack as a shelled corn cub,
They casteth their sun bonnets down in the ring
And but few of the flingers deserveth a thing.

There's always somebody who's loud with a kick
That the last President and his work
made him sick;
Who cries for reform 'till he makes the world laugh
And jeers at the boob and the drift of his gaff.
But at that it's a time when a good for 4 p. m. at the Armory and the Saturday game for 4:30 p. m. at the Auditorium. All visiting players are especially urged to be present and see the Cornhuskers defeat the Rocky Mountain champs.

Minnesota Wrestlers Here

Another interesting athletic event scheduled for the entertainment of the tournament visitors is the wrestling meet between Nebraska and Minnesota, scheduled for 2:30 tomorrow afternoon at the Auditorium. This is the first dual meet of the year for the Husker grapplers, but the Scarlet and Cream is represented by an unusually strong team and the Gophers will encounter some pretty tough opposition.

The reputation of Minnesota in wrestling and other athletics is well-known and this is an event that should not be forgotten. Two schools of very high prestige in the west will clash for honors on the mat and an interesting encounter is bound to ensue.
