WELCOME—CORNHUSKER!

The subscription campaign for the 1920 Cornhusker opens today with plenty of enthusiasm and rivalry. The campaign is being carried on by about thirty girls who will invade every corner of the campus the remainder of the week. Here is the very best opportunity for every loyal Nebraskan to come up to the highest standards of patriotism. And best of all, he will get his entire money's worth out of the book.

The Cornhusker is the result of six months hard and conscientious work by a competent staff who are working to make it the best possible book for your pleasure. This annual year-book will be a joy to every student, not only the day or the week that it appears, but years afterward. The main features are to be the student life and athletic sections, and they are to be complete in every detail. Last year, the general plan was a military memorial and as a result, many of the campus interests were curtailed. So this year's book should prove especially popular because of the renewed emphasis on college life in normal times.

In all probability, there will be no danger of your not seeing a solicitor, but in case you should not, do not let that check your subscription. Take your money to the Student Activities office or call the Cornhusker office and tell them that you have been neglected. They will not delay in sending you a subscription blank, and a pretty girl to deliver it for you. The staff feel that they must sell twenty-five hundred copies in order to cover expenses, and it is "up to you" to put over this drive. There will be no later opportunity to order the book, so be sure to bring your money immediately. DON'T COUNT ON READING YOUR ROOM-MATE'S—GET ONE OF YOUR OWN. LET'S PUT THIS ACROSS!

GOOD FOR THE COMMERCIAL CLUB.

We wish to especially commend the Lincoln Commercial Club for their far-sighted and generous action in their land resolutions. The fact that the business and professional men of this city are sufficiently interested in the future welfare of our University shows that Lincoln watches out for her educational interests. To set aside such a large plot of land for the restricted use of buildings pertaining only to University affairs is to prove a great blessing to our school. First, we need have no further worry that the Union Pacific or Rock Island trains will lend their musical noises to our already busy, humming campus, and we will at least have the option on the bells which may ring either for time or service notice. In addition, this plan will tend to bring the necessary business and social organizations actually of value to the students and faculty closer to the campus center. This land option will be an encouraging factor to the people interested in the new dormitory system for it will give them feasible grounds to establish their plans. We hope that the expectations of the committee that Nebraska would soon be three or four times its present size, will inspire the legislature to speedily provide adequate means to warrant such an extensive development.

AS TO MENTAL SUPERIORITY.

It is satisfying to learn that the honor of making the highest number of points in the freshman class was won by a mere man. True, it wasn't necessary to prove the mental superiority of the sex—what man doubts that. It is comforting, however, to know that such a concrete piece of evidence is at hand for use whenever a dispute arises. Even though the masculine debater is sometime forced to admit his own mental limitations, due to absorption in things more important than study—all he need to do is point to the achievements of this fellowman.

In looking back on those generations of ancient times one cannot help but lament an advantage his forefathers had. They were free from any of the modern-day feminine equality harrangues. Blessed were their days and dutiful and humble were their wives. If they wanted a drink their help-mates went to the well and brought it to them. How different it is in this age of Pan-Hellenic and Women's Self-Governing Associations and co-ed basketball tourneys.

Who gets the drink now? And pays for it, too, if it isn't a son of Adam?

And back in the good old days—and this is the reason they were called "good old days"—what damsel would have dared assert that her brain was made from the same stuff her husband's was, or that she had as much right to determine who the next president was to be, as he did?

How restful it must have been in the "cave man" days to tell your sister that Noah was a Frenchman and thereafter hear her call him "Frenchie" without the least suspicion that you were kidding her. And what a relief it must have been to the teachers in medieval times to know that their class rooms would be free from the presence of embryo Emily Pankhursts and sundry other would-be political and economic feminine theorists, who neither enjoy sleeping or eating half so much as a good free-for-all scrap on the justification of the tariff or the menace of the saloon.

But a few more William Strains and men may again establish the "good old days" even at DePauw.—The DePauw Daily.

TO THE "N" CLUB

I wish to express my thanks to all members of the "N" Club and others who assisted in staging the state high school basket ball tournament. The efforts of you men made possible the success of the world's greatest court event under rather adverse playing conditions. Also wish to express thanks to the Southern Rag-a-Jazz band and the University Quartette for their splendid entertainment during the banquets given to visiting players.

Very sincerely,
P. J. SCHISSLER.

THE COLLEGE WORLD

Purdue
A defective flue at the Chi Omega house caused a fire there last week. No damage was done.

Union College
The sophomores have adopted the policy of clipping the hair of all freshmen unable to sing the college song.

Purdue
The interfraternity championship was won by the Beta Theta Pi basketball team when it defeated Sigma Chi by the score of 18 to 11.

Columbia
At a test ballot taken last week, the fact that the campus is in favor of the Honor System being established here, was brought out very plainly. Dartmouth defeated Columbia by a score of 27 to 22 in a basketball game last week. This was the third consecutive defeat which Columbia's team had suffered.

Syracuse
C. L. McIntyre, wrestling instructor on the Hill fractured his shoulder when wrestling on the mat with one of his pupils last week.

Cornell
Dr. Jacob G. Schurman, president of Cornell University for the past twenty-eight years, has handed in his resignation to take effect June 23.

Kansas
The Department of Geology at Kansas University is now the largest in the United States with the exception of the one at Oklahoma University.

Yale Winner Over Dartmouth
HANOVER, N. H., March 6.—Yale defeated Dartmouth in an inter-collegiate league basketball game to-night, 29 to 13.

IOWA WRESTLERS LOSE TO ILLINOIS AT URBANA

URBANA, Ill., March 6.—The University of Illinois wrestlers defeated Iowa here today 21 to 16. The result of the meet was in doubt until the last match which was decided after six minutes overtime.

Francis, of Iowa, secured the only fall, the other matches being decided on decisions. Most of the bouts went overtime so evenly matched were the contestants.
