

NEBRASKA ENGINEERS GET MEMBERSHIP PRIZE

University Chapter Awarded Engraved Gavel in Recognition of Services.

At the meeting of the University chapter of the American Association of Engineers, Wednesday evening Prof. Arthur Gehrig of the Engineering College, on behalf of the national headquarters presented the chapter with an engraved gavel in recognition of the showing made by the local engineers in the national membership drive. The University of Nebraska chapter made a better record than any other university chapter in the country in the campaign for members.

That Nebraska engineers fully deserved the honor is shown by the following letter that Professor Gehrig received from the national headquarters.

Dear Professor Gehrig:
Under separate cover we are sending you today a gavel which was awarded to the University of Nebraska chapter in recognition of their meritorious record during the 1919 membership drive. Referee Isham Randolph awarded the prize, which was not announced before the drive, because the University of Nebraska chapter made a much better record than any other university chapter in the country. He asks you to present this on behalf of the national membership committee.

Sincerely yours,
A. H. KROM,
Assistant Secretary.

Dean Le Rossignol of the College of Business Administration spoke on "Commercial Engineering." He took up the subject of commercial training for the engineers and called attention to the need of closer co-operation between the College of Engineering and the College of Business Administration.

The society went on record as favoring the adoption of the Jones-Reavis Bill now before congress. The bill provides for the creation of a national department of public works and is of vital interest to the engineering profession.

FORDYCE GIVES COURSE IN MENTAL MEASUREMENTS

Mr. J. S. Hoppel, who is doing work in the Teachers' College in the studies of education and intellectual measures, is applying the tests worked out in this course in a survey of the public schools of Firth, Nebraska.

Prof. J. F. Duncan of Cotner University, who is pursuing similar studies in the Teachers' College, is making special study among Uni. students of Cotner.

These tests are a modification of the intellectual tests employed in the recent war. They were used to select officer material, soldiers, and in sifting out recruits of such inferior mentality as would make them a burden and menace to the service. The tests have been modified and adopted, to school purposes and are now being used in the better public schools, and many colleges and universities to replace the former entrance examinations.

Dean Fordyce of the Teachers' College, who is a member of the "National Directors of Educational Research" and who is the director of the "Nebraska Bureau of Educational Measurement," is offering a seminar in intellectual measurements which meets Saturdays from ten until twelve. This seminar is attended by superintendents and teachers from the neighboring towns as well as students on the campus. It is thought that this system will be generally adopted in all schools in the country.

STUDENT OPINION

March 11, 1920.

To the Editor:—It has been my privilege to attend several of the Thursday morning convocations. I have been well pleased. The programs are usually extremely well balanced and the musicians are persons of no mean talent and ability. Superlatively splendid numbers have appeared from time to time all through the winter months. Only today, Beethoven's, Fifth symphony (C Minor) was presented in an excellent manner. While a delegation of five musicians could in no way vie with one of our large symphony orchestras notwithstanding the real lover of music those magic notes satisfied many yearnings as proffered by this quintette.

It is almost heart-rending that an increasingly large number of students do not avail themselves of this hour weekly. They would find help, inspiration and joy. The sundry elements of music conspire to lift one above the sordid things of life. New enthusiasm is given for the toils of the day. May countless others sing the high praises of these Thursday morning convocations. These musical treats are appreciated and may those in charge be so kind as to give us other great symphonies ere the semester closes.
