NEWS OF THE DAY

Boiled Down for Busy Readers

Chicago, April 10.—Unless some relief is had within the next forty-eight hours in regard to the Chicago railroad strike, federal intervention will result. Officials stated that the government had the power to step in, since it was interrupting food shipment.

Nogales, Sonora, April 10.—One of the Mexican states has withdrawn from the republic and offer armed resistance to any invading force. It was said that President Carranza planned to send troops into the state, take over its government and establish a military rule.

Washington, April 10.—The French government admits the recent invasion of Germany was a blunder. The French are not being blamed by her allies. She does not attempt to offer any excuses and no great harm is likely to arise from the hasty action of the French.

FORMER HUSKER TO STUDY UNDER EDWARDS' GUIDANCE

Lane F. Rutherford, ex-'21, will leave for New York City April 20, to enter theatrical work which may lead to a camera career under the guidance of Gus Edwards. He has been employed in the advertising department of the State Journal since July 1, 1919, and was formerly a student at the University. He is a member of Phi Kappa Psi.

Mr. Rutherford has written many songs and lyrics and before coming to Lincoln produced a comic opera and was in charge of a series of entertainments given by the summer colonists near Deadwood, S. D.

The opportunity came to him after an interview with Gus Edwards on the star's recent visit to Lincoln. He will spend the summer in New York studying under Mr. Edwards, and will probably make his first appearance next fall in one of the companies connected with the actor. He left Sunday for Kearney for a short visit with his parents before starting for the East.

STUDENTS TO VOTE ON HONOR SYSTEM

Fate of Revised Student Council Constitution Will Also be Decided May 4.

BOTH IMPORTANT ISSUES

Tuesday, May 4, is the date selected for the special vote on the revised constitution of the Student Council and the proposed Honor Spirit. The entire student body of the University will have the opportunity of using the ballot in deciding these two important issues. The present constitution has been declared impractical by the members of the Council and the various clauses do not meet the growing demands of the school. The proposed amendments will be republished in the columns of the Nebraskan shortly before May 4.

For a number of years University students and faculty members have been discussing the feasibility of the Honor Spirit plan. Through the initiative of the members of the Student Council such a plan has been suggested. It is the sentiment of a majority of students that the Honor Spirit is a good thing. They believe that examinations conducted under the Honor Spirit will be far more successful than those given in the past.

"It is a test of character," said a prominent Senior in speaking of the plan. "Character is the back-bone of success and why not cultivate it while we can—success lies before us—let's have the Honor Spirit."

The Plan

The proposed plan of the Honor Spirit is presented by the Student Council as follows:

The University of Nebraska shall conduct all written examinations under the Honor Spirit plan as follows:

a. Instructors may leave or stay in the room but shall in no way police the students—leaving them absolutely on their honor.

b. At the end of the examination paper each student shall state whether

CHANCELLOR SAYS BIG DEMAND FOR CHEMISTS

The great demand for expert chemists at this time was stressed in the address given by Chancellor Avery before the students of Alpha Chi Sigma, chemical fraternity, at a dinner held at the Grand Hotel Saturday evening. With agriculture rapidly developing in America and many of the newer countries, the demand for agricultural chemists is greater than for chemists of any other kind, he said.

The Chancellor told of plans for a new Chemistry Building to be erected across the street from the present building. It is probable that a tunnel will connect the two buildings, so that students will not have to go out of doors to go from one building to the other, if the plans are carried out.

Mammoth Cootie From Flanders Features Silver Serpent Circus

Amid the roaring of wild animals and the screeching of the callopo, the most daring feats and the most spectacular sights ever encompassed by a tent were witnessed by the Junior and Sophomore girls who attended the circus in the Armory, given by the Silver Serpents Saturday.

The excitement of the crowd was enhanced by one of the few American buffaloes now living, which roamed at large. The knock-down-negro-dolls always had a crowd waiting for a chance to win a sack of peanuts. "See the fat lady," bellowed a spotted clown. And there she was in a tent on the south side of the grounds, beaming proudly at all who came to admire her five hundred pounds, avoirdupois. The nearby side-show was the lady of creamy complexion and lithe and willowy form arrayed in a bathing suit of small dimensions.

In the next side-show was the pestilent white cootie from Flanders, grown to immense size and snapping hungrily at anyone bold enough to approach its cage.

The trained Jersey cow escorted the circus-fans from these side-shows to those on the opposite side of the grounds. A brown bear was running here and there among the people. A rustic dwarf enticed individuals into the tent to have their "fotos" taken. Few passed up the Seven Wonders of the World, all of which, from the lost letter to the tax on tea, were marvels of ingenuity. Not a person who visited the snake charmer's den can deny that his blood turned cold as he watched the handsome lady wind the boa-constrictor about her neck and caress the copper-head which gazed soulfully into her eyes.

No small sensation was created by the rosy-cheeked lady who, walking on great stilts, towered to the sky. All were in the parade which marched to the music of the jazziest jazz band that ever appeared on the campus. So popular was the parade that many of the spectators stopped blowing their squawkers and munching popcorn long enough to applaud loudly.

Then came the acrobats who graciously risked their lives a dozen times while the timid ladies held their breaths and the daring ones applauded. The suspense was at its height when one of the tight-rope walkers actually took a few shimmy steps on the rope.

A public dance concluded the circus, and ere the crowd dispersed the lemonade (?) barrel was almost dry. Gertrude Henderson, Janet Maitland and Rhea Nelson had charge of the affair.

NEWS CLASSES TO HEAR LECTURE ON LIBEL LAW

H. H. Wilson will lecture Tuesday evening at 7:15 in Law 101 at a joint meeting of Professor Fogg's courses in News Writing and Newspaper Editing. His subject will be "The Law of Libel." On this subject, with which he dealt for years as professor of law in the University, Mr. Wilson addressed the journalism students of two and three years ago. The lecture is open to the University public and also to newspaper workers of Lincoln.

GREEN GOBLINS SOCIETY FORMED IN UNIVERSITY BY FRESHMEN STUDENTS

First-Year Men Form New Organization to Further School Activities and Social Life.

Green Goblins, Freshmen men's organization, is the latest society to grace the University of Nebraska campus. The Goblins correspond to the Mystic Fish, the Freshmen girls' organization, and fill a need that has long been felt, for the Freshmen men are the only class in the University not having a representative organization. Plans are being made for an active entrance into school affairs and their first public debut will take place University Night, April 17, when the organization will act as ushers.

The officers for the remainder of this semester are: President, Jack Austin; vice-president, Bernard Girard; secretary, Mike Miles; treasurer, Joe Lyons; and sergeants-at-arms, Arthur Lonan and A. E. Wenke.

"The organization wants to actively participate in school affairs," said one of the members, "for Freshmen entering the University are vitally affected by surroundings and a successful Freshmen year with good friendships made will greatly influence one's entire stay in the University."

The organization intends to support all school activities in a financial way as well as assisting whenever there is need for men to do work of any kind, such as ushering at football games, or helping in subscription campaigns. An ideal of friendship between Freshmen that will be a pleasure and inspiration to them during their entire college career is to be one of the goals sought after.

In addition to school activities the Goblins will be a social organization and already they have had a Saturday noon luncheon at the Commercial Club. They will have another luncheon

FIRST CINDER TRYOUTS HELD

Deering's Work Features Saturday Meet—Track Schedule is Changed Somewhat.

SCHULTE CALLS MEETING

The Husker track candidates showed up well in their first bonafide tryout of the year, Saturday afternoon. None of the time was exceptional but the results were gratifying considering the fact that the track was loose and slow. Coach Schulte and a flock of students worked on it all forenoon rolling it into condition with a steam roller.

Deering's running was the feature of the afternoon. He clipped off the hundred in 10:3 and the 220 in 24:1. Fitch, a yearling, crowded Deering's time in the hundred by stepping it off in 10:4. Mike Finney covered a 60-yard hurdle tryout in 8 seconds, with Wright a close second being only a few inches behind Finney. In a second heat over the same course Wright nosed out ahead in 8 1-55 seconds. Kretzler spilled the stove league dope when he beat Graf to the tape in the mile, his time being 4:51.

The first year men showed up well and threw a few surprises during the afternoon. Both Kretzler and Dorn stepped out in fine form and promise to make the cinders warm in the future.

Chancellor Avery will attend a Missouri Valley Conference meeting at Kansas City, April 17, at which time he will present Nebraska's application for re-admission into the Conference. President A. Ross Hill of the University of Missouri called this meeting for the express purpose of considering the Husker application.

Coach Henry Schulte announces that there will be a meeting of all men, both old and yearlings, interested in track next Wednesday night at 7:30 in the Chapel. All track men are urged to be present if possible.

The track schedule has been

COMMITTEE WORKING ON AMERICANIZATION

Sub-Unit of Lincoln Commercial Club Studying Problems in Lincoln.

The sub-committee of the Lincoln Commercial Club's Americanization Committee—composed of Prof. M. M. Fogg, former state director for the Committee on Public Information and director of the College of Journalism of the A. E. F. University; Rev. Dr. S. Mills Hayes, rector of the Church of the Holy Trinity and Supt. J. H. Newton, of the public schools—which was recently appointed by H. H. Wilson, chairman of the general committee, to consider and recommend lines of Americanization work in Lincoln, is making a detailed study of the problem.

To its assistance the committee is calling the information and judgment of about a hundred citizens—men and women—of the city; and the committee requests that, if any person who may not receive its formal request for advice, has any concrete suggestions as to what should be undertaken and how it should be done, he will communicate them to the chairman, Professor Fogg.

With experts in various parts of the country where Americanization work has been thoroughly studied and has been executed, the committee is also in correspondence.

It is likely that a rather elaborate program will be recommended to begin next fall and continue through the winter and spring. For this program, lectures and articles in the press are being considered. The work, whatever the details of it may be, will naturally be done in co-operation with various existing organizations—political, labor, religious, clubs and with the schools.

FARM BUILDING TO BE OPENED APR. 14

New Agricultural Engineering Structure Will be Dedicated With Elaborate Program.

COST WAS $240,000

Prof. C. R. Richards, dean of the University of Illinois College of Engineering and formerly dean of the University of Nebraska College of Engineering, will give the principal address at the dedication of the new Agricultural Engineering Building on the College of Agriculture campus April 14.

Other speakers on that occasion will be Prof. J. B. Davidson, formerly a member of the University of Nebraska faculty; Prof. L. W. Chase, formerly head of the Department of Agricultural Engineering; Prof. O. W. Sjogren, chairman of the Department of Agricultural Engineering; Prof. O. V. P. Stout, dean of the College of Engineering; Dr. E. A. Burnett, dean of the College of Agriculture; C. E. Chowins, superintendent of buildings and grounds of the University; and J. E. Miller, president of the University Board of Regents.

Following the exercises the building will be opened for public inspection, with all laboratories in operation. An example of official state tractor testing will be staged for the benefit of the visitors.

The building and equipment cost about $240,000. It is said to be one of the finest of its kind in the United States.

The following is the dedicatory program, which will be held at 2:30 p. m.

HRBKOVA WRITES BOOK OF CZECHO-SLOVAK STORIES

Professor Sarka B. Hrbkova, formerly head of the Department of Slavonic Languages and Literature at the University from 1908 to 1919, now of New York, is the author of a new book called "Czecho-Slovak Short Stories," published in the English language. The book is being enthusiastically received throughout the country.

The volume contains thirteen translated stories and a history of Bohemian and Slovak literature. Professor Hrbkova rendered valuable service during the World War as chairman of the Woman's State Committee of Defense for Nebraska. She is also the author of "Bridging the Atlantic" and "Slavs of Central Europe."
