

The Daily Nebraskan

UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA OFFICIAL PUBLICATION

Published every day except Saturday and Sunday during the college year. Subscription, per semester $1.25.

EDITORIAL STAFF

Carolyn Reed.....	Editor
Le Ross Hammond.....	Managing Editor
Sadie Finch.....	Associate Editor
Story Harding.....	News Editor
Leonard Cowley.....	News Editor
Dorothy Barkley.....	Society Editor
Walter White.....	Sports Editor

REPORTORIAL STAFF

Jack Austin	Jessie Watson	Cloyd Clark
Lois Hartman	Leona d Hammang	Carleton Springer
Belle Farman	Lee Yochum	Phyllis Langstaff
Hesper Bell	Dorothy Jones	Gertrude Moran
Eleanor Hinman	Heloise Gauvreaux	Dorothy English
Luther Johnson

BUSINESS STAFF

Roy Wythers.....	Business Manager
Fred Bosking.....	Assistant Business Manager
Jesse Patty.....	Circulation Manager

News Editor
LEONARD COWLEY
For This Issue

THE FUN FEST.

Tomorrow night at the Lincoln High School Auditorium will be held the tenth annual University Night. This is one of Nebraska's favorite traditions and every year the enthusiasm for it exceeds that of previous years. Unfortunately this year the affair has to be given at the High School Auditorium which is not large enough to accommodate all who wish to attend. The available 1200 seats were snatched up in less than an hour and many were turned away disappointed.

The unusual feature of the night is the veil of mystery which hangs about it, for in other years the program has been announced beforehand. This fact only makes the interest more live for to the average college student, the unknown is merely a fascinating puzzle for him to solve. The stunts promise to fulfill all expectations and then, there is the "Shun," that spicy, sarcastic and all-too-true gossip journal. Taken as a whole, this University Night will prove a delight to all who are fortunate enough to be able to attend.

CLEAN-UP WEEK.

Lincoln is in the throes of the annual "Clean-Up Week," and from city hall politics to the street-cleaning department, there is a scurry and a flurry everywhere to clean house. Many of the merchants have made special bargain-sale offers of paint, scrubbing powders, brooms and all the other weapons of the housewives' annual renovating time. School children are being encouraged to keep the school grounds tidy this week and in their feverish enthusiasm, they are even seen picking up stray papers in the street on their way to and from school, and carrying them clear home to destroy rather than risk their escaping on the wind again. The city streets actually are being so thoroughly brushed and scraped that they do not look familiar.

Would it be at all inappropriate for the University to celebrate such a week? The students might refrain from brushing their pencils' penings on the floors, from shaking the ink out of pens on the new cork coverings of Teachers' College and the Social Science building, from throwing scraps of discarded themes about the campus and covering the walks along the front of the campus with half-burnt cigarette stubs. At the same time, they might clean-up all back delinquent theme records, finish incompletes and make up old absences. Perhaps such a week of reform would start a new habit-crease in our brains and help to keep us up to time for the remainder of the semester. Only six more weeks to do all this—would a "clean-up week" help?

WINNING FAVOR.

The administration gained heavily in popularity today. A pep-chapel was held and classes were dismissed.

This morning was an opportune time for the former even though pep-chapels have rather gone out of style during the last four months. Perhaps, it denotes a realization on the part of those in charge of chapel programs that such services may be conducted during a basketball season as handily as during the gridiron schedule. As it was, it caught the student body rather off its guard. No one expected a pep-chapel so soon before the opening of the 1920 football play.

And as to vacations—an administration official who called off classes on three successive mornings would probably receive anything within the gift of the student body, their right to loaf excepted. The time-worn saying that a student is the only person in the world who wants to pay for something he doesn't get, and the less he gets of it the better he likes it, was well illustrated this morning.

Never a cheer is given like the one that rises to the roof of McHarry Hall when some kind-hearted individual orders a halt in the pursuit of knowledge. For students seldom pant for study. They're too much enamored of Patrick Henry's plea of "Give me liberty or death."

That is one reason why W. S. G. A. and kindred rule manufacturing bodies here succeed so poorly. They attempt to legislate goodness into folks. And that isn't the best way to make them good.—DePauw Daily.

PERSONALS

Fred Klepser, '17, of Weeping Water, was a visitor at the Beta house on Monday and Tuesday.

Mike Hanna, of Los Angeles, California, stopped at the Beta house for a short visit while on his way to Detroit, Michigan.

Albin Lindgren, '22, will spend the week-end at his home in Hastings.

Mr. G. H. Stevens has been visiting his son, Wade Stevens, '22, at the Acacia house.

Mrs. W. E. Haley, of Valentine, is visiting her daughter, Martha Haley,

'23, at the Delta Gamma house.

Tim Sullivan, '22, returned from Omaha where he has been visiting for the past few days.

Ruth Howell, of Des Moines, Iowa, is a guest of her aunt, Miss Alice Howell.

Fred Walrath, '21, and Frank Carpenter, '21, of Omaha leave for Omaha today where they will spend the week-end.

Frank Eichbeuger '16, of Norfolk, was a guest at the Sigma Nu house this week.

Leo Yochum, '23, will spend Saturday and Sunday with his parents in Norfolk.

Flora Ernest, of Tecumseh, is visiting her sister, Maud Ernst, '23, at the Delta Delta Delta house.

Clifford Scott, '19, of Omaha, is a guest at the Sigma Phi Epsilon house. Keith Graul, '19, was a guest at the Silver Lynx house yesterday.

Charlotte Humpley, '23, will spend the week-end at her home in Omaha.

Associate Professor Alice Howell leaves today for Broken Bow where she will give an extension lecture this evening.

Dr. F. W. Upson, chairman of the Chemistry Department, and Associate Prof. D. J. Brown, also of the Chemistry Department, are attending a meeting of the American Chemistry Society in St. Louis, Missouri.

---a 'phone will bring our motor

Safeguard Your Furs!

- from theft
- from fire
- from moths

Relieve your mind of the worry of your furs and let us take your responsibility for them upon ourselves. We guarantee insurance against moths, fire or theft while they are in our possession. Do not take risks with your valuable garments.

Our Cold Storage Vaults

—are the largest in this part of the country

Here furs are given complete protection—the best known to science—temperature below freezing

This temperature is absolutely essential to prolong the life, beauty and usefulness of furs. It preserves the natural oils which evaporate in the hot dry air of summer. Cold, also, aids in retaining the flexible softness of the skins. Most women know that furs stored at home, however carefully, come out flat and lifeless in the Fall—if nothing more serious befalls them.

STORAGE CHARGES

The cost is the same for the entire season as for a part of it—place your furs in storage NOW. Charges are based on the declared values.

Dyed furs—2% of value
Natural furs—3% of value

MINIMUM CHARGES

Fur neckpiece, Collars or Muffs.....	$1.00 each
Short Fur Coats.....	2.00 "
Long Fur Coats.....	2.50 "
Cloth Coats.....	1.50 "

A RECEIPT GIVEN IN EVERY INSTANCE

Miller & Paine