OMAHA DAY.

Contrary to the hopes and expectations of the students, there is to be no Omaha Day this year. This has for several years been one of the joyous days to look forward to, and out state people as well as Omahans will be disappointed not to be able to make the trip. The Publicity Bureau of the Omaha Chamber of Commerce, in reply to the Chancellor's question said that while they regretted exceedingly the change in plans, it would be impossible to entertain the Cornhuskers this spring. The Alumni Association has assumed much of the responsibility for the memorial stadium fund and cannot handle both propositions at once.

The purpose of this trip has been to create a closer feeling between Omaha and the University of Nebraska in commercial, social and educational lines. In former years, the museums and private art galleries have been thrown open, many of the business houses have given exhibition excursions through their works, and social entertainment of all kinds has been offered to the student guests. Each visit has helped to establish friendly relations between Omaha business men and the college men who are given a new insight into commercial possibilities of the "Key to the West."

It is certainly to be hoped that next year will bring better luck with these plans and the idea will not be entirely dropped. It has all the earmarks of a Nebraska tradition and should be fostered. We will also now watch with interest the actions of the Omaha alumni with reference to the memorial fund. With all their enthusiasm and capabilities, the fund should soon become a very definite thing.

JOIN THE FARMERS

Tomorrow will be staged the annual Farmers' Fair, a typical county fair of the liveliest kind—in fact, some say it will rival even the state fair. All day the frolic will be on with side-shows, exhibits and demonstrations, dancing, stunts, plenty of "eats" and best of all, the parade. This will be half a mile long and will go all over town with floats and costumed representatives.

Truly the Farm campus will be turned into a veritable circus grounds and real fun is promised. The bolder ones will appear in "back-to-the-farm" costumes, a good blow at the H. C. of L. Perhaps enthusiasm may be great enough to form an overall club, with the sun-bonnet and gingham brigade to help along. If you are a "city chap or damozel," then do not fail to attend the Fair, for it will fulfill all your fairest dreams of country life. Nebraska is fortunate in having the Agriculture College and the University proper in the same place, for the co-operation and good spirit between the two schools does much to make Nebraska a united and influential University. The interest and backing of students from the two campuses for each other's activities is a necessary feature in this hearty co-operation.

SPRING ATHLETICS.

All types of spring athletics are now being worked by the coaches. At all hours of the day, the athletic field is in use for track, baseball and spring football. With such enthusiasm and the real material at hand, prospects are excellent for the predicted "red-letter" season. Yesterday the track team left for Des Moines for the Drake relays, the following week-end to Philadelphia for the Pennsylvania meet. Several dual meets have been scheduled with the Haskell Indians, Minnesota and other schools.

The co-eds also are preparing for the annual spring track meet with relays, baseball, shot-put, pole-vault, long and short distance runs and the swimming races. It is rumored that unofficially, the girls' pole-vault record was broken last week and many other events are showing up remarkably well.

It now remains for the students to be ready to support these events when they actually come off. The spring sports record is as important for school spirit and standing as football or basketball, so remember your part and be there with the enthusiasm and real Nebraska "pep."

THE DAILY DITTY

by
Gayle Vincent Grubb

The lounge hounds and the movie fiends
Are growing worse and worse;
They've got a vaster following than
The following of a hearse.

The world is pleasure crazy and
The limit's out of sight.
And yet I want to elocute
Just why it isn't right.

Some guys are here for outings and
Some others come for fun;
They love the old school fondly, like
To see its rep well done.

But even so, when asked to try
The cinder path to see
If maybe they've got hidden stuff
They never guessed to be—

They say no word but roam the streets
And seek the flicker-jit,
While feeling that their aid would help

No cinder team a bit.
That's it, when prospects never loomed
As strong as now they are.

The guys who've maybe got more stuff
Than any old time star—

Continues on his fun career
And gives it scarce a care,
While any guy who's got some stuff
Ain't treatin' Schulte square.

DEBAUFRE TO SPEAK
