MEMORIAL DRIVE PLANS FINISHED

 south, directly at the head of Twelfth street at U street. It will be T-shaped, as shown by a recent cut in the Nebraskan, and will be joined on the west by the new stadium and athletic field. The stadium will accommodate from 20,000 to 25,000 persons. The memorial hall itself will contain a large chamber whose walls will bear the names of those who died in the war, listed by counties, and carved in the stone of the building. In the same part of the building the American Legion will be housed. Architects are busy completing plans and minor details.

In the north wing a convention hall and gymnasium capable of seating 10,000 people, the largest audience room in the state, with adjoining kitchens capable of feeding 5,000 people at a time, will be a feature. Swimming pools, the size of the present gymnasium floor and athletic equipment will be at the disposal of Nebraska's young men. Director Luehring said, "The building will be of value and interest to young people throughout the state and will serve to improve the health and add to the enjoyment of almost every youth in Nebraska in years to come."

The Lincoln committee will be represented by prominent members of such organizations as the Rotary Club, Kiwanis and Knife and Fork Club, all of which have heartily endorsed the campaign. Thirty counties in the state have already organized and are ready to go "over the top" with their quota. A general committee of 500 prominent Nebraska men has been appointed to take charge of the drive in each city and county. Each person in the state will be asked to contribute something, the committee stated Saturday.

 be incomparable," he added. Mr. Reed closed his talk with a description of the gymnasium and stadium. Among other things the new buildings will contain a mammoth kitchen, swimming pool, indoor track, banquet hall, convention rooms, and well-equipped athletic offices.

Professor Howell Makes Touching Speech

The Chancellor called on Professor Alice Howell of the Department of Elocution and Dramatic Art, and she told in a sympathetic manner, the life of the soldiers in the trenches as she observed it when on service in the canteens overseas. "Does this not spur you on to give toward a fund which commemorates those who went through these hardships and yet did not return?" she asked in conclusion. The committees from the entire University passed cards out to those in the audience and they were signed and returned to the chairmen who stood on the platform to receive them. A large amount was subscribed at the meeting and the fund has been swelled considerably since Thursday. Omaha's quota was set at $150,000 but when she learned that Lincoln had pledged $200,000 she immediately told the committee to "put her down for that amount, too." The quota at the University is $75,000.

Students have two years in which to pay their pledges, and four plans of payment are marked, for the convenience of the student, on the back of the pledge cards.

Dr. Condra took motion pictures of the cheering crowd as it left Memorial Hall. The drive will be pushed to completion, and it is not only hoped, but it is almost assured, that the University will "go over the top" by May 26 when the drive comes to a close.

In the evening at seven in front of the Armory a motley crowd of pajama-clad, B. V. D. upholstered and shirt-tailed cadets ruled the line of march of the annual shirt-tail parade until a late hour. All theaters were visited, and many of the down-town candy emporiums had "hand-outs" ready for the merry-makers. Company A and Battery A lead the serpentine procession as it toured the principle streets and made them echo with loud cheers and proclamations. Nearly five hundred cadets took part in the parade, and helped to make it outshine those of other years.
