WEDDINGS.

The Honolulu Star Bulletin contains an elaborate account of the wedding of Mary Taylor Hungate, a University of Nebraska graduate, and Lieut. Floyd Wesley Bennett, which took place September 4 at Fort Shafter. Miss Hungate, who lived in Albia, Ia., was graduated from the University of Nebraska in 1915 and was a member of Gamma Phi Beta. The account from the Honolulu paper follows:

"One of the prettiest wedding ceremonies ever performed at Fort Shafter, took place at one o'clock yesterday afternoon in the nurses' quarters of the Tripler general hospital, when Miss Mary Taylor Hungate, dietitian of the medical department, U. S. A., and First Lieutenant Floyd Wesley Bennett, U. S. marine corps, were married. Official witnesses to the wedding were Miss Helen C. W. Hartman and Commander Philip Emrich of Pearl Harbor naval station. The Episcopal ring service was performed by Rev. J. Knox Bodel of Schofield barracks, Mendelssohn's wedding march being played by Mrs. William Harding. The bride's only attendant was little Miriam Emrich, daughter of Commander and Mrs. Philip Emrich, who carried the wedding ring in the center of an old-fashioned nosegay of pink and white flowers. The color scheme of pink and white was sustained throughout—pink carnations and African daisies in the living room. A basket of sweet peas and Cecil Brunner roses formed the centerpiece in the dining room. There were pink candles in crystal holders and a profusion of palms and ferns. The bride was dressed in pussy willow taffeta, embroidered in silver. She wore a white angora and panne velvet toque to match, with a corsage of Cecil Brunner roses and orchids. The gift of the groom to his bride consisted of a solitaire pearl ring set in platinum with diamonds. The bride is a daughter of Dr. and Mrs. James B. Hungate, of Albia, Ia. She received her training as a dietitian at the state universities of Nebraska and Kansas, being graduated from the former with the degree of bachelor of arts in 1915. Entering the army service in the early part of the war with Germany, she served as head dietitian at the American base hospital No. 51 in France for one year. Upon returning from Europe to the states she was sent to the Walter Reed general hospital in Washington, D. C., as head dietitian, being transferred from the national capital to the Hawaiian department in January of this year. Lieutenant Bennett received his preliminary training for the United States marine corps at the naval academy in Annapolis, Me., and served as captain in the Fifth regiment of the second division American expeditary forces and is now stationed at Pearl Harbor, this island. Following the wedding a two-course buffet luncheon was served by Miss Charly Laubender, Miss Gertrude Berry, Miss Ella Lawrence, Miss Genevieve Bergeson, Miss Caroline Meyers and Miss Mary J. Gordon of the army nurse corps. The guests were officers and their wives of the medical department, marine corps and navy. They were received by Miss H. Ruth Reed and Miss Bertine Stack. As the guests entered the dining room they were presented with pink and white leis by Miss Sylvia Montgomery. The gift room was in charge of Miss Bernice Hartz. A Hawaiian stringed orchestra furnished the music after the wedding ceremony. Yesterday was the thirtieth anniversary of the wedding of the parents of the bride, which fact made the ceremony all the more noteworthy and pleasing. Lieut. and Mrs. Bennett left by the Mauna Kea at three o'clock yesterday afternoon for Hilo and volcano of Kilauea, where they will spend their honeymoon. On their return to the city they will make their home at 1820 Anapuni street."

What will they wear this fall?

SIMPLICITY is the correct thing in men's clothes; plain two and three button single and double-breasted models

The style's in the lines; the drape; in the slightly longer coats; the lower coat opening; the shorter vents; the slightly lower waist lines—

You'll see the style in our clothes when you put them on; you'll be satisfied; if not—money back
