

RALLY FOR WASHBURN GAME---ARMORY---7 O'CLOCK TONIGHT

THE DAILY NEBRASKAN

VOL. XX. NO. 13.

LINCOLN, NEBRASKA, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 1, 1920.

PRICE FIVE CENTS.

STAGE INITIAL RALLY TONIGHT

ARMORY TO BE SCENE OF GREAT COLLEGE GATHERING.

SELECT YELL LEADERS

LID WILL BE BLOWN OFF PEP JAR AT STUDENT YELL-FEST.

First Rally of the Year on Eve of Washburn Game Slated to Draw Crowd of Howling Huskers.

Tonight at 7 o'clock marks the initial football rally of the year. If the enthusiasm shown on the campus Thursday is a true indication of the pep to be injected into the student body tonight by cheer leaders, the Washburn Ichabods will get a severe drubbing at the hands of Schulte's fighting eleven Saturday. The purpose of the rally is two-fold, according to those who are planning the yell-fest: (1) to teach Nebraska Freshmen what true spirit means by the use of Cornhusker cheers and songs, and (2) to sound the death knell for the Topeka team October 2.

The rally will begin at 7 o'clock instead of at 7:15 as was reported Wednesday. It will close promptly at 8 o'clock so that it will not interfere with the various fraternity and subscription parties that have been scheduled for tonight.

Cheer Leaders Chosen Tonight.
New yell-men will be voted on during the evening and selected before the first game, enabling them to make their first public appearance at that time.

The team which Coach Schulte will pick to meet the Topekans Saturday will occupy a place on the stage and will aid in the noise-making. Captain "Bill" Day, Coach Schulte, and Director Luehring will speak. The R. O. T. C. Cadet Band will play University songs and will lead in the giving of the new Indian chant which was adopted last year.

It is urged that students fill the Armory as early as possible so that a larger number of persons can be accommodated. At former rallies it has been necessary for many students to partake of standing room near the exits.

Although the game with Washburn Saturday will not be the biggest clash of the schedule the reported strength of the Kansas aggregation has made Husker fans sit up and take notice.

It is thought that this year's Freshmen will be able to give Nebraska yells and songs with as much enthusiasm and confidence as upperclassmen because of their training at the convocations for first-year students Tuesday.

Those students who have not yet heard the University Band on parade practice will have an opportunity to hear it tonight. "The music itself will make every Nebraska a true rooter for the school and its team," said a member of the Innocents Society yesterday.

NEBRASKAN SUBSCRIBERS OVER THIRTEEN HUNDRED

The number of subscribers to the Daily Nebraskan Thursday afternoon had reached 1,338 with a possibility of more coming in. The number may reach 1,500 before the drive ends. Last year's mark of about 1,100 had been easily surpassed.

Changeable Weather Man Takes Barb-wire Powder Puff Hands Down

Honest, the weather we had last week won the barb-wire powder puff. It made you feel like you'd be tipped over most any minute by some particularly gusty gust.

You would be bumping peacefully down "O" street in your little Ford and before you knew it a strong blast had taken the top clear off the car, and you drove home with the fragments trailing behind you.

You opened your mouth to make a remark or take a bite (if eating) and before you could close it again, it was full of a goodly portion of Mother Earth. Needless to say, your thoughts at that moment would never have passed censorship and you hated to risk your seat in Heaven—so kept silent.

And after the wind came the rain

LAWS TO HOLD ANNUAL PEP GET-TOGETHER TODAY.

The members of the Law College will hold their annual "pep" and "get-together" meeting this morning at 10:50. All 10 o'clock classes will be dismissed at 10:25 a. m. in order that every one may be present. The meeting promises to be one of the snappiest held this year. All Freshmen are especially urged to attend this meeting so that they may get some idea of the work that is to be carried on.

At this time the new yells and songs will be tried out and the winner of the best yell will receive his prize. The music will be under the direction of the Law Quartet. There is a great deal of competition manifested among the Laws as to who will win the five dollars for the best yell submitted so this alone should be one incentive for attending this meeting.

PLACES EMPHASIS ON NEED FOR WORK

CHEMISTRY CHALLENGE TO BEST OF MEN.

University Professor Declares Chemists Should Be Driven as Athletes.

That students, particularly of industrial chemistry, should be driven as hard as athletes are driven by the coach who wants them to make good, is the theory advanced by Prof. H. G. Deming of the Chemistry Department of the Arts College.

"A coach works his men to the limit of their endurance—and they like it," says Professor Deming. "There are hundreds of openings in commercial firms for industrial chemists just out of college, but these concerns want hard workers and hard thinkers. They want men of tough mental fiber which shows the results of vigorous exercise. They have no more use for the intellectual mollycoddle than a football coach has for a man with flabby and undeveloped muscles."

Spend Summer at Work.

Professor Deming spends his summers working on practical problems in industrial chemistry for various commercial concerns, and says that there is a big field for the trained chemist in many branches of modern industry, and that graduate chemists of real ability are in constant demand in these laboratories.

"University students must be made to realize that hard mental training and constant conscientious exercise in the studies of the class room and the laboratory fit a man to play a winning game in modern industry just as certainly as hard training makes him a winner on the athletic field."

Ham Sandwiches at Premium When City Gas Plant Explodes

The explosion at the gas plant Thursday in which five persons were severely injured affected fraternity members at the University to such an extent that cold ham sandwiches, pie a la mode, and cheese became popular dishes.

Many of the fraternity and sorority houses depend almost entirely upon gas to cook their meals. Yesterday shortly after the explosion all the available supply was turned off, and hungry students were sent in flocks to delicatessen stores for their meals. But the worst part of it all was the effect on these students' pocketbooks, for home-styled and cold roast beef sandwiches come high. But the fraternity cooks were glad and they enjoyed a noon-hour of luxury at the "movies."

To cap the climax, many of the Lincoln restaurants depend on gas entirely and when students ordered "something hot" they were greeted with an "I don't get you" air on the part of Mr. Waiter. Cold sandwiches, pie and radishes were the result.

"I paid seventy-five cents for a miserable dinner," said a Sophomore yesterday. "It was cold, you know, and I was counting on something hot to eat. Instead I dined on lettuce salad, peanut butter and cold liver."

But gas plants don't explode every day and besides now is the time to sell your silver and buy a coal range for the kitchen.

And after all, all this has been gas about gas—maybe we exploded too!

JUDGING TEAM NATIONAL MEET

UNIVERSITY GROUP TO MEET MIDDLE WESTERN SCHOOLS.

Six Men Picked to Represent Nebraska in Contest to Be Held Monday at Des Moines.

The judging team, that will represent Nebraska University at the National Swine Exhibit at Des Moines next Monday, is made up of the following:

C. E. Atkinson, Royal Schoen, LeRoy Ingham, K. A. Clark, A. K. Hepperly, W. V. Lambert.

The team will leave at 1:50 this afternoon for Ames, where they will spend Saturday visiting the Iowa Agricultural College and several large stock farms. They will also receive some coaching while making the tour from Professor Gramlich, who will accompany the team.

Eleven candidates for the team visited the Gage county fair yesterday and tryouts were held under the supervision of Professors Gramlich and Savin. Several candidates visited the Seward county fair a few days ago, judging the swine exhibit as a bit of practice. Professor Gramlich has been coaching a number of men for the team and had much good material from which to pick a team.

Teams from Iowa, Missouri, South Dakota and Kansas will compete with Nebraska at Des Moines for honors. This is the first contest that these schools will enter since the beginning of the new school year and a great deal of attention will be devoted to the outcome of the contest.

The team that goes to Des Moines today will not necessarily be the one that will represent Nebraska at the International Stock Show at Chicago and the Western Stock Show at Denver, next winter. Separate tryouts will be held for the teams that will represent Nebraska at those contests. The present team has been picked to judge swine only. No cattle will be judged at Monday's contest.

In keeping with the true Nebraska spirit, a crowd of Cornhuskers will give the team a warm send-off when they leave Lincoln this afternoon.

This contest will give the Nebraska "Ags" a chance to compete with the leading schools of the Middle West.

CROTHERS SPEAKS AT CONVOCATION

WELL-KNOWN WRITER TALKS TO UNIVERSITY AUDIENCE.

Popular Lecturer Tells Students

About Natural Enemies and How to Make Best of Them.

Samuel McCord Crothers, well known writer and lecturer, spoke on "Natural Enemies,—and how to make the best of them" at convocation Thursday.

"Everybody must have some philosophy of peace," he said. Then he described the way in which many idealists had the fundamental principles of their lives broken down by the part they had to take in the world war. "We start too high," he declared, "and are disappointed at the actual world."

The idea that we are all natural enemies is the correct theory of life, according to Mr. Crothers. This philosophy requires that we adjust ourselves to live peacefully among others. It prevents disappointment at the conduct of others and makes friendly acts delightful surprises.

Economic Theories Failed.

Mr. Crothers applied his theory to the economic struggle of today, to primitive life, to our educational system and many other relationships of every-day life. He said that economic theories have failed because they are based on the belief that the capitalist and the laborer, the buyer and the seller are natural friends. His theory is that they must recognize the differences in their interests and try to adjust them. He also criticized the theory of examination saying, "We are beginning to see that these two classes, the buyer and the seller, cannot exterminate one another."

In illustrating the enmity of business men and professors he related a personal experience. He had finished delivering a lecture when a man arose to ask the "professor" some catch-question. When the man learned that Mr. Crothers was not a professor he was at once friendly and dropped the question.

A good sized crowd attended the convocation which was the first of the year. Other convocations will be announced later.

HUSKERS READY FOR CLASH WITH WASHBURN ICHABOD

NEBRASKA WILL OPEN 1920 SCHEDULE SATURDAY WHEN VARSITY MEETS KANSAS ELEVEN IN OPENER.

Dwight Ream, Washburn Coach, Bringing Two Elevens for Use in Battle With Cornhuskers—Visitors to Arrive Today—Are Confident and Full of Enthusiasm Over Outlook of Game.

PROBABLE LINEUP TOMORROW.

Nebraska	Pos.	Washburn
Swanson	L. E.	Ellis
Pucelik	L. T.	Blevins
M. Munn	L. G.	Anderson
Day (C)	C.	Wingett
W. Munn	R. G.	Barstow
Weller	R. T.	Cosman
Dana	R. E.	Rogers
Newman	Q. B.	Stevens (C)
Dale	L. H. B.	Kennedy
Wright	R. H. B.	Dean
Hubka	F. B.	Wykoff

The first chapter in Nebraska's 1920 gridiron history will be written tomorrow. The Cornhuskers clash with the Washburn Ichabods in the initial game of the season. The 1920 campaign begins in earnest. The game tomorrow, while probably not so important in itself, will have great bearing on the performance of the Huskers in the big games to follow. Schulte's warriors will have their first real taste of battle against Washburn and no prophecy can be made as to the success of the season until the team is seen in action against a strong foe.

The Ichabods are due to arrive in Lincoln sometime today and it is reported that Coach Dwight Ream is bringing with him two elevens, either one of which he believes is capable of taking the measure of any team Schulte can scrape together. Whether or not this can be accomplished remains to be seen, but there is no doubt that the Huskers will be pitted against a real football team and will by no means have a walk away, as seems to be the opinion of some. Betting in the Husker camp is rather quiet. Numerous odds are being offered on the Cornhuskers and even money on Nebraska has found plenty of callers.

The Nebraska lineup given above is subject to change "without notice." Coach Schulte has given out no definite lineup but the one submitted here is a likely selection. Moore may be used at one of the end positions, or in the backfield. Howarth or Hartley, too, may start the game in a backfield position. Nelson, Schoepel, Young or Scherer may be in the starting lineup. It is quite probable that Schulte will use a good many men throughout the game. He wants to make use of as many as possible, giving every man a chance to make a letter this year.

The final workout preparatory to the Washburn fray was held yesterday. The squad is in excellent shape and is more than ready to tackle the Topeka crew. Schulte prescribes no hard work today, preferring to let his men take it easy and be in top condition tomorrow.

The officials for the game tomorrow will be: C. E. McBride, Kansas City Athletic club, referee; Dr. J. A. Reilly, also of Kansas City Athletic club, umpire; Earl Johnson, Lincoln, head linesman.

Washburn Full of Pep.
TOPEKA, Kas., Sept. 30.—Washburn Varsity men again showed their prowess yesterday when they repeatedly turned back the attacks of the second team, and also succeeded in scoring touchdowns at random. Coach Ream has developed his line into 1,200 pounds of the "fightingest" bunch of men that was ever put together.

In the scrimmage Wednesday, the Varsity had little trouble in circling the ends of the scrubs, and in making numerous gains through the line. The Blue backs are developing into one of the fastest combinations that has been on a Washburn gridiron for many years.

The Dramatic Club is one of the oldest organizations in the University. Its purpose is to keep up interest in dramatic art and cultivate ability in acting and in the direction and production of plays. The custom of the club has been to give two public productions a year.

Political Interest Centers Around Class Presidential Elections Slate

With only a few hours remaining their respective classes.

The election, on Tuesday, will be conducted in the customary manner. Each person registered as a regular student will have an opportunity to vote. The other class officers will be filled by elections at class meetings. These meetings are to be held after the president has been elected. It is not necessary to file an application to be eligible to any of the offices other than president.

So far, the Freshman contest seems to have the most entries. Several of the first-year students aspire to the position and at least two have reported that their names have been filed.
