DINSMORE AND LONAM TIE FOR PRIZE IN TICKET DRIVE

ANNOUNCEMENT OF DISPOSAL OF TRIP TO NEW YORK AND STATE COLLEGE WILL BE MADE IN A FEW DAYS.

Peterson and Bieser Win Third and Fourth Places Respectively—Approximately 2,500 Tickets Are Disposed of, Beating All Previous Ticket Selling Records.

Eugene Dinsmore, Sigma Nu, and Arthur Lonam, Beta Theta Pi, tied for first place in the most closely contested ticket campaign ever staged at the University of Nebraska. Each man sold three hundred tickets. This is an unusually large amount for one man to sell. Carl Peterson, Alpha Tau Omega, were third and fourth respectively in the number of tickets sold. There has been no definite decision made concerning the prize that was offered. There will be an announcement in a few days as to what decision has been made regarding the trip to New York.

2,500 Tickets Sold.
The total sale of all tickets is in the neighborhood of 2,500 and the committee in charge reports that more are being sold each day. This number surpassed that of last year by a big margin.

Keen rivalry existed between the different participants throughout the campaign. There were about forty organizations represented in the list of contestants. Many of these organizations claim that more tickets would have been disposed of by them if it had not been for the ability of the individual sellers to talk their Freshmen into buying from them.

Everyone connected with the sale of the tickets is very much pleased with the response the students made to the demand. If the ticket sellers are supported for the other athletic sports like they have been in the football campaign, those at the Student Activities office report that they will need more help.

ALUMNUS WRITES OF PHILIPPINE ISLANDS

Spends Time in Japan on Way to U. S. Possession for Several Days.

Earl Starboard, an alumnus of the University, wrote a letter from the Philippine Islands to Miss Alice Howell, instructor in the Dramatic Department which is quoted in part as follows:

"Cuyo, Palawan, P. I.,
June 25, 1920.

"My Dear Miss Howell:
"Here I am, away over on the other side of the world, marooned on a small island in the Sulu Sea. If I had been told a year ago where I was to be today I certainly would have thought someone was a candidate for Hastings. But I'm here and shall remain in this place for the next nine months at least. It is really a very beautiful little place covered with rice fields and thatched houses and coconut groves. The town of Cuyo, while a real native Filipino town, is quite nice, wide, well-kept streets and good substantial houses, of course very different from the average American town.

"I enjoy my work very much. At present I am the only American here or within a hundred miles of here. It's lonesome of course, but I have much to occupy my time. I am principal of the Provincial school, having twelve teachers (all natives) and about 500 pupils from the fifth grade through the second year high school. They are very interesting youngsters to work with, very quick to learn and very keen. One thing, they have a great and intense interest in anything dramatic and delight in attempting to make big orations, often quite funny due to their queer pronunciation and grammatical constructions. I certainly find wonderful opportunities for phonics instruction. Tell Miss Pound I never have really valued her work in phonics until now. But where work is almost a daily occurrence one certainly can find a use for anything one has learned in that respect.

Stops in Japan.

"My trip over was very interesting. I spent several days in Japan and had one experience which I think you might be interested in hearing about. It was in Kobe. A number of us younger folks decided to have a rather interesting time in the evening so we instructed our Rickshaw men to take us to a real Japanese theater, not a movie. After a rather circuitous journey through varied winding, dark

"The Olympics fires have been kindled on the campus—not by any outward feeling of enmity on the part of the contestants, but through the burst of spirit which has been manifested by members of the two under-classes," was the opening sentence of one of the first news items on the class fight in the Daily Nebraskan of 1919. The same feeling is present on the campus in 1920, and this feeling made its debut Tuesday afternoon.

Already the Innocents Society is at work planning the details of the annual "scrap." George Maguire, who has charge of the Olympics for that organization, reports that he has sent

FROSH TEAM BEATS WESLEYAN RESERVES

Game Ends With 89 to 0 Victory for First-Year Squad After Track Meet.

DEWITZ FRESHMEN STAR

The University Freshmen football team walloped the Wesleyan Reserves Tuesday afternoon in a game played on the Wesleyan gridiron. The contest resembled a track meet and when all the races had been counted the score was 89 for the Freshmen and a goose-egg for the Wesleyan second stringers.

Following the first quarter which ended Freshmen, 7; Wesleyan, 0; the Husker Yearlings had everything their own way. The fast backfield of the Green and White found little opposition in the Wesleyan line and every drive netted a long gain.

Dewitz Stars.

Dewitz, Freshman fullback, was the main pointmaker of the afternoon. The big fellow speeded around the ends or smashed the line on smashes which netted five touchdowns. Reed and Woodard followed with two touchdowns each. Dewitz booted seven goals out of eight tries and Reed kicked four out of five chances.

Other youngsters to cross the Methodist goal line were Lamb, Norris, Morgan and Klempke.

The first quarter had the ear marks of a good struggle. The Freshmen kicked off and held the Methodists dead in their tracks. Upon obtaining the oval the Yearlings rushed it down the field only to lose it on a fumble. Dewitz soon crossed the goal line for the only counter of the quarter.

Schissler ran in a brand new team the second quarter. The new combination gathered in two more touchdowns before the curtain was pulled down on the first half.

The Yearlings hit 'em hard in the third and fourth frames and when the smoke had cleared away had the long end of a 59-0 score.

The teams as they lined up at the

FRESHMAN FIGHT CLOSEST IN YESTERDAY'S BALLOTING

ALYNE O'LAUGHLIN TO LEAD SENIORS—ISABEL PEARSALL WINS MOST IMPORTANT BATTLE OF ELECTION.

Eugene P. Philbrick Polls Nearly Two-Thirds of Sophomore Vote—Robert E. Craig Wins Spirited Contest for Leadership of the Freshmen Class by a Slight Plurality.

One of the closest and most exciting class elections witnessed on the campus for several years ended at 5 o'clock last night with the following results:

Freshman president—Robert E. Craig.

Co-eds were elected to lead the two upper classes during the first semester. The Freshman contest which came with the closest results was closely followed by the Junior "scrap," which was considered the hottest of all.

The official vote, as announced by the Registrar, was:
Senior president—Alyne O'Laughlin, 38.

Junior president—Mildred Gollehan, 65; Ben T. Lake, 134; Isabel Pearsall, 148. Plurality, 14.

Freshman president—Robert E. Craig, 248; Floyd A. Cropper, 21; Edgar Shoemaker, 237. Total, 506; plurality, 11.

All day long while the polls were open in Social Science 108, a crowd of electioneers crowded the corridors. Students all over the campus were asked to vote and were escorted to the polls by faithful followers of the candidates.

The result of the Junior and Freshman contests was in doubt by until the count of votes was announced. Members of all classes took sides in

It will contain the names, addresses, phone numbers and office of every professor in school. There will also be a complete record of all the students registered, whether special or regular, their college, address and phone number. There will be a list of every organization with their officers. Sororities and fraternities will be listed with their active members and pledges.

If students have moved they should see that their correct address is left at the Registrar's office at once.

The University Y. M. C. A. has charge of this publication.

FRESHMEN RECEIVE INTELLIGENCE TEST

Similar Test to Be Given in Four Years and Progress Noted.

Every Freshman at Nebraska University will be required to submit to the Thorndyke Intelligence Tests today. This applies to students in all colleges. The tests will begin at 8 o'clock a. m., and first-year students will be excused from classes from that time until noon. Likewise students needed as monitors will be excused from classes and all classes scheduled in the rooms where the tests will take place, will be dismissed or moved at the option of the instructor.

These famous examinations are given University Freshmen at the request of the deans of the various colleges. When these same Freshmen are Seniors they will be given other tests to determine how much their minds have developed in four years. The staff of professors in the Department of Psychology will have charge of the tests, which will be under the direct supervision of Dr. Winifred Hyde.

Many of the more important educational institutions in this country use these tests. Columbia is the pioneer in this field. They are very similar to the examinations in psychology given in the U. S. army.

The complete equipment for the Thorndyke tests weighs five hundred pounds, and is set up in the new psychological rooms in Social Science Hall.

UNIVERSITY PLAYERS GIVE FIRST PROGRAM

Three One-Act Plays Are Well Presented in Temple Theater Tuesday Afternoon.

The University Players presented three one-act plays Tuesday afternoon in the Temple Theater, as their first public offerings this year. Judging from the showing the players made, exceptional work can be expected of them for the entire year.

"Girl to Order," the first play presented, dealt with three college boys, one of whom had spent a large sum of money, which he had to account for in order to be allowed to remain in school. They decide to lay it on to expenditures for his "dearest girl." The scheme works all right until the irritated father appears and asks to see the girl. A girl has to be made to order, and one of the boys takes the part. However, the real girl appears and every thing ends all right with the father's forgiveness. Ruth Rystrom, Clara Dickerson, Mary McCoy, Rhoda Hendrickson, Mary Johnson and Nellie Freer composed the cast.

The trials of a Frenchman in an English speaking hotel, were humorously shown in the next offering, "French Without a Master." An Englishman and his French fiancée arrive at the hotel and register under false names, in order to escape being caught by the young lady's uncle. The interpreter, having taken the job merely for the six shillings a week, muddles affairs greatly by his apparent knowledge of French. The uncle comes, and affairs become more complicated when a policeman comes to arrest the crowd for stealing, because of a thrilling story the interpreter has manufactured. However, everything is all right when a real interpreter is found and circumstances are explained. Miss Marjorie Hawes, in the role of the young Mlle. Seraphine Chanoine-Malherbe, made a charming little French person, and Harry Blomstrand as her French uncle was able to parlay Francois to perfection. Oscar Bennett as the interpreter furnished humor in great amounts. The remainder of the cast was:

Gerald Forsythe.....Wallace Waite
A police officer.....Marianne Gould
A hotel porter.....Alvin Sandstedt
The cashier.....Mabel Gibson
"Indian Summer" was the last play. It was the story of the clever scheme of a young married couple to gain the consent to their marriage of the young man's uncle. The cast follows:

Adrienne.....Lillian Votau
Briqueville.....Grace Staton
Noel.....Miss Whitfield
Madame Libreton.....Bessie Gift
