

INTELLIGENCE TEST GIVEN

FOUR-HOUR EXAMINATION GIVEN ALL FRESHMEN. Psychology Department Handled Details—Dr. Winifred Hyde Directed All Groups.

LITTLE "CRIBBING" DONE

The Thorndyke intelligence tests were given to all entering Freshmen of the University yesterday morning from 8 to 12 o'clock under the leadership of Dr. Winifred Hyde.

At first a preliminary drill was given to give them some idea of how the tests should be taken.

Set four, and tests three and seven were not required of the co-eds as they included only questions concerning mechanics and very technical matters.

The answers promise to be of much interest to the Psychology Department. Many questions had five or six answers after them, the correct answer of which was to be chosen.

Some of the questions involved numbers, others were pictorial in nature, and some of the more technical questions that "stumped" the co-eds were, "What kind of a carburetor is used in a motorcycle?"

Freshmen showed great interest in the tests. Mathematical tests were especially interesting, according to first-year students.

Dr. Hyde reports that there was very little "cribbing" during the examinations. Dean C. C. Engberg received letters from two Freshmen informing him that they "had to be out of the city Wednesday but would submit to the tests some other time."

Found--One Changeable Silk Petticoat In "Rag" Office

"FOUND—one changeable silk petticoat on the ceiling pipes in the "Rag" office Wednesday morning. Owner may have same by calling at above office and claiming property."

This sounds like the beginning of a Wint Ad column in the daily papers but it is really a chapter of life from the editorial rooms of the Daily Nebraskan.

This mysterious piece of wearing material was found gently floating in the breeze on one of the braces that keeps the second floor of old U Hall from merging with the first story of the building. It had no owner, but it was proud.

Last night at a late hour the petticoat had disappeared. Whether its owner had made her appearance and claimed the article or whether some masculine member of the reporting force took it home to his sister, is not definitely known. All that is certain now is that the petticoat is gone and a LOST ad will now have to be written for its return.

Certainly it was such a beautiful garment that no co-ed would pass it up—especially when it was showing off in gala array on the "Rag" office pipe. Maybe some stray co-ed who entered the editorial sanctum spied the shimmering silk and thought it worth snatching—anyway, the petticoat is gone and a liberal reward will be offered by the mysterious owner to the person who brings it back and again places it on the left-hand brace on the "Rag" office ceiling.

EDSON SHAW PLANS ALL-STAR ELEVEN

Former Husker Captain Picks Schellenberg and Riddell for Professional Organization.

AK-SAR-BEN BACKS TEAM

Edson Shaw, former football captain and tackle at the University, is lining up a professional football squad that promises to outrival all other teams in the United States.

Charles Trimble, secretary of the Ak-Sar-Ben Exposition company, announced yesterday that Shaw had been told to organize a "high-class" professional team and submit both the lineup and schedule to a board chosen by Ak-Sar-Ben for approval.

Shaw said he had lined up the following stars for the Ak-Sar-Ben team: "Dutch" Sternaman, former Illinois halfback; Dick Barker, former Ames guard and an all-western man; Rook Woodward, former Kansas halfback; Gene Leahy, Creighton fullback last year; Elmer Schellenberg, stellar halfback on the Nebraska team last year; Ted Riddell, end for the University team several years ago and a good punter; "Tim" Corey, former Nebraska captain and tackle; Ed Healy, former Dartmouth tackle; Owen Frank, former Nebraska halfback, and Leo Kline, end on the Great Lakes team and an all-American end.

Shaw is now in correspondence with some of the best professional eleven in Ohio and Illinois and hopes to book at least five Sunday games here this season.

George Halas, former Illinois and Great Lakes star in both football and basketball is now managing the Staley Corn Products team of Decatur, Ill. Halas, Rube Cook, manager of the Chicago Tigers, and Jim Thorpe's Canton, O., eleven have been dickering for games here.

"N" CLUB MEETS AT COMMERCIAL CLUB

The University "N" Club will hold its first meeting of the year Thursday noon, October 12, in the Commercial Club rooms, when members will gather for an informal luncheon.

Officers for the coming year will be elected and general business will be taken up. Director F. W. Luehring, head of the Department of Athletics and Physical Education, has very important plans for the "N" Club to discuss at this luncheon.

The annual class scrap between the Freshmen and Sophomores, which will be staged Saturday, October 16, the date of the homecoming game with Notre Dame will be the center of attention, and final preparations will be made for the battle.

At an enthusiastic meeting of the Freshman Law class Wednesday afternoon, Edward T. Gardner, '22, was elected president over Joseph Stanton.

There were several nominations for the office and Stanton and Gardner tied for the honor. A final vote was taken and Gardner was elected, 43-34. No minor officers were chosen. The organization of the first-year barristers will be completed at a later meeting.

ENROLLMENT LESS THAN LAST YEAR

Only 4,012 Students Have Completed Their Registration Up to This Time.

MAY REACH 4,500

Four thousand and twelve students had completed their registration by payment of their fees up to two weeks ago. Indications point to a large late registration which will bring the total enrollment up to about 4,500.

Many ex-students are registered this year in school, The Law College and the College of Business Administration enrollment is far greater this year than that of last year, according to the Registrar.

Each year the enrollment has increased until now Nebraska can hold her own with other larger schools in the country.

The registration at the University at various periods from 1884 to 1920 shows the remarkable growth of the Cornhusker institution:

SOPHOMORES TO HOLD TRY-OUTS THURSDAY

Boxing and Wrestling Representatives to Hold Practice.

Preliminary tryouts for Sophomores who intend to take part in the wrestling and boxing matches in the annual Olympics, October 16, will be held this evening at 7 o'clock in the Armory. There will be four classes for wrestlers and boxers, the 135 pound class, the 150 pound class, the 175 pound class and the heavyweight class.

Although the day of the Olympics is but nine days away little open hostility has been shown between the two classes. That the interest in the class scrap is keen is evident by the preparations that both classes are making for the event.

A feature of the Olympics contest this year will be the revival of the push-ball contest which was omitted last year. This is always one of the most spectacular features of the scrap and is second in importance to the pole rush.

Sophomores need not feel over confident of victory in the clash. It is the boast of the first-year men that their football huskies have the strength and speed to match that of the second-year strong men. They promise to give the Sophomores a real scrap on Olympics Day.

COLORADO TO FIGHT HARD

AGGIES CONSIDERED BEST TEAM IN MOUNTAIN CONFERENCE.

Schissler Says Line Averages Nearly 185 Pounds—Backfield Heavy and Fast.

HUSKERS GAIN STRENGTH

The Colorado Aggies will arrive in Lincoln tomorrow with a beefy array of pigskin jugglers, every one of whom is thirsting for a taste of Cornhusker blood. The Aggies, being easily the class of the Rocky Mountain Conference and realizing that Nebraska is the strongest team in the Missouri Valley, are fully aware of the importance of Saturday's game as an inter-sectional affair.

Consequently they are determined to uphold the honor of the Rockies and carry the long end of the score back to Fort Collins. Their ability to do so is naturally a matter of dispute and Husker adherents will have to be shown, but according to Assistant Coach Schissler, who scouted the Colorado Aggie-Wyoming game at Laramie last week, the Green and Gold team is a formidable foe and will give the Huskers a run for their money.

185 Pounds Line Average.

"Big, rangy, six-footers," is the way Schissler described the Colorado players. They are a much bigger aggregation than the Washburn eleven who fell before the Huskers on last Saturday. The line will average for 180 to 185 pounds and contains no exceptionally heavy men, all weighing about the same. The entire team is well-balanced. The backfield men are heavy and fast. Scott at fullback being the particular shining light.

Scott is a brilliant performer behind the line, carrying the ball with advantageous results. In fact, the Westerners have a team strong in every department of the game and will by no means be an easy mark for the Cornhuskers.

The Aggie team is composed mostly of veteran players, each holding the same position as of last year. It must be remembered that the Aggies had little difficulty in winning the championship of the Rocky Mountain Conference last year. Several of the Green and Gold players of this year are all-conference selections. The Aggies are out for the championship of the conference again and in addition hope to take the measure of Nebraska, thereby claiming the supremacy of the entire Middle-West.

Huskies Preparing Daily.

Coach Schulte is losing no time in putting his team in preparation for the invaders from Colorado. Scrimmage between the first and second Varsity outfits was held Tuesday night and the Varsity and Freshmen tangled last night and are booked again for today. The Freshman eleven is considerably handicapped by the loss of Noble, Lewellen and others who are laid up with injuries.

Coach Schissler does not intend to use any of these men until their injuries are entirely healed.

The Varsity squad is rapidly improving and new plays and formations are being developed. The Huskers realize the strength of the Western foe and are preparing for a hard battle. It is quite likely that Schulte will start the same lineup against the Aggies that he entered against Washburn.

The pessimists among the football fans here declare the Aggies haven't a ghost of a show against the Nebraska Cornhuskers next Saturday in Lincoln, while the optimists declare themselves quite to the contrary.

The latter have hopes and point to the fact that the Aggies have more material than ever before, even though it be green.

It is useless to declare that local fans are not without hopes and they point to the fact that the game is to be played, not to be lost by the Aggies but scheduled to match the Hughes squad against the Cornhuskers as a real contest for supremacy.

They admit that they will be very much surprised if the Aggies win, yet feel certain that the score will not be top-heavy, with Nebraska running wild over the Colorado farmers.

Coach Hughes admitted today that he was not without hope of making a very creditable showing. His hope
