STUDENT BANQUET SET FOR TONIGHT

Dr. John T. Stone of Chicago Heads Interesting Toast List at Feast.

Program Is Varied

Reservations Made for Over One Thousand Students at Scottish Rite Temple.

The largest student banquet ever given at the University of Nebraska is scheduled for this evening in the Scottish Rite Temple. The banquet is in charge of the Committee of Two Hundred and Chairman Harry Linton has announced that all plans are now complete and the program has been announced. This gathering has for its principal object the development and broadening of interest among University students in the opportunities of religious education and the scope and activities of the University. Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A.

A very excellent program has been prepared by the committee. University students are to be congratulated upon the opportunity of attending a gathering of this nature and the number of tickets already sold indicates that the banquet will undoubtedly be a huge success. The staging of an affair of this nature is bound to strengthen the moral of University activities and develop a wholesome student life.

Stone An Interesting Speaker.

The principal speaker on the toast list is Dr. John Timothy Stone, of the Fourth Presbyterian church of Chicago. This will be Dr. Stone's first visit to the University of Nebraska and Cornhusker students are anxious to greet his initial address. Dr. Stone is an eloquent, forceful speaker and exhibits a masterful control of the English language. His messages are always full of humor, interest and usually sympathetic with students in their educational problems.

The actual problems which confront the University student are well known to Dr. Stone. He himself is a graduate of Amherst College, where he was a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity. He is a trustee of his Alma Mater and has been chosen University pastor of several large eastern institutions including Princeton University. Dr. Stone has a message which will be helpful and inspiring to every Nebraska student.

The other speakers of the evening are: Guy C. Reed, '11, Marion Mote, '21, Clarence Dunham, '23, and Dean Philo M. Buck, of the College of Arts and Sciences. Harry Linton, chairman of the Committee of Two Hundred, will act as toastmaster.

Court Stops City From Banning Club Parties

Alleged threats of city officials and the chief of police to prevent the Kenilworth Club from holding its regular Tuesday, Friday and Saturday night dances in the Knights of Columbus Hall, resulted in the granting of a restraining order by District Judge Morning late Saturday night enjoining the city from interfering with the meetings of the club.

The opposition of the city officials to the dances is understood to be based on the ordinance regulating dance halls. It is argued that the K. of C. Hall is not entirely fire-proof, and the ordinance demands that public dances be held in fire-proof buildings when the hall is above the second floor.

The Kenilworth Club dances are semi-public in nature because admittance is by membership card only. They get around the provision in the ordinance because of this fact. Hearing on the application for an injunction has been set for October 13.

Extension Work to Be Given in Lecture Form

University extension work in the form of a series of lecture courses is being given at Duchesne College, a Catholic women's school, in Omaha. Dean Buck of the Arts and Science College gave the opening lecture last Friday on the subject of English Literature. Professor Stiff goes October 15 to give the second lecture on the same subject. These lectures will be followed by similar ones in French and European History.

ALUMNI TO THROG CITY ON SATURDAY

Many "Grads" and Ex-Students Will Be Guests Homecoming Day.

Alumni from all parts of Nebraska will visit the capital city Saturday for the annual homecoming celebration. Plans are nearly completed for the luncheon to be held at Ellen Smith Hall from 12 until 2 o'clock Homecoming Day. Reservations are being received daily for places at the tables.

The alumni rally at noon and the dance and dinner Saturday evening will be only two of the features of Homecoming Day. The clash between the Hoosters from Notre Dame and Schulte's fighting eleven will take place in the afternoon.

The Olympics—class soap between Freshmen and Sophomore classes—will feature the morning program. Both classes are lining up this week for the battle.

Saturday evening in the Armory the second all-University mixer will be the climax to a busy day. Alumni, ex-students and faculty will be guests of honor.

According to the Alumni Club of Lincoln, Nebraska is expecting the largest number of former students Saturday than she has seen at any other previous celebration of this kind.

FRESHMEN WILL ELECT MINOR OFFICERS TODAY

Initial Class Pep Meeting Scheduled for This Morning—Olympic Plans Ready.

The Freshmen get together for their initial meeting of the year in the Temple Theater this morning at 11 o'clock. Final plans will be discussed for the Olympics and the election of officers will be held. President Craib has requested that every member of the class be present as there are a number of important announcements to be made and he wants to find out just exactly what the class of 1924 is going to do to the Sophomores October 16.

Olympic Chairman to Speak.

Dick Giller, chairman for the Olympics, will be on hand to deliver a stirring address to the Freshmen. He will tell them what the committees are doing and how great the need is for every loyal Freshman to be on hand Saturday. He will also give out some plans that are to be heard only by Freshmen ears, these plans have been made public to only a few so far and it is important that every one learns of them.

The tryouts for the Freshmen are scheduled for Wednesday night in the Armory. Every loyal Freshman is expected to be there to help work up the spirit that is going to crush the Sophomores.

SECOND MIXER IS HOMECOMING NIGHT

Many Alumni Expected to Make Big All-University Party a Success.

Committees Announced

The second all-University party of the year promises to be a fitting climax to Homecoming Day, Saturday evening, October 16, in the Armory. Although Saturday is not a closed night and a number of fraternity and sorority parties have been scheduled, University authorities believe that the out-of-town alumni who are in Lincoln for the annual celebration will crowd the Armory to the doors.

As in other years, the party is being given especially for former students and members of the University faculty. It is primarily a "Homecoming Party," and the Notre Dame team will be the guest of honor. The entertainment committee has planned several surprising stunts for the evening.

Refreshment Committee. Guy Hyatt, Florence Price, chairman; Robert Gary, Hubert Adkisson, Clifford Hicks, Knox Burnett, Louise Fisher, Norma Saxon, Alice High, Meda Fisher.

Checking Committee. John Dobbs, chairman.

Decorating Committee. Ruth Kadel, chairman; Lorraine McCreary, Betty Kennedy, Bernice Scoville, Harold Holmstedt, Richard Reese, Thomas Roope, Glen Munger, Kenneth Harding.

Entertainment Committee. Arnold Fouts, Ruth Taylor, chairman; Harry Bloomstrand, Joy Guilford, Coy States, Helen Hunt, Grace Pegler, Elizabeth Welch.

Fire Department Performs For Engineers At Smoker Saturday

The engineers held their first smoker of the year Saturday evening at Walsh Hall, under the auspices of the University chapter of the American Association of Engineers. It has been the custom of the engineers to hold several of these get-together meetings each year, at which the students and faculty get acquainted and join in an informal good time, and the smoker held Saturday proved conclusively that the engineers of Nebraska are royal good fellows who can make any stag party a success.

The knight-errants of the slide rule and blue print, came early and in large numbers, and in a short time the hall was filled with tobacco smoke, through which could be dimly discerned a husky game of "Hot hand," in which quarter was neither asked nor given, while in the equally beclouded side rooms, another bunch crowded around the card tables.

Howl of Fire Truck!

In the midst of all this, the ominous howl of a fire truck arose from the street, resulting in a mad scramble for the windows, where the engineers discovered that the conflagration was in the lower part of the building. Cool as the proverbial cucumber they looked on as the firemen extinguished the blaze. The grim-faced groups holding poker hands, did not even bat an eye, but continued their play with the silence and facial immobility characterizing the great American indoor game. While the firemen were busy one reckless "stude" with a poor sense of humor, tried to render "Nearer My God to Thee," on the piano. He failed to finish it.

R. N. Tracy then called a meeting, and introduced Mr. P. A. Andrews of the Burlington railroad, who read an inspiring paper on "Judgment," as applied to the engineering profession, and how to acquire it by careful study and observation of the experience of others. Next the faculty were called to the platform, where Dean Ferguson introduced each member. Professor Smith tried to lose himself in the crowd, but the dean's eagle eye spotted him, and he was brought to the platform just in time to make the first speech. Professor Chatburn spoke of the opportunities open to the engineer and of the progress of the profession during the last century. Professor DeBaufre's subject was "Procrastination," and he pounded home the danger of laying down on one's job, in a convincing manner. Professors Edison, Slaymaker and Duff followed, the latter two with good stories, while Professor Edison said he could think of no stories and sat down after saying a few words.

Mr. Tracy again took charge of the meeting and after a short business session, turned the mob of hungry "math" sharks over to the refreshment committee, which had a very busy time of it for the next five or ten minutes. With the ice cream, doughnuts and coffee gone, the card games and yarn-telling were resumed until the weary engineers began to wander home to spend the rest of the night pounding the feathers.

A mass meeting of all the engineers will be held Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock in Room 206, M. E. Building.

SECRET PRACTICE UNTIL SATURDAY

Schlesier Says Notre Dame Has Strongest Team in History of Indiana Institution.

Many "Stars" Will Play

Cornhusker Warriors in Excellent Trim After Colorado Victory of Last Week.

This week will see Nebraska's Cornhuskers undergo the hardest kind of training. Secret practice is to be held every night this week in preparation for the strong Notre Dame team next Saturday. Coach Schulte expects to have his proteges ready with many new plays and in the best possible condition for the game.

The game next Saturday promises to be the hardest fought battle that will be staged on Nebraska field this season. Assistant Coach Schlesier who scouted the game between Kalamazoo Normal and Notre Dame reports that the Catholics have the strongest team that ever represented that school. Notre Dame defeated Kalamazoo Saturday, 44 to 0. A large number of substitutes were used by Notre Dame throughout the game.

Notre Dame is reported as having a tower of strength in the line. One proof for this is that Kalamazoo was unable to make one first down against the Catholics. Notre Dame resorted to straight football against the Normal team and was not forced to open up in the least. Some statistics in regard to the strength of Notre Dame may be derived from the fact that Kalamazoo beat the Michigan Aggies, 28 to 3, and Notre Dame beat Kalamazoo, 44 to 0.

Notre Dame has three complete backfields to use with very little difference between them. Bergman, the star of former Notre Dame teams is missed very little this year. Nebraska's followers of the game will remember Coughlin who played with the Camp Dodge team which defeated Nebraska, 20 to 0. Coughlin is playing this year with Notre Dame and makes up part of the third backfield.

Coach Schulte reports that the team came through the game Saturday in fine shape. He had hoped for a larger score so that more men could have been used against the Aggies. Dana, who had a little trouble with his leg is reported as coming along fine and Hartley has a cold but otherwise the team is in first class condition. Coach Schulte is of the opinion that Notre Dame has one of the best teams in the country and that they are going to be a hard aggregation to beat but the men are going to fight until the last whistle blows.

NOTRE DAME, Ind., Oct. 11.—With the onward rush of the Notre Dame football athletes daily, as the drive expands, the outlook for another undefeated eleven brightens. Even the sour old pessimists who consigned Coach Rockne's crew to the basement of the western gonfalon apartments two weeks ago are beginning to brighten up like a sky spanned with vivid rainbows. Notre Dame is on the march.

"Bepepped" by their slashing victory over Kalamazoo College and Western Normal in the opening games of the season, Rockne's men will tackle Nebraska next Saturday in one of the biggest games to be played in the west this autumn. Both elevens rank with the best in the country.

The Cornhuskers will be a snarling lot when they glare across the line at the western champions Saturday. Coach Schulte's tribe is smarting under the sting of last year's defeat and is determined to even up the count in the coming meeting. That Nebraska holds the respect of every man on the Notre Dame team, from Capt. Coughlin down to the lowliest substitute, admits of no denial. Next

JUNIOR AND SENIOR MEETINGS TUESDAY

Minor Officers Will Be Selected—Presidents to Read Class Committees.

President Alyne O'Laughlin announced Monday evening that the first Senior class meeting will be held Thursday morning, October 14, at 11 o'clock in Social Science 101. The members of the Junior class will meet at the same time in the Social Science Auditorium, according to reports given out by Isabell Pearsall, president of the third-year students. The meetings of the two upper classes at the University are of more import than those of the two lower classes because of the growing importance of the duties of the Juniors and Seniors to the school.

Minor class officers will be chosen by both classes at this time. President O'Laughlin will read the new Senior committees at the meeting. President Pearsall announces that the committees for the third-year class will not be ready for about two weeks.

Both class presidents urge that every member of the classes be present. In other years Senior and Junior class "get-togethers" have been smaller than they should have been. "Growing importance of class activities and duties to school in the Junior and Senior years should inspire the members of these classes at least to attend the meetings of their classes," said President O'Laughlin yesterday.

SECOND-YEAR STUDENTS COME TOGETHER TODAY

President Urges Co-eds to Attend Meeting and Back Olympics Fighters.

The first Sophomore class meeting of the year is promised for this morning at 11:30 o'clock in Law 202. It is predicted from reliable sources that this room will be too small to accommodate the entire body of second-year organizers, and in such case, other provisions will be made. Class committee appointments will be announced by President Philbrick at this meeting and the minor officers of the class will be chosen by ballot. Preparations for the coming battle Saturday morning will be decided upon, and it is rumored that strategic plans only to be known to Sophomores will be divulged at this time. "If the second-year co-eds can keep the secret they will be let in on them, too," was the statement of an Olympic committeeman yesterday.

Class to Be Organized.

Sophomore pep and spirit will be rated at the meeting this morning. The Olympics stock will either go up or down, according to those who have charge of the organization of the class.

"It is not only necessary that the co-eds attend the meeting today, but that they get behind the men and 'root' for them when they battle the Freshmen down on the flats Saturday morning," said President Philbrick Monday.

AMERICAN LEGION SMOKER

The University Post of the American Legion will give a smoker from 7 until 8 o'clock, Wednesday evening, October 13, in the old cafeteria room of the Temple Building. A short business meeting will be held during the evening, when officers for the year will be elected, and a report of the national convention at Cleveland will be read by State Adjutant Frank O'Connell.
