

DOBSON STAR NOW ON COAST.

 The following article was received from a San Francisco paper and lends much praise to the former Husker star as a football player:
 "After the Olympic club equalled the Stanford touchdown and goal at Palo Alto yesterday, Dobson, the star backfield man of the club, won the game for his eleven with a neatly placed drop goal from the field, giving the club a score of 10 points to 7 by the Varsity.
 "The club men played the best game it has shown this season but Stanford disappointed in its general showing. Right after the kick off Stanford played real football, but it did not last any longer than after the touchdown was scored five minutes after play started. In that period Stanford ran the ball down the field from its own twenty-four yard line to the Olympic forty-three yard line and on six downs took the ball to the club's eighteen yard line from which point Campbell went round the club left end for the touchdown.
 "At critical times Stanford failed and on two such occasions when a score should have been put over the Varsity just could not do it. This failure took place in the last quarter when the Varsity had bucked up and showed some of its opening session work. The Varsity took play to the Olympic four yard line on two different occasions in this quarter but simply could not make their yards and when the ball went over to the Olympics Dobson kicked it down the field and relieved the pressure. On both these occasions the club men showed perfect defense and their line was impenetrable.

"After Campbell scored for the Varsity the club men put plenty of ginger into their work. The club worked the ball down the field and when Stanford tried a kick the Olympic men blocked the punt and Tindling picked up the ball and went over for a touchdown which Dobson goalied, equaling the score.

UNIVERSITY PLACE BEATS COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE

 for the Aggies and Weaver made a fair return. H. Yetter snared a pass on the first play and negotiated a run of forty-five yards for a touchdown. Deuser kicked goal.

University Place kicked off and an Aggie back returned to the Aggie eighteen yard line. The Farmers started a series of drives at the Methodist line which netted them steady gains until they were halted on the University Place thirty yard line.

The Methodists took the ball and after a series of short line plunges, Alabaster tore off twenty-eight yards around right end. The Aggies braced and held the Methodist who were three yards from the Aggie goal.

The Farmers made a short return and the first quarter ended with the ball in University Place's possession on the Methodist forty-one yard line.

The Methodists were forced to punt and the Farmers returned the ball to the University Place forty yard line. Fairley soon was forced to kick, and Gregg, Methodist tackle, broke through and blocked the effort, downing the ball on the University Place twenty-eight yard line. The Farmers held the suburbanites for downs but when Fairley dropped back of the Aggie goal line to punt out of danger Gregg again broke through and spoiled the kick. This time H. Yetter recovered the ball for a touchdown. Deuser kicked goal. This ended the scoring for the first half.

The Aggies halted another Methodist parade at the start of the third quarter when the Farmers held the Methodists for downs when the suburbanites were within four yards of a score. The play, however, afforded only temporary relief and a series of cross bucks and end runs shoved Deuser across for another score. Deuser kicked goal.

At the start of the fourth quarter Radinsky rang up another counter on an open field run through the line. Alabaster scored again by a sensational return of an Aggie punt. Deuser kicked both goals. The game ended with University Place fighting in Aggie territory and the score University Place, 35; Aggie, 0.

Alabaster was the main sensation of the suburban lineup. He made two flashy returns of Aggie punts. Once he ran fifty-three yards through an open field for a touchdown. Later he raced a like distance but was dumped within a few feet of the goal line. Gregg played a good game in the line.

McAllister featured for the Aggies. He broke through and spilled a number of Methodist plays.

It was the first contest of the season for the Aggies. They showed up a shade better than the average Aggie team at this time of the fall. Only a few men in the lineup had previous football experience and the machine lacked variety in offensive play.

A couple of weeks will probably see a vast change in the Farmer eleven and the Aggie machine may throw a wrench in the calculations of opposing teams who are booked to meet the eleven a little later in the season.

- The lineup follows:
 Uni Place—35 Uni Aggies—0
 H. Yetter le Ruan
 G. Yetter rt Atchinson
 Warren lg Malandee
 Pester (C) c Stubbs
 Preston rg Rumsey
 Gregg rt McAllister (C)

Personal Attractiveness

A Non-Elective Course

Just as you strive for the finest expression in music, poetry or art, so you want to reach your highest ideal in personal attractiveness. You want to grow more charming, pleasing and lovely day by day.

So while you are acquiring an education do not overlook that all-important subject which every woman needs, whatever her position in the world or society—the ability to dress becomingly and smartly. It is one of the first essentials of your college course.

The world looks to you as young women of knowledge to set the standards in this important matter of dress. Your attire should be as blithe and dainty as the youth that is yours—as tasteful, elegant and refined as the culture you possess.

"House of Youth" Suits and Coats

are standards in artistic fashion for the younger set. In them are embodied all those delightful fancies of youth, fraught with a fineness of execution wholly unique—suits and coats of beauty—EXCLUSIVE BUT NOT EXPENSIVE.

Style that "sticks" out Quality that is built-in

The label is not the only place that you can see the trademark of good fabrics and good tailoring.

You can see it in the style of the clothes.

Society Brand Clothes are cleverly designed and their style "sticks" out, but that is only because the quality is built-in—through fine tailoring of all-wool fabrics.

The men who buy Society Brand Clothes are the real clothes critics. They are the kind of men you would pick out of any crowd on any fashionable street in America as men of good taste.

They buy Society Brand Clothes simply because they get what they want in these clothes—style, smart lines, hand-tailoring, satisfying service.
