NEW CORNHUSKER STAFF ANNOUNCED

Appointments on Nebraska Annual Made Public—LeRoss Hammond is Managing Editor.

No Freshmen Chosen

Plans for 1920 Book Are Being Perfected—Business Department Now Working Daily.

Nebraska's 1921 Cornhusker is breaking into print this morning with the announcement of the staff that will assist with the publication of the book. Work on the annual has been going on all summer and fall and plans are beginning to round into shape whereby the managers will soon be able to announce the general outline.

The staff that will assist the business manager and the editor in organizing the book this year includes a majority of the best equipped journalists and student business managers in school. The editor and the business manager have gone to considerable trouble in trying to put on the staff those who have expressed their desire to serve the school in this way and who are best fitted for their positions.

The list of appointments announced today is not complete. There may be several persons who may have requested positions on the staff and who may be well-fitted for work on the book whose names are omitted from the list. Although not all of these persons will be able to serve on the Cornhusker staff, there are many more opportunities to help with the publication of the book. If there are any who have been promised places, they should see the editor in regard to helping in this work.

No Freshmen on Staff. It has also been deemed advisable not to appoint any Freshmen on the staff at this time. All first-year students who desire to work will be allowed to try out along with others and they will be retained according to their ability and willingness to work. It is the plan to retain probably three or four until the end of the year and these will be recommended by the editor or business managers to take more responsible positions in future years.

LeRoss Hammond, '21, who has served on various student publications during his three years in school, has been chosen to head the staff as Senior managing editor. Mr. Hammond is well fitted for this position in which he will be more or less in direct charge of the editorial staff. He will be assisted in this work by Clarence Ross, '22, Junior managing editor, who was elected by student vote last February.

Melvin Eekins, '22, captain of the baseball team and active in other lines of sports, has been made editor (Continued on Page Four)

Laws and Engineers To Clash on Gridiron

The laws held a pep meeting at 9:50 Tuesday morning for the purpose of promoting a football game against the engineers. The engineers challenged the law college for a game to determine which college is uppermost in football ability. They wished to bar all members of the varsity squad, and any man who has made a football letter in the University of Nebraska. The laws agreed to eliminate men on the varsity and freshman squads.

Baldridge was unanimously elected to coach the law college team. He has played on the Yale football team and has a thorough knowledge of football. The decisive game will probably be held in a week or two. The game promises to be interesting and close as there is a large amount of football material in both the colleges. There will be a large representation of students from both colleges present to encourage its team to put forth the utmost enthusiasm in endeavoring to gain the title of football champions.

Republican Club For Husker Students

The organization of a Republican Club for Cornhusker students is the object of a meeting called for seven o'clock this evening in the Temple Theatre. All students whose sympathies are in accord with the principles of the Republican presidency of the United States are urged to be in attendance. Both male and female students are invited and both will be eligible for membership in the organization to be perfected.

Hon. Charles A. Sunderlin, a prominent attorney of Omaha, will address the meeting. National and state issues will form the central thought of his remarks. Mr. Sunderlin is a strong speaker and well-informed on the political issues of the day. All students who are casting their ballots for the first time at the coming election should be present tonight and hear Mr. Sunderlin.

WIRELESS COMMUNICATION WITH SCHOOLS IN VALLEY

Electrical Engineering Department to Install Aerial Apparatus—Finish Within Month.

Nebraska will soon be in wireless communication with other schools in the Missouri valley. The Electrical Engineering department of the College of Engineering has completed the first steps in the installation of an aerial apparatus and plan to have the project finished within the next month. An antennae made up of four strands of wire 200 feet long has been strung from the tower of U Hall to the roof of the Electrical Engineering building. The work of leading the wires down into the building is now under way.

The wireless is being built mainly for experimental purposes. Apparatus left from the set used before the war is being used wherever possible. There will be a one kilowatt set for sending and a De Forest double amplifier for receiving. Under favorable weather conditions the apparatus should have a sending and receiving radius of 500 miles.

The Senior electrical engineering class is constructing the apparatus. When the wireless was in use before the war its main purpose was sending and receiving football scores. This will probably be taken up again along with experiments in radio telephony.

TICKET CONTEST NOW GOING IN FULL BLAST

Fifteen Sororities and Palladian Women Now Entered in Race for Prizes Given by Uni Players.

Co-eds Devising Various Schemes for Making Sales—Floor Lamps Now on Display in Local Store.

What promises to be one of the snappiest contests ever held at the University, opened this morning at 9 o'clock, when tickets were given out in the University Players ticket-selling contest. Fifteen sororities and the women members of the Palladian Literary Society had registered as contestants by last night, according to an announcement made by Manager C. W. Woods. Tickets were given out at the Student Activities office and all returns will be made there.

Much enthusiasm has been shown among the girls, and many schemes have been suggested by different sorority members to make sure that they will be among the five lucky contestants in winning the floor lamps. One co-ed suggested that they could deposit the three hundred dollars necessary to win the lamp, at the opening of the contest, and then sell the necessary tickets afterward. The fourth rule of the group published yesterday prohibits this, as it requires that the names of the ticket purchasers be turned in with the money. However, promises of sales have been made on the campus and in the dormitories and rooming houses for the last two days.

Lamps on Display. The five ornamental floor lamps to be awarded to the first five sororities selling one hundred tickets each will be on display in the Perkins-Huffman (Continued on Page Four)

All members of the first-year class are eligible to attend and are urged by those in charge to come out and become acquainted with the other members of their class.

VARSITY SPILLS RUTGERS PLAYS

Stiff Scrimmage Work on Yesterday's Program for Huskers—Eastern Formations Used by Freshmen.

Old Grads Helping

Schulte Rounding Squad into Shape for Clashes with Strong Atlantic Coast Elevens Next Week.

Nebraska's warriors were put through a stiff scrimmage last night against the Freshmen in preparation for the big games in the east next week. A great deal of time was spent in breaking up the Rutgers formations as executed by the first-year men. The Varsity were able to spill a big share of the plays before the Freshmen had a good chance to get started.

Coach Schulte will hold scrimmage for the Varsity for the rest of the week. He is taking particular pains to see that the men will be in the best of condition when the squad leaves Friday afternoon. All of the men on the squad are working hard and there is much competition being displayed for the trip. Many of the old grads are out helping to round the team into shape so that Nebraska may be recognized as one of the big football powers in the country. Much time is being devoted to the execution of passes and formations that will baffle the easterners.

Excellent Trip Planned.

The trip to New York and Penn State will be one long to be remembered by those who get to make it. The team and the coaches are to be entertained in the best possible manner. During the five days stay in New York the squad will be quartered at the Pennsylvania hotel. Extensive plans are under way to have something doing all the time. The entertainments include automobile trips to all the places of interest in the city and the entire squad will be given a chance to see some of the best theaters and plays now in New York. The team will rest over at Chicago on the way to New York where they will take a light workout. In the afternoon they will attend one of the Big Ten games at Stagg field.

The Nebraska-Rutgers game takes place on election day in New York City. Mac Baldridge who scouted the Rutgers-West Virginia game last Saturday in New York reports that great preparations are being made to accommodate from forty to fifty thousand people at the Polo Grounds. This game is the only football contest in New York on that day. The game is being widely advertised in all the city papers and all the street cars carry announcements concerning it.

Eastern football critics are deeply interested in Nebraska's eastern games so that they may be able to judge the relative strength of eastern and western football.
