PRICE FIVE CENTS.

TICKET SELLERS MAKE FAST TIME

Complete First Lap in Race for Prizes Offered By University Players.

Palladians Head List

Literary Society First to Turn in Report of Sale of Hundred Tickets.

The first lap of the University Players season ticket selling contest ended yesterday in record time the five floor lamps, given as prizes to the first five sororities selling one hundred tickets each, being gone by early in the afternoon. The women members of the Palladian Literary Society, the first to turn in the money and the names of the first hundred tickets, had their returns in the Student Activities office fifteen minutes after the contest opened yesterday morning at 9 o'clock. The Alpha Xi Delta, the second to win a lamp, had their tickets turned in fifteen minutes after the winners. Gamma Phi Beta, Kappa Delta and Pi Beta Phi are the other winning contestants, in the order given.

The contest, however, has just begun, as the most important part, that of the race for the largest sale of tickets, has hardly started; and the big prizes are still to be awarded. Five hundred dollars in cash are to be given to the three sororities having the largest sale of tickets, by the time eighteen hundred tickets are sold.

Ticket for Six Plays.

The season tickets being sold are for the six plays to be presented by the University Players during the winter. Each play will be given three successive nights, and six hundred reservations can be made for each performance, making a total of eighteen hundred tickets as the amount to be sold in the contest. Nearly one-third of that number had been turned in by last night, and owing to the limited amount of tickets to be sold it is expected that the contest will close by the last of the week.

"The contest is going far better than was ever anticipated," said Manager Woods last night. "More enthusiasm being shown than the management had looked for. The remainder of the contest will be exciting to the end, as all the sororities, regardless of the results in the lamp contest, will have an equal chance to come out strong at the close and win the cash prizes."

Canvassing was started in the down town districts yesterday morning, and it is expected that a large amount of tickets will be sold there. Nearly all the rooming houses and dormitories had been canvassed by the sellers before the opening of the contest, and collectors were stationed at different points on the campus yesterday.

The University Players intend to take the place of the Oliver Theater Players, which gave several productions here a few years ago; and so (Continued on Page Four)

PLAN BIG SENDOFF.

All University students not in classes are urged to be at the Burlington station at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon to give Nebraska's team a good "send-off." The team will leave at 4:30 for the east where it will play Rutgers and Penn State. The game with Rutgers will be played on election day, November 2, and the game with Penn State on November 6.

The band will be at the station to play the chant and the Cornhusker, "Skipper" Bailey and his band of cheer leaders will be there to give the team a last farewell shout.

Twenty-four players will go on the eastern trip accompanied by coaches and trainers. This makes a total of thirty reservations for the athletic depart-

Annual W. S. G. A. Party Saturday

The annual W. S. G. A. party will be given Saturday, October 30. The program will be held first at the Temple theater, beginning promptly at 2:30. There will be several clever "skits" given by last year's Freshmen Commission girls.

After the program the girls will go together to Ellen Smith hall. Good music will be furnished so that dancing may be enjoyed. University colors will be used in decorations throughout the hall. Refreshments will also be carried out in the color scheme.

This party is usually given the first Saturday of school but was postponed on account of football games and other activities. This is one of the very "peppiest" given during the year. Usually some part of the program is devoted to campus life, to give the Freshman a glance of what college life should mean to them. All Freshmen are urged to come, for it will be a good time to meet upperclassmen.

STUDENT DIRECTORY TO BE OUT NEXT TUESDAY

Largest Roster Ever Compiled Will Be Published By Those in Charge of Book.

The student directory will be ready for distribution on the campus Tuesday morning, November 2, according to announcements made Wednesday afternoon. It will be the largest roster of students that has ever been compiled at the University and it will contain nearly two hundred pages.

The booklet will be bound in gray covers on which will be embossed the seal of Nebraska University in contrasting colors. The pamphlet will also contain a complete new telephone directory of each student.

Special efforts have been made by the editors to correct the addresses of the co-eds. The advertisements this year have been carefully chosen to feature Lincoln's representative merchants.

Price to Be Surprise. Peter A. Fredericksen, who has charge of the financial end of the enterprise, announces that the price of this year's directory will be a pleasant surprise when it is announced.

Information about every student in school will be given in the manual. A complete faculty roster, including the additions of their campus telephones, will be incorporated into the book. A reproduction of every campus organization with a list of its officers, together with lists of professional fraternities and literary societies will be another feature of the 1920 booklet. The new cottage dormitories with a small amount of information about each will be listed in the directory.

A special effort has been made on the part of the publishers to get complete information about the Greek letter organizations at the University. Additional particulars about the pamphlet will be given in the Daily Nebraskan for Friday.

Can't Get Teacher, So Close Up School

BILLINGS, Mont.—Twenty rural schools in the remoter sections of Yellowstone county with an aggregate enrollment of about 300 pupils will remain closed indefinitely on account of the lack of teachers, according to a statement made by County Superintendent Frances Miller. This is a forceful illustration of the dearth of teachers in Montana and the western states, according to school officials. The small pay allowed teachers in the rural districts and the fact that many of them are taking advanced work in the seats of learning in the cities is given as one reason for this condition. As teachers cannot be found to supply the demands in the rural districts, it is stated that efforts will be made to consolidate certain districts.

CORNHUSKER SONG BOOK IS PLANNED

Publication Will Fill Long Felt Need—Committee of Students, Faculty and Alumni Chosen to Compile, Finance and Publish Book Containing Original Songs By Students and Alumni.

Ward Randal Made General Chairman

Prizes Totalling $100 Will Be Offered for Best Songs Submitted By Students and Interested Individuals—University School of Music Assists in Compiling and Publishing.

The University of Nebraska is going to have a song book! The long-felt need for such a publication has finally crystallized into a determination to put Nebraska on a par with such schools as Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin, and other large institutions along this line. This is the first time anything of this kind has been attempted and all loyal Cornhuskers must make it a big success.

In charge of the work of procuring words and songs, financing and publishing the book, is a committee of students, faculty and alumni, headed by Ward Randal, as general chairman. On the student committee are Eugene Dinsmore, Russell Bailey, Ruth Kadel, Ruth Lindsay, Gayle Grubb, Lois Melton, Laurence Metzgar and Jack Austin; on the faculty committee, R. D. Scott of the University, and John M. Rosborough of the University School of Music; and on the alumni committee, Gaylord Davis, Carolyn Reed and L. R. Doyle.

The chief purpose of the book is to publish original songs written by students, alumni and others interested in the University, as well as the best songs of other schools with a few songs arranged for quartet; to become an important element in the traditions and life of student. Prizes of $25, $15 and $10 will be offered by the committee for the three best songs submitted by students and prizes of the same amounts will be given for songs submitted by other interested parties. A leather bound copy of the song book will be given to the writer of each song whether a prize winner or not which is accepted and the writer's name will be embossed on the outside of the volume.

In the prize contest both words and music are desired but if either music or words are submitted separately, arrangements have been made to complete the songs. Contestants having good melodies, but who are unable to harmonize them, are asked to submit them, for the University School of Music will harmonize all such melodies.

All songs submitted should be sent to the Cornhusker song book committee, Station A, Lincoln, Neb.

MID-SEMESTER REPORTS ARE DUE NEXT TUESDAY

First-Year Students Handed Class Plums in Shape of Special Appointments.

President Robert E. Craig of the Freshmen class, has announced the following committees for the first semester. The class is composed of approximately one thousand students. The committees follow:

- HOP COMMITTEE. James Miller, chairman.
 - I. Decoration Committee. Helen Walpole, chairman; Mark Barth, Neil Woods.
 - II. Refreshment Committee. Mary Henderson, chairman; Margaret Wattle, Kenneth Baker.
 - III. House and Finance Committee. Elbert Evans, chairman; Roberta Spain, Herbert Solomon.

FRESHMAN COMMITTEES ARE ANNOUNCED BY PRESIDENT

Middle-Term Examinations Postponed Because of Conflict with Teachers' Meeting.

Mid-semester examinations have been postponed five days, according to Dean C. C. Engberg. The reports of scholarship standing will not be due until November 13 instead of November 8, as previously announced. The reason for this postponement is because of the fact that the state teachers' convention will be held at Omaha during the week beginning November 1. Another reason why this step has been taken is because the second scholarship report would come only a short time after the first quarterly report which was somewhat delayed.

Did Cleopatra Say: "You Tell 'Em Caesar, You've Gaul?"

"You tell 'em, my tongue is in my shoe."

"You tell 'em linen; you don't shrink."

"You tell 'em ivory; you're hard."

"You tell 'em purple sock; you're loud."

"You tell 'em onion; you have strength."

"You tell 'em locomotive; you've got pull."

If you would be abreast of the times, you must be able to "shake a mean tongue" and let your ecstasy bubble over with "you tell 'ems." But don't think for a minute that the well-known "you tell 'ems" are the only popular forms of that universal American language—slang.

A glossary of the slangy expressions used on the campus would require a book larger than the New York city directory. To explain these myriads of expression would demand a mind greater than that of Aristotle and a humor greater than that of Irvin S. Cobb.

Now modern mortals need not think that they are the only advocates and exponents of the degenerated language.

Ancients Used Slang, Too.

Can't you imagine that Cleopatra said: "You tell 'em, Caesar, you've got Gaul," as she wrapped her snakeskin gracefully around her left wrist and smiled wonderingly into the orbs of that famous Roman. Perhaps Brutus exclaimed after killing Caesar: "Great Caesar's ghost, now I have spilled the beans."

When Joan of Arc was bravely resisting the flames which were soaring higher and higher to the top of the stake to which she was strapped, can't you just hear her cry: "For the love of Mike, why don't some of you guys give me a lift. When it comes to bravery, you will be awarded the chiffon typewriter—ah, I'll say you will."

When Christopher Columbus sighted land for the first time as he neared San Salvador, he probably yelled in the best Spanish: "I'll tell the world that's a beautiful country. Wonder who the red-skin babies are playing around on the landscape."

Don't you remember the time Sir Walter Raleigh laid his coat in the mire for Queen Elizabeth? I can just hear him saying: "Come on, kid, put your tootsies on this horse blanket. If you don't your name will be mud."

Some day soon we have promised to explain how the expressions that defeat themselves originated—for instance, how came the crocheted crowbar and the sandalwood hair net.

Paul White to Head University Math Club

Paul J. White was elected president of the Math club at its first meeting held in the American Legion room at the Temple, Thursday, October 21. The other officers elected are: Lloyd Shildneek, vice-president; Grace Myers, secretary-treasurer.

Prof. C. R. Sherer gave an illustrated talk on map projections to more than fifty students. Ice cream and cookies were served later in the evening.

Leslie Bare is Chosen as Sophomore Editor

The name of Leslie Bare was by oversight omitted from the list of appointments on the 1921 Cornhusker staff. His title will be that of Sophomore editor and the duties of the office will be general. Mr. Bare attended Columbia University last year and is well qualified for journalistic work.

SPECIAL PLANNED FOR GAME WITH JAYHAWKS

Train Load of Students Plan to Watch Huskers Trim Feathers of Kansas Bird.

A special train will carry the Cornhusker warriors and their enthusiastic friends on their campaign in the south when they go to bring home the scalps of the Kansas tribe from the November 13 battle, provided 125 round trip tickets are sold or guaranteed.

This will be good news to all the football fans who are anxious to see the Cornhuskers pick the tail feathers out of that rare old bird, the Kansas Jayhawk. All that remains for the said fans to do in order to realize their hopes is to get the gang together and have them shoot the ticket sales up to the 125 mark.

That's easy. Of course the necessary "wampum" is a thing that should not be forgotten, but that will not require a great amount as well be seen in the price list which follows soon.

Schedule of Trip.

The schedule for the trip is: Leave Lincoln.....11:00 p. m., Nov. 12
Arrive Lawrence. 7:30 a. m., Nov. 13
Leave Lawrence.....12:30 a. m., Nov. 14
Arrive Lincoln..... 9:30 a. m., Nov. 14
The fare for round trip is $14.60, war tax included. Standard sleeper, upper berth is $20.38, lower berth is $21.46. Tourist sleeper, upper berth is $18.22, lower berth is $18.76. The rail rate from Lawrence to Lincoln is $6.81, including war tax. Standard sleeper, upper berth is $10.19, lower berth is $10.73. Tourist sleeper, upper berth is $9.11, lower berth is $9.38.

Those intending to join the party at Lawrence for the return trip will be taken care of by the addition of two extra coaches at Lawrence.

The sale of tickets begins today at the Union Pacific office, Chamber of Commerce building, 204 No. 11th St. All tickets will be sold there instead of at the consolidated ticket office.

Varsity Movie Drama To Be Filed on Campus

A Varsity Movie, a 2,000-foot feature film depicting an interesting story of student life, written, produced, and acted by students, is being planned by the Edwin Booth Dramatic club of the University of Wisconsin.

The students who are promoting the plan have already filmed a number of University events, such as the University Circus, and will work with the director of the University photographic laboratory. They plan to show the picture first at the University and then to turn it over to a booking company for circulation throughout the country. As first step, they are offering a prize of $25 for the best scenario.

FINAL SCRIMMAGE BEFORE BIG GAME

Huskers Given Last Workout Prior to Journey for Eastern Games.

Train at Aerial Game

Nebraska Coaches and Squad Hard at Work Putting in Finishing Touches.

Coach Schulte put his gridiron battlers through the last scrimmage that will be held before the eastern trip last evening. Practically every eligible man was given a chance to show his ability against the husky Freshmen. Keen competition exists between all the men for positions on the team and every man is giving everything he has in an endeavor to be chosen to represent Nebraska in her eastern games.

Coach Schulte has made no announcement of who will go east, but it is probable that he will tonight. Due to the many substitutions the Varsity failed to make any extraordinary showing against the first-year men last night but every man was doing his best and Coach Schulte feels confident that the Nebraska "steam roller" will make itself famous in the east. The Huskers have greatly improved their aerial game.

Men Not Yet Picked.

It is not known how many men the Huskers will take with them. Coach Schulte hopes to take twenty-six men but this number may have to be reduced to twenty-two.

The guarantees which the Nebraska management is sure of receiving are $2,500 for the Rutgers game and $4,000 at Penn State. The cost of transporting and caring for the Cornhusker party may run as high as $7,500.

The Nebraska authorities have contracts for the two games which give the Nebraska management the privilege of taking its guarantee or a percentage of the receipts. Unless the percentage exceeds the guarantees, the Cornhusker athletic department will lose money on the trip, which explains the necessity of placing a limit on the number of players.

Rutgers and Penn State have two of the strongest teams in the east (Continued on Page Four)
