I Say:

Isn't it killing when
You are spoofing a chic
Young thing who daubs
Great gobs of black on
Her royal eye lashes and
She has made a mistake
And smudged one a little
And you ask her innocently
What that little black smear
On her eyelid is and she Looks annoyed and says very Anxiously, "My Dear! Isn't
The soot perfectly terrible
These days? Really you
Just can't go a block without Getting covered with it."
She reminds us of the bad
Little boy who shakes his Head in swift denial while
The condemning jam trickles
Down his chubby cheek. Heavens!
We'd better ring off before
We get sentimental or something.
—Matilda Jane.

HALLOWE'EN.

The night is dark, the air is frosty cold.
The moon is out, but it looks wan and old.
The limbs of trees above are black and bare,
As if to clutch you standing frightened there.

Ah, such a night, not many years ago
We reveled late with witches from below.
No one among us then to quench the

Impish flame,
No peaceful slumbers on that wild night came.

Who wondered when they found their pumpkin patches bare?
Who looked for things and thought to bind them there?
And if they chased us, more the joy
Their dearest things became the gay crowd's toy.

But now no matter how the witches call,

We dance the night through in some quiet hall.
And though we calm ourselves like stoic monks,
We feel, no less, that such is sure the bunk.

University R. O. T. C.
Issued 800 Uniforms

Nearly eight hundred uniforms have been issued to members of the University R. O. T. C. When the supply room was closed Thursday evening equipment. The men have been slow to call for their paraphernalia, but it is hoped that by today a large part of the cadets who have not yet received their uniforms will be seen in "O. D.'s." The storeroom will be open until 11 o'clock Saturday morning and all cadets are expected to be completely equipped by that time.

Tuesday evening, November 2, the entire regiment will be required to appear in uniform. The band has already received its quota and the appearance that the musicians will make promises to be an incentive to each company to appear as well.

Nearly twelve hundred uniforms will be issued. The paraphernalia consists of all equipment from cap ornaments to shoe laces. R. O. T. C. shields and wrap puttees will add to the appearance of each cadet. According to those in charge of the Military department, when they are fully equipped, the embryo soldiers will make a better appearance this year than at any time before.
