THE ONLY PICTURE THIS MOTHER HAD OF HER BOY.

During the Great War the only picture that a mother had of her boy who was killed in action was one she found printed in his College Annual, a snapshot taken by his College mates. You can readily realize how she prized this book. To her it was a treasure that no money could buy. The College Annual is much more than a class book. It is a record of one's achievements, it is a visualization of your activities during the period of your life when you were preparing for the great future.

Many years later you are going to look upon the days when you attended College, and it will be like living those glorious days over again when you can look at these pages and have spread before you illustrations and pictures of your College friends, of your College activities, of College pranks.

A large washing machine manufacturer never fails to purchase a copy of the "Badger" each year. As he puts it so admirably, it keeps him young, it revives the old days when he was a lad winding his way up the famous hill, meeting his old College friends, rooting for the Athletic teams as they fought their way to glory. Unfortunately, it is during these earlier days that we fail to realize how quickly time passes. Fifteen years later you are going to prize your College Annual more than you do now. You will look at it many and many a time and it will be a source of endless pleasure to you and those that are dear to you.

A College Annual is not like a popular book that is printed with a large run, only a limited number of books can be put forth, and because of only having this small number there are bound to be a great many disappointed people; so it is a case of act when the opportunity is before you, and secure a copy of your Annual early so as to insure having it and taking it home with you during the vacation period. To each student the 1921 Cornhusker should be a treasure that no money could buy.

THE CRUCIAL GAME.

Saturday Nebraska meets the Michigan Aggies in the crucial game of the season. We say crucial—not because it is the most important game on our schedule—but because a win over the Aggies will go a long way to smooth over our tie with Kansas.

Saturday at the game is the time to show your true fighting loyalty in the team. This week many of the people in Lincoln have been deploring the coach and team for their showing at Kansas. These would be Nebraska supporters have deserted our team—when they need their encouragement and support most.

But we have the strong conviction that Nebraska student loyalty is just as great after defeat as in the hour of victory. And more than ever before we want to stamp on the minds of the team that Nebraska students are always backing them; that they are proud of their efforts, and that they are convinced that they are giving their "all" for old U-N-I. And the only way we can show this to be the true sentiment of Nebraska students is to fill every seat in the south bleachers Saturday.

STATE ROTARY CLUB AT GAME SATURDAY.

One thousand members of the Rotary Club and their wives from towns in the state will witness the Nebraska-Michigan game Saturday. At the game tomorrow it will be a good chance for us to show these men the fighting spirit that we build at Nebraska. Also Saturday morning there will no doubt be many of the men on the campus. Students, welcome the Rotary Club members to our campus. Be around handy to show them our campus and extend them every courtesy. These representative business men of Nebraska are extremely interested in the University and they have and will play a large part in the shaping and building of our "Greater University."

To Teach Making of Cement Here

In an effort to lower cost of home building, the Portland Cement association plans to establish schools in various parts of the country to instruct builders and prospective home owners in the best methods and most economical use of concrete. These schools will be similar to the short courses maintained by many agricultural colleges. Three-day sessions consisting of lectures and demonstrations are planned.

At the present time, one of the greatest factors of cost in building materials is transportation. During the war a heavy increase was added to rail rates on building material. The recent additional freight increase of 40 per cent adds still more to the total transportation costs that must be considered in erecting a house. Since 80 per cent of the material making up concrete is obtained locally, concrete is, to some extent, independent of the railroads for transportation.

Stress will be laid on the desirability of standardizing construction, showing how approved methods of standardization will lower costs of home building. Another feature will be the demonstration of methods to conserve labor.

Local builders are using their influences to bring the school to this city and an offer to hold the course in the concrete laboratory of the Department of Agricultural Engineering has been extended by the University.—The Daily Cardinal.

Y. M. C. A. Grants Aid to 182 Ex-Soldiers

To aid ex-service men who are largely relying upon their own resources to obtain college education, the Y. M. C. A. at the University of Wisconsin is now allotting $3,750 in the form of 182 scholarships. All but twenty-four scholarships have just been awarded.

The scholarship awards amount to $100 each in the case of eight very deserving students and to $50 to each of the others.

In the awarding of the scholarships, the applicants were divided into three groups. The first class consists of men who receive neither state nor federal educational aid, receive no assistance from their families, and have relatives dependent upon them. The second class consists of men who are receiving the state bonus but no other assistance. The third class includes men who are receiving a small amount of family assistance in addition to bonus. About half of the men who have been awarded scholarships do not receive the state bonus.—Press Bulletin.

Chemist is Hoonred By National Society

Prof. Victor Lenher, of the Chemistry Department of the University of Wisconsin, has recently been chosen as a member of the advisory committee which has been established by the Smithsonian Institution, Washington, to be concerned with the collection of chemical types. The collection was undertaken by the National Museum under the will of Morris Loeb of New York, who left a fund to the American Chemical society for chemical research work. The society delegated the work to the Smithsonian organization.—Press Bulletin.

Students Compose New Dance Number

Among the dance hits that are in favor with Thompson's and Body's orchestras this season is "My Baby Vamp."

Piano players who have purchased this piece at Hook Brothers' music store may have noticed the names Line Quarberg and Al Bert as composer of the music and writer of the words respectively. Quarberg, former editor of the Badger, is now a senior in the College of Letters and Science; while Bert is a student at Michigan. This is Quarberg's first attempt as a composer, but his success is shown by the fact that Bert Lewis, the famous vaudeville star, is making a hit with the song on the Chicago stage.—The Daily Cardinal.

Assistant Coach Fogg and A. Heperlin of the Beatrice high school football team, will be guests at the Sigma Nu house Friday and Saturday.
