UNIVERSITY PLAYERS GIVE BROADWAY PLAY

Josephine Strode Jones as Emmie Wilton and Neil Brown as Henry Wilton Play Leads.

The University Players, under the direction of Prof. H. Alice Howell, depicted "The Successful Calamity" in all its phases Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights in the Temple theater. The success of this first play of the season by University artists was evidenced by the vigorous applause that the three capacity houses accorded the players.

Neil Brown played the leading male role—Henry Wilton—with credit. Josephine Strode Jones, as the young wife of a millionaire, was unusually clever in her part as the frivolous second spouse of a widower, whose spoiled son and daughter were both talking in terms of matrimony.

The plot of "The Successful Calamity" consisted of an attempt of a wealthy man to spend an evening with his family who craved outside amusement after the Broadway lights start to flicker. John Beldon, partner of the father, Henry Wilton (Neil Brown), lived and breathed in the characterization given him by Stoddard Robinson, who seemed to be greatly concerned in the matter of making a paltry $8,000,000 through a mistake of Eddie Wilton, Herbert Yenne, who made his first entrance into the business world in the office of a rival firm. By Eddie's mistake when he declared that the firm of Wilton and Beldon had failed, the rival firm at once disposed of all the stock, causing the gain of "eight millions" by the supposedly bankrupt man and his partner.

Ernestine Shayler, as Marguerite, had an exceedingly difficult time deciding which of two men she would finally marry. Even after the final curtain she reserved the feminine privilege of being allowed to change her mind—and she remained single. Sam Brownell, as Clarence Rivers, was willing, however, to have Marguerite become his bride for his money and then to allow her to start divorce proceedings in the second year of their marriage if she so desired.

The Cast.
The cast was as follows:
Henry Wilton, a millionaire, who longs to spend a quiet evening at home. Neil Brown.
Emmie, his wife, Josephine Strode Jones.
Marguerite, his daughter, Ernestine Shayler.
Eddie, his son, Herbert Yenne.
Geo. Struthers, Marguerite's fiance, W. M. Herbert.
Clarence Rivers, another fiance, Sam Brownell.
Julia Partington, Eddie's fiance, Mildred Gollehon.
Connors, the butler, C. L. Coombs.
Pietro Rafaelo, an Italian portrait painter, Orin Stepanek.
Dr. Broodie, the family physician, Welch Pogue.
John Beldon, Wilton's partner, Stoddard Robinson.
Albertine, Mrs. Wilton's maid, Marjorie Hayes.

PRIZES OFFERED FOR ESSAYS ON ECONOMICS
Chi Omega sorority has offered a purse of twenty-five dollars for an essay in economics. It will be given for the best essay presented during the year in any of the advance classes in Economics. The contestant may choose his own subject, but it must be approved by the committee, composed of Dean LeRoussignol, Professor Virtue and Professor Kirschman, which has been appointed to take charge of the details of the contest. The essays must be presented to the committee by the first of May, 1921.
Guy C. Lee, chairman of the committee of the National Society of Broader Education, announces another prize of one hundred dollars for the best essay on "The Relation of Wages and Prices."
This contest closes May first, and is open to any student, of either sex, who is a Senior in the University, and who has completed successfully all the work he has carried previously. He must be recommended by the faculty and must be carrying Economics as his major study.
The essay will be submitted to the society and will be published if worthwhile. This prize was offered two years ago, but only two essays were submitted, and so the prize was not given. The subject of this essay is changed from year to year.

"Why is a hearty laugh like a bulldog?"
"Because it shows teeth."

Schneider-Byrne
A wedding of interest to University people is that of Miss Clara Schneider of Fremont to Harry Byrne of Omaha. The wedding took place Wednesday evening at eight o'clock at the home of the bride's mother. Only members of the ceremony, but a reception followed in which a number of guests participated. The color motif of pink and yellow was carried out for the wedding appointments in which were combined pink roses and yellow chrysanthemums.

Miss Marguerite Schneider, sister of the bride was the only attendant. The bride's gown was of silver cloth embroidered in pearls. Her bouquet was of Ophelia roses and orchids. H. M. Bushnell of Omaha acted as best man.

The bride graduated from Wellesley College, and also attended the Nebraska University where she was a member of Delta Gamma. Mr. Byrne graduated from the University of Maryland and also attended Johns Hopkins University. He is a district Grand Master of Kappa Sigma fraternity.

Mr. and Mrs. Byrne will be at home after Thanksgiving at the Idalia Apartments, 115 North Thirty-third street, Omaha.

Barton-Nelson
An out-of-town wedding of Thanksgiving week will be that of Miss Irene Barton to Dr. Clyde Nelson of Lincoln. The wedding will take place at the home of Miss Barton's parents Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Barton of Pawnee City. Only the members of the family will be present at the ceremony.

Miss Barton attended the University and is a member of the Alpha Omicron Pi sorority.
Dr. Nelson and his bride will be at home after December 15 at 1532 south Twenty-seventh street.
