

MRS. BARKLEY TELLS OF SUFFRAGE CONVENTION

Local Leader Describes International Convention at Vespers Tuesday.

Mrs. W. E. Barkley, who was one of the eight United States delegates to the convention at the International Woman Suffrage Alliance held at Geneva, Switzerland, last summer, told of the convention, at Vespers Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Barkley is president of the Nebraska Woman Suffrage Association and was the first dean of women at the University of Nebraska.

The discussion and action on the economic conditions of women was the work of the convention in which the United States delegates were most interested. This is a phase of woman welfare to which the International Woman Suffrage Alliance had never before given much attention. Now that the suffrage demands have been granted extensively the delegates turned to the economic problem. The women from the United States wanted equal pay for equal work for men and women, and they also worked for action of the convention in favor of special protection to women in industries. All other countries with the exception of Holland disapproved special protection. The vote was in favor of absolute economic equality between men and women.

English the Official Language.
As an American woman, Mrs. Harry Chatham Catt, was president of the alliance, the official language of the convention was English. The use of other languages, however, was permitted. Only three or four were used much, and at least one woman from almost every delegation could "speak, read and think English well." Mrs. Barkley said that a woman from Bombay, India, was by far the best speaker at the convention.

The meetings were held in the Communale. The evening meetings were open and the people of Geneva attended in throngs. The delegates wore their native costumes in the evenings. The women from one part of India wore their native clothing all the time.

At the close of the convention Mrs. Barkley made a tour of France. She said that two-thirds of the country devastated by the war has been restored. She told the girls that, if they wanted to give a Christmas present that would be of real service, a good way to do this would be to send a food draft to the children of some country that has been at war. These food drafts can be obtained at any bank for any amount and sent to the food administrators established by Hoover in the various countries that took part in the war. France has sent word to the United States that she is now able to take care of her own orphans. Mrs. Barkley said that the countries in direct need of help are Germany, Russia and Czechoslovakia.

FRENCH SCHOLARSHIPS NOW OPEN TO STUDENTS

Business Administration, is the Nebraska representative on the National Advisory Board and has been asked to call the attention of University students to this fellowship offer. The awards of the fellowship will be made early in 1921 for the year following.

All Courses Offered.
All the fields of the modern university are offered for study in the universities, faculties and other institutions of higher learning in Paris, or in Aix-Marseille, Alger, Becanoon, Bordeaux, Clermont-Ferrand, Lille, Montpellier, Strasbourg, Toulouse, and a number of other universities of France.

The fellowships were established "in order to provide an enduring memorial for the one hundred and twenty-seven Field Service men who gave their lives to the Cause, and in order to perpetuate among future generations of French and American youth the mutual understanding and fraternity of spirit which marked their relations during the war." A permanent endowment of $25,000 is being established for each fellowship, and a total of $3,175,000 for the final total of one hundred and twenty-seven fellowships.

Business Steadily Decreasing.

CHICAGO, Dec. 1.—Unemployment has increased steadily in the mid-west during the last month, while the volume of business has declined, the seventh federal reserve bank of Chicago reported today in a survey of conditions in Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Wisconsin, Michigan, Missouri and portions of Kansas and Nebraska. The condition at present is said to be similar to that in the winter of 1914. Fifty per cent of men engaged in building lines are out of work.

SALES CAMPAIGN OFF WITH BOOM

Leather Skin Offered.

In addition to the list of prizes already announced for the sales campaign, the management decided Tuesday evening to award the organization having the largest number of subscriptions in by Thursday evening at 6 o'clock, a leather skin bearing the coat-of-arms or monogram on it. The best skin obtainable will be awarded. The announcement of the winner of this special contest will be made Friday morning.

All reports that are given today are of course not complete and not accurate. It is entirely probable that there are several 100 per cent organizations that were unable to report the fact to the Cornhusker business manager before the office was closed. Then, too, it is expected that a number of organizations have a large number of subscriptions to the book that have not been turned in.

Weather is Hindrance.

The poor weather Tuesday almost prohibited solicitation on the campus but it is expected that by the end of the week every student will be canvassed several times unless he has subscribed.

Every person who has subscribed to the book should be sure to get a tag from the solicitor who sells him a subscription in order that he will be identified with the loyal Nebraskans who are backing the big school annual.

Business houses, street corners and nearly every other place where there are any backers of Nebraska University activities was canvassed by the workers Tuesday. There are, however, many places that have not been canvassed.

Organizations that are working the hardest in the campaign are thinking not so much of the cash prizes that they will be awarded for their success as for the school spirit that they show by their efforts. It is up to every student, alumnus, faculty member and every other loyal Nebraskan to subscribe for the 1921 Cornhusker and make it a success.

To Canvass Alumni.

Several sororities and literary societies have expressed their intentions of canvassing their alumni for subscriptions. This is a field that will be very fruitful. Alumni are anxious to get the book and an opportunity to subscribe.

The Farm campus.
School in Omaha and stores have not been canvassed yet. Every organization in school should show the proper spirit in the best interests of the book by subscribing and getting others to subscribe.

It is expected that the campaign will bring in over 2,000 subscriptions to the Cornhusker. This will insure the success of the book so that the expensive art work and other material that is planned can be obtained.

Now is the time to come in and back the 1921 Cornhusker. It is a book for all Nebraskans. Student life, athletics and every other branch of school activities will have its share in the Cornhusker.

The big prize list includes: $75 for the first organization, $50 for the second, $25 for the third. A free Cornhusker to every 100 per cent organization. A leather inscribed skin to the highest organization Thursday evening.

Two dollars is the deposit required on the book. The rest of the price will be paid when the books are delivered next spring. The campaign closes at 6 p. m. Saturday, December 4.

BOARD OF REGENTS PREPARING BUDGET

McMASTER TELLS OF CROSS-COUNTRY HERE

However, this year, under the impetus given by Coach Schulte, in his enthusiasm for a cross-country team, and the support of the new athletic director, Mr. Luehring, interest was stimulated and a coach was secured to give his time exclusively to the sport of cross-country running. J. Lloyd McMaster, a former Nebraska man and captain of the 1915 cross-country team was secured to coach the team. More material than had ever before appeared for the sport, came out to assist in making the Nebraska team a real winner. Over 100 men reported to Coach McMaster, out of which he molded the Varsity team.

Meet at Grinnell.

On November 13, 1920, the Missouri Valley cross-country meet was held at Grinnell, Iowa. Nebraska was represented there, and the team placed third, out of the seven teams entered. In view of the fact that Nebraska had not had a team for a number of years and also that not a single man who made up the team had ever ran in a cross-country race before in competition, and that four out of the five men made their letters in a race, this is indeed a credible success.

On November 20, 1920, the University of Kansas sent a team to Lincoln for a dual meet between the Kansas team and the Nebraska team. Nebraska won the meet and stores made their letters.

Because of the fact that Captain Schulte was not permitted to participate in the race, because of physical disability, it means that six men in the cross-country squad have made their letters. In the taking up of the sport, and the expectations for a winning team next year are good, because four of these men will be able to participate another year.

A number of tryouts and one handicap race have been run this fall which have developed the fact that there is some good Freshman material which will improve the team materially next year.

Through the influence of Coach McMaster, a cross-country race was put on Thanksgiving day by the local Y. M. C. A. in which a number of the University men were entered.

There is no reason why Nebraska cannot have a team that will excel in the Missouri Valley. There are enough men in Nebraska, who, if they would come out, would make the team a winner. Many of these men will not participate in any form of athletics whatsoever. They owe it to themselves and to Nebraska to come out and assist in developing a team that will be a winner for the school, as well as being of great physical benefit to themselves.

(Signed) J. LLOYD McMASTER,
Coach, Cross-Country Team.

DEAN BUCK TO SPEAK TONIGHT ON "INDIA"

debate and discussion of the Monroe Doctrine will be held at a meeting of the club, December 9.

With the purpose of scientifically studying the current international relations of the world in a thorough non-partisan and non-propagandist spirit the organization was formed at the University last year. It has recently affiliated with the Institute of International Education. The present club is a branch of a national organization fostered by the Carnegie foundation.

been the chief function of the student year with the members of the cadet corps. This year will exceed by far in preparations and entertainment all years preceding. The decoration committee states that a novel system of adorning the ballroom is to be used and none except the committee in charge, will be allowed to see the room until the beginning of the evening's entertainment.

Student who wish tickets may have them by applying to any of the following: Dearmont, Proebstring, Robb, Hasselbalck, Kokes, Otto, Lewis, Cowley, Harlley, Wilson, Godwin, Richards, Latowsky or Weightman.

PROFESSOR IVEY ON SALESMANSHIP

men are taking advantage of the lectures and hundreds of the others crowd the building each Tuesday, although they are not registered in the course. According to those who have heard the lectures, the topics are unusually valuable because of three most striking characteristics: interest, practicality and result producing qualities.

Rudge & Guenzel, Lincoln firm, said the following in regard to Professor Ivey's lectures: "Our sales force was greatly benefited by your course of salesmanship lectures." "A worth-while course. Our employees were very much interested," was the verdict of Davison Bros., of Sioux City, Iowa.

Commercial Club to Hear Insurance Man

The Chemistry Club, meeting at 5 p. m. Friday in the auditorium, Chemistry building, will be addressed by Dean P. M. Buck on the subject of Chemistry in Literature. The club's Friday lectures are always open to the University and general public.

The lecture series, designed to correlate the science of chemistry and the work of the Chemistry Department with other departments of the University and with other phases of liberal education, are attracting an increasing attention at the University.

THE STATUE OF LIBERTY

Most of the famous structures of the world are equipped with Otis Elevators.

WHAT structure is better known or is more typical of America than this Statue at the gate of New York.

Countless thousands from the old world pass under the uplifted arm that holds a light which means to them worlds more than to us, though our millions know it and love it for the symbol it is.

It is fitting that an Otis Elevator should carry passengers up through the base to the foot of the Statue. For though the activities of Otis are world-wide, the beginnings, the creation, the basic ideas and the great developments of vertical transportation were made by Otis in America.
