

KAPPAS WIN SKIN IN SALES CONTEST

Lead Race by Ten Subscriptions in Fight for $150 Money Prize.

Two Days Left

"N" Blanket Will Be Given to Highest Individual Worker at End of Campaign.

CAPTAIN SIGN BLANKET.

The five Nebraska captains of major sports have agreed to sign their autographs on the "N" blanket that will be presented to the girl turning in the most subscriptions Friday and Saturday. These captains are: Clarence E. Swanson, captain-elect football; William Day, 1920 football; Russell Bailey, basketball; Melvin Bekins, baseball; John Gibbs, track.

Kappa Kappa Gamma was winner by a margin of ten subscriptions over the Union Literary Society in the race for the handsome leather skin presented to the organization leading in the 1921 Cornhusker sales campaign at the end of the third day.

A margin of only forty-one subscriptions separated the first and the fifth organizations in the race. This means that Friday will see the biggest day of the campaign with at least ten organizations battling for the $150 prize money.

Closely following the Union society was the Achuth sorority with only six subscriptions less. Delian society is running fourth with four subscriptions less than the Achuths. Delta Delta is in fifth place with twenty-two subscriptions less than the Delians.

Alpha Phi, Alpha Omicron Pi and Chi Omega were following close behind the first five. In other words, eight organizations have a good chance at the first place while none are clear out of the race. The lead of highest organizations is not so great but what any one can get in the prize money.

"N" Blanket to High Individual.

In order to give the individual workers a chance to get in on the prize list themselves, the Cornhusker management decided Thursday evening to give a beautiful scarlet "N" blanket to the person who sells the most subscriptions Friday and Saturday. This will be a keepsake that will be cherished by any loyal Nebraska girl.

The big campaign will wind up at 8 p. m. Saturday. This means that any student, faculty member or alumnus who wishes a 1921 Cornhusker must give their subscriptions in Friday or Saturday. If anyone wishes to subscribe and cannot find (Continued on Page Four)

Penn State Followers Praise Nebraska Men To Professor Earhart

"The Huskers are the squarest bunch of men we have met this season," was the remark made to Prof. Eida B. Earhart of the Teachers' College, while in Pittsburgh during Thanksgiving vacation.

Miss Earhart stopped at the same hotel with the Penn State football squad, the band and a crowd of rooters from State College, Pa. They were preparing for their Thanksgiving game with Pittsburgh. While talking to two of the members of the band, Miss Earhart mentioned that she was from the University of Nebraska, whose team had played them a short time ago. The band men were enthusiastic in their praise of the ability and spirit of the Scarlet and Cream warriors.

"They are the whitest bunch of fellows we have ever met on the gridiron," one of them remarked. This attitude, expressed by the Penn State followers is especially interesting to Lincoln people and reflects well on the Husker team. Their trip seems to have helped put Nebraska University on the map.

DEAN BUCK TELLS OF INDIA'S PEOPLE

Addresses International Relations Club at First Open Meeting Before Large Audience.

"India is a bundle of nations of people, criss-crossed by differences. It is not a nation. The national spirit is just now showing the first signs of arising. Hitherto, it has been no more of a nation than Europe has been a nation." These were the statements made by Dean P. M. Buck of the Arts and Science College at an open meeting of the International Relations Club in the auditorium of Social Science Hall, Wednesday evening, before a large audience of students.

The theme of Dean Buck's address on "India" was summed up by the words: "A country the least understood of any other country, yet having within it a culture and a literature approximating that of the Greeks in some respects—is India."

"The literature of India is very old and draws its beauty from a culture established many years before the birth of Christ. The India of today is divided by the hard and fast lines of caste. Twenty-five per cent of the Indian women die as a result of too early marriage. Only six per cent of the girls can go to school.

"Multitude of illiterate. The illiterate in India," continued the Dean, "number one hundred and fifty million and they live in almost absolute seclusion from the rest of the world. Compulsory education has failed because native members vetoed it. The new constitution, now being voted on, will perhaps furnish a basis for universal education.

"The urban population of India is (Continued on Page Four)

An Ode to the Loyal Nebraskan.
Want to see your name in print?
Buy a Cornhusker.
Or your picture? Here's a hint—
Buy a Cornhusker.
If you're clever—if you're not—
If some talent you have got—
Doesn't matter such a lot—But—
Buy a Cornhusker.

Are you a loyal Ne-bras-kan?
Buy a Cornhusker.
Or a cheering football fan?
Buy a Cornhusker.
If to the colors you are true
If your school means much to you
Come on—show your spirit—Do,

CAMBRIDGE HIGH WINS STATE CHAMPIONSHIP

Defeated Fast Commerce Team Thanksgiving—Played Entire Season Without Defeat.

The board of control of the state high school athletic association awarded the football championship of the state to Cambridge high school at a special session in Omaha Monday.

The award came as the result of Omaha Commercial high's defeat at the hands of the fast Cambridge aggregation on Turkey day when the men from the western part of the state triumphed over the Commerce team, 10 to 0.

Four high school teams went through the entire season without being defeated, they are Cambridge, Tecumseh, Friend and Ansley. The board in choosing Cambridge as the champion took into consideration the schedules of each of the schools.

Cambridge had met more teams of higher football calibre than had the other high schools and for this reason were awarded the banner. Each one of the undefeated high schools were congratulated on the record their team had made during the season.

There was some talk of a post season game between these contending teams but the board thought it would be useless to try to arrange for the post season games on account of the bad weather interfering with the contests.

By defeating Commerce so decisively Cambridge upset the deep for football, critics predicted that the fast team from Omaha would swamp their up-state opponents.

The new members of the association won the 100 points required for membership in the inter-class soccer tournament. Players on class first teams receive 100 points and second team players 50 points.

The association voted to enforce the rule not to allow girls who have not been awarded "N" sweaters to wear them at any time. Occasionally this rule has been violated when girls were selling at the Varsity games for the W. A. A. Hereafter only those owning sweaters will be permitted to wear the coveted "N" sweaters are awarded at the end of each school year to those who have earned 1,000 points in girls' athletic contests.

Regular meetings of the Women's Athletic Association are held the first Wednesday of each month. For three unexcused absences from meetings during the school year a member forfeits the points she has won and is dropped from the association.

The Varsity Dairy Club completed their plans for the annual dairy show at its Wednesday night meeting. The show will be held at the State Farm December 4. The program calls for a dairy judging contest at 1 o'clock in the afternoon and is open to all College and School of Agriculture students, who have not participated in any collegiate contest or who have not acted as judge in any official degree. An entrance fee of seventy-five cents will be charged for this contest and one-half of the money will be pro-rated back to those scoring over 80 per cent.

Six classes of dairy animals will be placed and one set of written reasons and one set of oral reasons will be required of all contestants. Members of the Dairy Club are selling tickets for the show. The contest will offer good experience to those interested in judging animals.

PRESIDENT WILSON GIVEN MEMORIAL

Parchment Signed by One Thousand Two Hundred Nebraska Women Exhibited in Lincoln.

A Thanksgiving memorial to President Woodrow Wilson as a tribute of faith in the League of Nations and to the retiring president's cause, contained the names of 1,200 Nebraska women engrossed on a parchment 20 by 24 inches square. It was on exhibition at Miller and Palne's store before it was sent to Washington. Lincoln women furnished 469 names on the seal leather roll.

On its way to the United States capital, a roll of soft black seal leather, with a silver plate on which were engraved the words: "Woodrow Wilson," protected the parchment.

Dr. F. M. Fling, professor of History at the University, and a member of the U. S. Peace Conference Mission, prepared the wording of the memorial.

University Artist Contributes Work. Philip Harrison, University artist, had charge of the art of engrossing, in renaissance letters with proper ornamentation. The work was done in India ink. Original signature sheets were sent as evidence of the bonafide character of the work. The letter accompanying the memorial was signed by Dr. Inez Philbrick and Mrs. Ida Thurber of the University.

The memorial was described as "a drop of antidote to the wave of sordid materialism" manifest in the election. The idea of the memorial was conceived a few weeks ago in a conversation between two Lincoln women "sick at heart over the evident slump shown by the election returns from the spirit of idealism in which we entered the war."

BASKET TOSSERS DEVELOPING FAST

Big Squad Out Every Day Preparing for First Game of the Season.

Face Heavy Schedule.

Last Year's Stars Working Hard—Many Football Men Out for Team.

The basketball season is starting with a big squad of men out every day competing for places on the Varsity quintet. Coach Schissler is well pleased with the manner in which the men are bucking down to work and expects to develop a team by the holidays that will do justice to Nebraska when the Huskers go East.

The Huskers have a heavy schedule to face and on account of the shortage of time, the development of a team to compare with last year's quintet will be a difficult task. Coach Schissler is starting at the bottom and teaching the men the rudiments of University basketball. This is not necessary in all cases but the men are developing an eye for the basket and the necessary amount of endurance.

Last Year's Stars on Job.

The Husker stars of last year's team who have been in suit all week are Captain Bailey, Patty, Newman, Munn, Smith, Bekins and Jungmeyer. A number of this year's football stars are out already for the team, Coach Schissler expects a large number of the football men out early next week. He wants as many big men as possible to get out early in the season so that a heavy team as well as a light team may be developed.

There are a number of open dates on the Husker schedule that Coach Schissler expects to fill in a day or so. Negotiations are now under way for a game with the quintet from the University of Omaha and also with the Wesleyan crew. These games will be in the nature of practice contests for the Varsity.

Early Games Doubtful.

On account of school closing a few days earlier it is doubtful whether any games will be scheduled for December 17 and 18. The team will practice all during the first part of the vacation and will then depart for Illinois and the other games to be filled on the Cornhusker schedule while the team is in the East.

The Freshmen will hold their first practice tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock in the Armory. The work will be under the direction of John Pickett who assisted in drilling the Freshman football team.
