MISS MARY BORRENSON ENTERTAINS AT HER HOME

Miss Mary Borrenson, '23, of the Agricultural College, held an Achievement Day for her "Wise Owl Canning Club" girls, Saturday evening at her modern country home, at Wahoo. Miss Borrenson won a trip to Chicago, last fall, which was financed by the Successful Farmer, for having been the most active non-club-member in club activities in the state.

Miss Borrenson has been active in club work this year. Her club won over $100 worth of prizes at county, state, and inter-state fairs, on jars of canned products shown. Recently two pairs from her club were included in a lot of 10 jars sent to the Extension Department to the National Museum at Washington, D. C.

CORNHUSKER SOUNDS CALL FOR STAFF TYPISTS

Freshmen and others who have been appointed to work on the Cornhusker and who are able to operate a typewriter are most urgently requested to call at the Cornhusker office, which is on the fourth floor of University Hall to-morrow afternoon when work will be assigned to them. Those reporting at the office will be able to get a good start in some of the most essential work to be done on this year's annual.

All entries for the Inter-fraternity Basketball Tourney must be filed at the Athletic office by Friday, February 18. Teams may enter upon the payment of one dollar registration fee. The schedule will not include those teams who have not entered by Friday.

DR. HYDE ADDRESSES FRESHMAN CLASS

Dr. Winifred Hyde of the psychology department, addressed the freshman lecture class on "Psychology" Tuesday. She distinguished this science of the mind as a study of human behavior. She gave illustrations of how the mind can be tricked into registering false ideas. For example, she showed the class how to make it seem to the eye as if there were a hole through the hand, as if two pencils were held up when there was only one, and how it was possible to make the head seem to disappear from the shoulders. She illustrated how sounds were placed and what things attracted the human attention.

The lecture was closed by giving some statistics from the results of the freshman mental tests. She pointed out the importance of these tests and told how they aided the faculty in judging students.

Nebraska Song Book Valuable To School Spirit

Music is one of those everlasting links which connect the present with the past. It is the thrilling strains of the "Star Spangled Banner" which bring to mind the times of 1912, under the powerful influence of which the national song was written; it is the blood warming rhythm of "Marching Through Georgia," or of "Dixie" which awaken in the hearts of the veterans of '61 the feeling of a new born youth, taking them in spirit to those red letter days of the past. And in the years to come will it not be the notes of "Over There" that will arouse recollections of 1917 and the Great War? Surely, it is the divine function of music to keep warm in our hearts the thoughts of other days.

With this thought in mind, consider the way in which the inspiration for our Nebraska Song Book was born. The scene was set along the shores of a beautiful summer lake, the time was near 12 midnight, and an August moon shown down. A student, returning from a party across the lake was nearing his cottage, woe-strains of familiar college songs came floating over the night air. The student waited, listening to the tuneful melodies, and the question came to his mind, "Why doesn't my own Nebraska have a compilation of her songs?" And there a resolution was made which has since ripened to reality, and today Nebraska has her song book, with songs as

AMERICANIZATION COMES THRU PERSONAL CONTACT

We do not realize how many foreigners live here without friends said Miss Ruth Clark, national Y. W. C. A. field secretary for foreign-born women, at vespers Tuesday in speaking on Americanization of foreign-born women. In Minneapolis, college girls are teaching foreign women in their homes, as they can not attend night school. These women soon become interested in their teachers and sometimes refuse to let them go home. This Americanization, the speaker emphasized, is something only college women can do, and they can do it by contact, thus making the foreigners eager to learn more of the land in which they are living.

Miss Clark said that some of these women are not enthusiastic about learning the English language, but that after they have come in contact with educated Americans they want to learn more about the language.

LAST DAY FOR FRATS TO ENTER TOURNAMENT

Schedule to Be Framed First of Next Week—Indications Point to Fast Contests.

Today will be the last chance for those fraternities who have not all ready done so, to pay their entrance fee for the inter-fraternity basketball tournament that will be staged the first of next month.

The schedule will be framed the first of next week. So far all but five or six frats have entered the tournament and these organizations have signified their intentions of doing so.

A great deal of interest has been shown by the different organizations in the past over these annual affairs and there seems to be no lack of interest over the coming contests. Every fraternity that has not as yet entered should do so before 5 o'clock today as this will be the time for the closing of the entries. The entry fee may be paid at the Student Activities office or turned over to John Pickett.

TWO PROMINENT ALUMNI GIVE TO WOLFE FUND

Two prominent alumni of the University of Nebraska have recently contributed to the Doctor Wolfe Memorial fund. One of them, Thomas E. Wing, '23, of the firm of Wing and Russell, attorneys in New York City, writes the following:

"There can be no question of the great debt to Doctor Wolfe of all those who studied under him. I am very glad to recognize mine even inadequately and enclose herewith a check for $100 for the fund."

The other contributor is W. B. Pillsbury, '26, who is now head of the Department of Psychology at the University of Michigan. Dr. Wolfe once said that the University of Michigan had one of the best equipped psychological laboratories in the country. Professor Pillsbury writes as follows:

"Of course Professor Wolfe meant more to me than to almost any one else, and probably counted as much in my life as any one else. I am sorry I cannot afford more. I enclose check for $25."

ORGANIZATIONS MUST HURRY WITH WRITE-UPS

School organizations desiring to have their own write-ups printed in the Cornhusker are asked to hand them in at the Cornhusker office at once. They should not be over one hundred words in length and should include a list of officers. Any organization that has the key to its picture is asked to turn it in at the office.

NOTRE DAME HERE TO MEET HUSKERS

Hoosiers to Clash With Scarlet and Cream Tonight at Coliseum.

NEBRASKA IS CRIPPLED

Game Stated to Be One of the Fiercest on Cornhusker Home Schedule.

The Huskers will meet the Notre Dame quintet this evening on the Coliseum floor in the first contest of the two game series. Coach Schisler watched the Notre Dame athletes in action against the Creighton team last evening in order that the Huskers may have some idea as to what they are running up against.

Tonight's game will be the hardest fought contest with out a doubt that will be staged on the local floor this season. The Irishmen have met defeat at the hands of the Nebraska crew for a number of years and they are intent on taking the long end of the score home with them.

Huskies Are Crippled.

The Cornhuskers will present a somewhat crippled aggregation to put up an offense like that the Notre Dame men met here last year. Captain Bailey and Newman will be at the guard positions with Bekins acting as pivot man. With Smith and Warren on the hospital list the forward positions will be decided this evening.

Director Luehring announced yesterday that there would be no dance following tonight's contest owing to the large number of parties scheduled for this evening. There will, however, be a big dance after Saturday night's game. The best music the city affords will be on hand to grind out the necessary amount of noise for the dancers.

Freshmen vs. Legion.

Preliminary to the big battle the Freshmen will meet the Lincoln American Legion basketball quintet. The Freshmen have not had a chance to display their ability before a University audience thus far this season and Coach Pickett is anxious to give the yearlings a chance.

The first year lineup will be picked from the following men: Holland, Schaffers, Riddlesborder, Wyant, Miller, Gibbs, Hamilton and Tipton.

The Legion team will be composed of Haeger, Scofield, Baney, Harper, McCloy and Amos. All of these men are old time stars and should give the Freshmen a real battle.

The preliminary contest will commence at 7 o'clock.

Harry Anderson returned Tuesday morning from a two weeks tour in the east with Thurlow Lieurance, where he appeared in several concerts as violinist and made records for the Victor, the Edison and the Columbia companies.
