At The Theatres

Orpheum.

With a laugh in every act from first to last, the Orpheum this week, presents a well-balanced bill. The Breakaway Barlows, in an interesting ladder act start the program. Joe Lane and Pearle Harper in "The Man and the Manicure" came next with a pleasing, dancing and singing act. "The Old Fashioned Garden" as a vehicle for the six Kirksmith sisters was a musical act presenting a number of popular songs. The act that seemed to please the majority of the people was George MacFarlane, a baritone, with a voice that almost stopped the show, for the audience could not get enough. The headliner, "The Dance Shop," was a miniature musical comedy act in which a number of daring costumes were worn by the chorus and principle. Two negro impersonators and three hat jugglers were the two concluding numbers on the program. The usual Kinograms and Topics of the Day were shown.

Foibles in Slang of Campus Characters

(By First Ade.)

No. 1. Even as Eve.

There is a Maid in School who is a Dead ringer—for Elsie ferguson and Mary miles minter—she is Such a Slim Wisp of a Girl, Gosh Ding her—she reminds Silly-minded Young Men of a Splinter.

She is forward, a kiddier and youthful and shy—and she has all those Cut Little Ways—two great Big Dimples, a Cute Little eye—and an Expression of Innocent Daze.

Her face is her Fortune, the Men all say So—a Queen you'd State her to be—but her Sure Fire Asset which laid the Men Low—is a Slow Swaying Motion from her Hips to her Knee.

Said Motion is Fetching and yet so Demure—It set all the Walnuts to Gawkin—This Pose of the girlie is no Sincere—For she even Sways when she's Talking.

Now such a Heart Wrecker should Never be Loose—there's some one maid-made for each Man—What's sauce for the Gander's sauce for the Goose—and the Fire's much worse than the Pan.

So she Fell, how she Fell for two Baby blue Eyes—and a complexion that Won't Wear off—With those Pretty ping Cheeks so sweet and so nice—Any girl'd know he'd Act soft.

So they both Had it Bad, and were Glad that they Had—as no one else Understood them at All—and the moral of our little ditty is Almost too Sad—The Prettier Girls Are, The Worse Do They Fall.

THE DIFFERENCE

You have a dollar.
I have a dollar.
We swap
Now you have my dollar
And I have yours.

You have an idea.
I have an idea.
We swap.
Now you have two ideas
And I have two ideas.

Student Opinion

(To the editor of the Daily Nebraskan)

The single tax is one of the greatest democratizers that could be introduced in the University. If all the students in the University helped support the student activities a large number would take advantage of these. They would read the Rag. They would attend the football and basketball games the Uni mixers, etc. The students would have a large number of common interests, class distinctions would disappear.

Not only would students be interested in the same thing, but they would sing and yell together. The value of this is known to every social worker. We hear a great deal of community singing as a way of creating a bond of friendship, in a group of people Singing and yelling stirs the emotions and whenever a group of people experience the same emotion together a spirit of sympathy and friendship arises among them, which they can never quite forget.

It is this spirit of oneness that the University of Nebraska needs. We are divided into cliques now and the University is subordinated to the cliques. We need to feel that we have a big common purpose and to be able to rise above petty jealousies in order to promote the welfare of our Alma Mater. When we are away from the University the sight of any U of N student should give us a thrill just because he came from an institution that is dear to us.

This spirit of democracy and of intense pride for our institution is what we Cornhuskers lack. The single tax would in time give us this.

—Gladys Wilson.

AROUND THE WORLD CLASS MEETS TONIGHT

The "Trip Around the World" class of the World Outlook groups will hold a meeting tonight at 7 o'clock in room 218, Social Science Hall, to listen to Miss Dorothy Macklin, who will give some views of China as she has seen it.

The students taking this course have studied a separate country each week, and a different speaker has been secured for each meeting. Miss Macklin is the daughter of a medical missionary who has been in the Near East for many years and has attained a high reputation all over China for his skill. Miss Macklin was born in China and is at present attending Corner College. Her father is still in China as head of Union hospital at Nankin.

Miss Macklin will give her talk dressed in native costume. All University students, whether members of the class or not, are invited to hear the speaker this evening.

KEARNEY COMMERCIAL CLUB ENTERTAINS

The Commercial Club of Kearney gave a banquet for one hundred boys' and girls' club members, February 25, at which L. I. Frisbie, state leader of the Junior Extension department, presented several certificates of Achievement.

Mr. Frisbie states that "the commercial clubs and farm organizations out in the state are beginning to realize the value of club work in bringing new students to the University. A specific instance of this, was brought to light recently, when two first year men from Webster county were in my office and stated that their club work was the direct cause for their registration in the Agricultural College."

AID FOR NEBRASKA SCHOOLS

Wesleyan University and Hastings College Given Donations.

NEW YORK, March 2.—Donations to colleges and universities aggregating $2,660,000 were announced today by the general education board. These contributions are conditioned on the institutions raising supplemental sums which would bring the total to $5,600,000. Among institutions receiving the largest sums were: Nebraska Wesleyan university, $250,000, and Hastings college, Nebraska, $135,000.

The general education board was founded by John D. Rockefeller, "to promote education within the United States without distinction of race, sex or creed."

THREE MONTHS LATER.

Is it that we two meet no more,
Has love from out of two lives passed?
If I could see your face, I should go mad

With the old Dreams again. As women throw

A withered flower away, which they have worn

Too long already, so You cast my love Far from you, rudely—and I ceased to live

But you—ah, You! Your life as gayly runs

As ever, Dear—except sometimes, perchance,

As few days past, when you sat in your room alone

And saw some things which gave you thots

Of hours which have long since passed by:

With these was left my very Heart,
Though You would never see it thus;

And now, when life holds newer things,

To You, than love and kisses
Which once you craved from me,

I pass, as passes the Spring

And in my Place—who knows?
