STUDENTS CAST BALLOTS TODAY

Vote on Whether Student Council Shall Remain in Force—Polls Open Six Hours.

MUCH INTEREST IN OUTCOME

Daily Nebraskan Through Student Opinion Column Has Sought to Give Both Views.

Ye humorous of elevated literature. As a result of a petition calling for a mass meeting two weeks ago, the student body today, will vote whether or not they desire to keep the Student Council in force. The voting will take place in Social Science 107 and the polls will be open from 9 until 12 in the morning and from 2 until 5 in the afternoon.

On March 1 a mass meeting was called by President Metzgar of the Student Council. At this meeting made possible through the signing of a petition, a proposal was made to abolish the Student Council.

During the two weeks since the meeting was held, a great deal of interest has become evident among the factors in the campus. Several meetings of different organizations have been held and the matter discussed. Student opinions, publicly expressed through the student opinion column of the Daily Nebraskan, have increased the interest in this election.

BIG ROCK ON CAMPUS IS A NATIONAL CURIOSITY

Of course you have seen the big rock on the campus, but have you ever stopped to consider why it is there and where it came from. It may serve as a convenient seat for lovers and for the weary, but it is one of the most notable relics in the state. This rock was brought from Harington, Nebraska, by the class of 1892. If you will notice the rock you can plainly see that it has been picked and carved by the hand of man. The imprint of a bare foot is cut into the surface half an inch deep. A cross is deeply cut near the center of the top while around the entire surface are carved curious cryptographs. The Greek letters, Delta, Omega and Chi, can be made out. Others resemble Chinese inscriptions. No one thus far has been able to decipher these inscriptions. It is not probable that this carving was done in Nebraska. If it were, to decipher it would not be such a difficult task. Then, too, there would be some evidence of the work near where the rock once rested. This work would require many pieces of rock and bits of rock would have been worn away. The soil near the rock has been analyzed and no trace of any material like the rock has been found. No similar markings have ever been found on any other rocks in Nebraska.

About twenty miles southwest of Boston, Mass., there is a rock called "Dighton Writing Rock." Much has been written about this rock. It was discovered in 1639 and since then hundreds of scientists have been puzzled over the inscriptions on it. Many of the characters on the Dighton Rock are similar to those on our rock. The characters on Dighton Rock could not have been cut while the rock was in its present place as it is below tide and is covered with water except for about three hours a day.

These boulders are "drift pebbles" brought to the United States in "the drift by a great glacier which covered the northern part of the earth many centuries ago.

NEBRASKA WRESTLERS CAPTURE THIRD PLACE

Husker Grapplers Make Good Showing Big Meet at Indiana.

Nebraska was well represented at the middle western conference wrestling meet held at Bloomington, Ind., last week. The Huskers finished in third position. Captain Ed Hoyt of the Nebraska grapplers won the heavyweight division by defeating Spencer of Purdue in the finals.

Indiana won first place in the meet by securing 16 points with Iowa close on the Hoosiers' heels with 15 points. The Cornhusker grapplers made a total of 12 points for third position. All of the Nebraska mat men showed up well in all of their matches and were forced to lose to more experienced wrestlers.

Practically all of the important schools of the middle west took part in the meet. Following is a list of the teams and points made by each. Indiana 16, Iowa 15, Nebraska 12, Northwestern 11, Ohio 7, Ames 6, Oklahoma 5, Illinois 5, Purdue 5 and Wisconsin 0, Chicago 0.

BASEBALL AND TRACK POPULAR

Husker Athletes Turn Attention to Spring Sports—Squads Ready for Action.

TRACK SEASON HAS STARTED

Coach Schulte Has Record Squad of Track—Forty-two Men Have Won Numerals.

With the 1920-21 basketball season at a close for Nebraska all eyes are turned in the direction of track and baseball. Coach Schiessler expects to put some of the baseball men through a preliminary workout at the Coliseum in a few days.

Coach Schulte has had his men out working on the board track all winter and has already developed some good material for the Husker cinder path team.

A new system has been introduced enabling the men to win their numerals by competing in a number of events. This has been a great stimulus to the track squad this spring and from all indications Nebraska will be represented by one of the greatest bunch of track artists ever gathered together here.

At the present time there are forty-two men who have either won their numeral or have made points toward winning it. Fifteen of these men have already acquired their numerals by their performances in the various events. McCarthy, Cressell, and McDonald are showing up exceptionally well in the longer dashes and have received their numerals. In the disc and Coats have made the best resistance runs Dorn, Bowman, Williams and received their numerals for their efforts. Mackey, Brown and Schoepfel have been leaving the javelin for good distances in tryouts and have secured their numerals.

Record Time for Dashes.

Noble, Thomsen, and Moore have been running the dashes in record time for the board track and have received their numerals. Peterson has received his numeral for his performance in the dashes and the discus. Curler leads the high jumpers and has already landed his numeral. Moore takes the low hurdles in record style and has received his numeral.

With warm weather coming soon Coach Schulte expects to see the cinder path for the rest of the season. Work is rapidly progressing on the track and everything will be ready by the end of the week. There has been an exceptionally large turnout this spring for track and Coach Schulte hopes to make it a banner year for Nebraska.

Huskers Bring Home Prizes.

The Huskers have already participated in a number of big indoor meets and have brought home their share of the prizes. In the big meet held at Illinois, Deering and Wright both captured a first in their events and Fred Dale finished third in the shot put. Nebraska made a very good showing at Kansas City at the big indoor meet held there.

The next big meet will be the Drake relays at Des Moines. Coach Schulte hopes to send a relay team to the Iowa city that will lower the record for that track. Track and field work will be carried on here at Nebraska this spring on the largest scale in the history of the school. Coach Schulte would like to see every man get out and show what he can do some time this spring.

VIKINGS UNITED IN STAND AGAINST COUNCIL

That the Vikings as a body should stand for the abolition of the Student Council at today's election, was unanimously voiced at a meeting of that organization Sunday afternoon, March 13. Officers were elected for the second semester. No other business was transacted.
