Fair Co-Eds Hike To Armory On Rainy Friday

A rainy Friday in the gymnasium! The most popular place on the campus. The smell of damp wool lay heavy on the steamy atmosphere of the dressing room that was crowded with noisy, restless girls seeking a shelter from the downpour without. Wherever there was a clotting of the crowd, one knew a radiator was near by. Umbrellas in every corner were forming slowly widening puddles and wet oxfords were strewn over the floor. The heavy shower at 10 o'clock discouraged classes for many for the rest of the day, so off with the wet shoes and clothes and into the comfortable gym clothes they hopped.

Unusual interest was shown in the two gymnasiums for the day. Discoveries were being made of ladders, horses, swings and punching bags, and what was usually considered as unsightly equipment became the means of lively indoor sports. In one corner two feminine pugilists were "biffing" each other with regulation boxing gloves in a final practice for the ig Circus, to take place the next day. The larger girl was getting the best of the match until a "fly swatted by an aspiring "Babe" on a nearby diamond, knocked her out in the second round. The match ceased with no decision. Some coeds were recalling their youth by "skinning the cat" and hanging by their knees on the parallel bars, there were losing their dignity by holding a jacks tournament on the floor. The carnival reached its height about mid-afternoon when the showers ceased and the crowd began to thin.

DR. WILLIAM AXLING TO SPEAK AT CONVOCATION

Prominent American Comes Direct
From Orient—Is on His Way to Conference.

Direct from a conference with the Japanese premier and on his way to Washington, D. C., where an interview with Secretary of State Charles E. Hughes is being arranged, Dr. William Axling is stopping in Lincoln until Tuesday and will address a special convocation Monday morning at 11 o'clock in the Temple theater.

Dr. Axling, who was graduated from the University of Nebraska in 1893, has spent twenty years in Tokio, during which time he has come into contact with the leading men in Japan. He is well posted on that country's attitude toward the United States and his lectures on the west coast during the last two weeks have been received with enthusiasm.

After convocation tomorrow morning, Dr. Axling will address the state legislature in joint session. His topic will be on the Japanese situation today and the convocation will be an excellent opportunity for those who are interested in learning Japan's views on world problems to satisfy their desire. Dr. Axling has not only been in the same city with the leading men of Japan, but he knows personally their leading educators and statesmen.

Dr. Axling is staying with Dr. W. T. Elmore while in Lincoln. He has spoken in many of the large cities on the western coast since his landing at San Francisco about two weeks ago.

PROFESSOR SMITH TALKS TO ENGINEERS

Prof. C. W. Smith of the engineering department, gave a recent address to members of the engineering department. He spoke on "Agricultural Engineering." The speaker emphasized the fact that service is the keynote, in any branch of work is the criterion for the amount of service it renders, the demand also makes for remuneration; it goes with service rendered.

Agricultural engineering is of most importance in rural communities. For example the testing of tractors at the State Farm is for the protection of the farmer. In the experimental field, there is the study for the saving of power in farming. The speaker said that the demand for engineers was increasing with the modern equipment being put on the farm.

Professor Smith stated that the agricultural engineer has more of an opportunity to meet pleasant and cultured people than many other engineers, for the country is not filled with ignorant people.

A few announcements were made in regard to Engineers' Week and Field Day.

REGENT PRESENTS FLAG TO AG COLLEGE GROUP

Ex-Regent W. C. Whitmore, of 2001 Washington street, Lincoln, Nebraska, presented a beautiful new United States flag to the Agricultural College. This flag is eight by twelve feet in size, and was unfurled from the flag-staff in front of the Agricultural Engineering building, at 8 o'clock Friday morning, April 15.

Scandal in 1921 Cornhusker Sure To Shock the Students

Sh-h-h, it's out! We find it on the campus, written in notebooks or hiding in some shady corner. It stalks about always looking for some new victim whose lily white name it may blast. You may ask, "What is it?" Come closer and I will whisper in your ear. "It's scandal."

"Scandal, well that is nothing new, you remark. But, my dear reader, allow me to take issue with you for you have not seen what I have and you have not read what I have. I have as my evidence the student life section of the 1921 Cornhusker. A very attractive cut illustrates the beginning of this section and from the very first page to the end of the chapter the readers' knowledge of those who are termed "campus lights" are painted in their true life.

The annuals will more than likely be out about a month from now that is if things progress as favorably as they have in the past month. The business department has been able to obtain enough paper for one hundred extra copies of the annual and those persons desiring to obtain extra books should call at the Student Activities office and place their order this week.

Every student should have a Cornhusker. The days that are spent in this institution are some of the best of our lives and we should have a token of value so that during the days that are to come we will be able to recall those dear old days spent at U. of N.

The organization section which has caused more than one gray hair in the editorial staff has been very near completed. Pictures of the various school and campus societies and write-ups of each of these organizations, compose this department.

The only department lacking material is the athletic section, but students having snapshots of either the track teams or the baseball teams may help to make this section one of the best in the annual if they will turn in any pictures they have in to the editor. The sooner these pictures are in the quicker the printers will be able to turn out the annual.

FOUR HUNDRED GIRLS SEE SILVER SERPENT CIRCUS

All the Wonders of the Earth Presented at Annual Affair—Held in Armory.

Four Hundred Sophomore and Junior girls were entertained Saturday afternoon at the annual Silver Serpent Circus, at the Armory. The larger gymnasium was converted into a great one-acting show, while in the smaller gym, all the side show wonders were to be seen.

On entering, each girl was given a ticket, with which she gained entrance to the tremendous spectacles of the "One-eyed Monster," "The Trip Around the World," "The Giant Toothpick," "Fatima, the World's Fattest Woman," "The Four Great Fortune Tellers," and with which she purchased ice cream cones, won peanuts by knocking down "Nigger Babies," and traveled through all the mysteries of the curious side shows. Breath taking trapezeists, chariot races, the clowns, the wild and woolly buffaloes, the fearless snake charmer, and the grand parade led by the jazziest of jazz bands, all were features of the big show. After the main performance, the large gym was cleared and the spectators, with the performers, danced for the remainder of the afternoon.

UNIVERSITY MUSEUM IS NOW OPEN SUNDAYS

The museum is now being kept open on Sundays with especial invitation to the members of the legislature and the public in general. A Sunday afternoon in the museum, provides not only interesting diversion from the monotonous routine of the week, but also serves to instruct and enlighten one, in a study of the many curious and antique relics which adorn its walls.

Sunday attendance at the museum has been very good lately, according to Prof. Barbour who is in charge. Approximately a hundred people took advantage of the opportunity to inspect the museum last Sunday. The museum will remain open until the termination of the legislature.

ALPHA ZETA FAVORS HONOR SYSTEM HERE

Alpha Zeta, honorary agricultural fraternity, went on record as favoring the institution of the honor system at Nebraska University by a vote taken at a regular business meeting last Thursday evening. Alpha Zeta's resolution, without a dissenting vote, is an indication of the Ag student's faith in the system. During the discussions preceding the vote the opinion was repeatedly expressed that the honor system failed to carry in the last election because students did not fully understand its operation.

Xi Delta.

Xi Delta, sophomore girls' honorary society, as hostess to freshmen girls at a tea Friday afternoon at Ellen Smith Hall. A program of readings was given by Irene Castford. Dancing was enjoyed during the afternoon. Refreshments of ice cream and wafers were served.

THREE SENIORS TOP LIST IN FRIDAY CLASS CONTEST

Helen Clark Wins Loving Cup For Highest Point Total—Martha Krogman Second.

Three senior girls won the first places in the normal physical education class apparatus contest held Friday at 11 o'clock. Helen Clark won the little silver loving cup with a total of 106 2-3 points. Martha Krogman took second place and was awarded the gold pencil, having made 101 2-3 points. The third prize, a box of candy, went to Ruth DuBols, with 101 points. The three girls ranking next highest were Elizabeth Bah, 92, 100 1-3 points; Bessie Epstein, 93, 98 1-2 points; Marguerite Stott, 91, 97 2-3 points.

The prizes were awarded by an alumna of the department to stimulate more interest in apparatus work. Each contestant went through exercises on the side horse, the long horse, the parallel bars and the rings. It was possible to make ten points on each exercise, on this scale—three for the approach to the apparatus, four point for the event, and three points for the departure from the piece. There were twelve exercises all together, making it possible to make 120 points with a perfect score.

The whole class showed up in good form, and the fact that three seniors won first places is only logical, since they have been at the work for a longer time than their underclassmen.

The judges of the contest were: Mrs. H. C. Collins, Miss Irene Springer, and Miss Lula Mann.

FORDYCE TO STUDY WESTERN SCHOOLS

Mr. Fordyce has been called by the Boards of Education to North Platte and to Chappell, Nebraska, to make a study of their school systems, including the plant, courses of study, methods of instruction, such as will enable them to improve their systems. Mr. Fordyce left Friday and will spend a week in this survey.

DEAN HASTINGS TELLS OF BLACKSTONE'S WORK

Dean Hastings delivered an interesting address to the law students at the general lecture Friday on the subject, "Blackstone and His Works." His talk dealt with the value of Blackstone's works as an authority on the early English common law. He traced the development of the importance of these works as they affect the study of the present day law.

CORNHUSKER STAR SHOWN IN COLLEGIATE WORLD

The May issue of the Collegiate World has for a cover design two pictures taken at the 1920 Penn Relays. One picture is of the 120 yard high hurdles and the other of the finish of the 100 yard dash. Floyd Wright, star Husker hurdler, is shown in the high hurdle picture with a number of other contestants. The Nebraska hurdler is at the extreme right of the picture.

RUDGE NORTON
Who appears as Teddy Jellicot in The Tailor-Made Man, April 21-22-23.

NEW FACES ARE SEEN IN "THE TAILOR-MADE MAN"

Cast is Announced for University
Players Production of This Week.

The cast for the last play of the season by the University Players is finally complete. The twenty characters in the "Tailor Made Man" represent the majority of the players in school and many of them are making their first appearance before a University audience. The play is to be given Monday and Wednesday before out-of-town audiences and a finished performance is assured. The cast is as follows:

John Paul Bart—Walter Herbert.
Mr. Huber—John Dawson.
Tanya Huber—Lucille M. Foster.
Dr. Sonntag—C. L. Coombs.
Mr. Rowlands—Herbert Yenne.
Kitty Dupuy—Marguerite Louisa Stott.
Mr. Stanlaw—Welsh Pogue.
Mrs. Stanlaw—Irma McGowan.
Corrine Stanlaw—Helen Burket.
Abram Nathan—Neil Brown.
Ted Jellicot—Rudge Norton.
Peter—Gerald Leuch.
Bessie Dupuy—Esther Marshall.
Mr. Fitzmorris—Rhue, Green.
Mrs. Fitzmorris—Raehael Whitfield.
Grayson—Wallace Waite.
Mr. Carroll—Clarence Ross.
Bobby Westlake—Sam Brownell.
Wheatley—Edmund Nuss.
Miss Shayne—Nell Freer.

The play consumes four acts, the first and last taking place in the tailor shop. The second act takes place at the mansion of the Stanlaws where a large reception is taking place. As the girls in this act have stunning costumes to show off and the curious will find that the "lines" at a large affair of this sort are almost inferior to the "lines" daily sprung on the campus. The amusing bit of the act is the watchful mother and her innocent daughter and the way mother fills daughter's dance card. The third act takes place at Nathan's office and invites comment as to its business "atmosphere."

Walter Herbert, Neil Brown, Cyril Coombs and Herbert Yenne, the University Players leads in former plays, are all in the cast and this is the first time the public has been able to see their united efforts.

Walter Herbert in his role of John Paul Bart has one of the best opportunities in the country to shine for this play enjoyed a huge success on Broadway, running there for over a year to capacity houses. His work in the rehearsals has been an inspiration to all the other members of the cast.

Lucille Foster makes her bow as the charming heroine and her work is an offering of the best type. She is well suited to her part and is an ideal leading woman.

The lesser characters all have excellent parts as they supply the comedy of the piece and many laughs are sure to result from the character work of these people. The play itself, the cast and the work and amount of direction expended on all point the biggest success the Players have ever done.

Gamma Phi Beta.

Mrs. O. J. Fee and Susan Riches entertained members of Gamma Phi Beta at a Kensington Saturday afternoon. The house was decorated in pink roses. Alma Dykes gave several piano and vocal selections. The hostesses served a light lunch.

Farm Juniors Scale High Tank To Show Their Class Numerals

The night was dark, the clouds hung low, everything was still, the turmoil of the day's activities had ceased, when a few stealthy figures stole silently over the University farm campus, and halted at the foot of the 70 foot water supply tank just east of the Animal Husbandry building.

Scaling the heights of this tower would be considered a dare devil feat by most people in broad day light, but on a night when a slow driving rain was falling and it was so dark that it was almost impossible to see one's hand ahead of them, it seems an almost inconceivable task. Yet some of the members of the School of Agriculture Juniors performed this rash act and disregarded all provisions of accident insurance policies or the night of April 14.

The torrents of rain which fell Friday morning did not erase in the least the vandal marks of the night marauders. The great black tank showed forth its tell-tale story to an who would read. For the first time in 11 years a School of Agriculture class overstepped the unwritten law of discretion, and misplaced their class year '22, in large white numerals.

The class of 1910 of the School of Agriculture perpetuated a similar stunt, they used red paint instead of white, and as a result their treasury was almost depleted in paying the University authorities for the application of several coats of black paint. Just what punishment will be meted to the present offenders has not been made public as yet.

SPECIAL CONVOCATION

Dr. William Axling, Nebraska, '98, who has spent 20 years in Tokio, Japan, is on his way to Washington to confer with Secretary of State Charles E. Hughes, will address a special convocation Monday morning at 11 o'clock in the Temple.
