IOTA SIGMA PHI STARTS DRIVE

Intend to Buy 1 Gram of Radium for Experiments on Cancer by French Scientist.

WILL COST $130,000.00

Nebraska Chapter of Women's Honorary Chemical Society Will Help.

The women of the University of Nebraska under the leadership of Iota Sigma Phi, national honorary chemical fraternity for women, will help in the movement of the women of America to raise 130,000 to buy 1 gram of radium to present to Mme. Marie Curie, noted French scientist, to enable her to continue her experiments on cancer.

Madame Curie, discoverer of radium and head of the Radium Institute of Paris, France, will land in the United States, May 18, to tour this country, giving lectures and instructions as to the use of radium in the treatment of cancer.

Madame Curie has twice won the Noble prize of $500,000, given to the foremost scientist of the world, which has been awarded to only three women. During the war she worked in the hospitals, giving instructions as to the use of radium in treating wounds. It is estimated that she has saved approximately 50,000 lives.

Because of her great work in this line, the women of the United States, especially the college women, are endeavoring to raise $130,000 with which to buy for Madame Curie one gram of radium. The great war debt of France has prevented her mother country from giving to the distinguished scientist the necessary radium with which to continue her work. In return for this promised gift from the women of the United States, she has agreed to devote the remainder of her life to the treatment of cancer.

Iota Sigma Phi, honorary chemical society for women, is backing the drive for funds in the University. Each University girl is urged to give some amount, however small, to this cause. Her name and contribution will be turned in to headquarters separately. The names of all who contribute to this fund, however small the gifts may be, will be published in a book to be presented to Madame Curie with the gift of radium.

Miss Josephine Graves will be at Chemistry Hall, third floor, any afternoon of the week, to receive contributions.

EIGHT NEW TENNIS COURTS NOW IN USE

With the opening of eight of the new tennis courts Thursday afternoon interest in the net sport is on the increase. Members of the executive committee of the University tennis club met yesterday afternoon and set a date for the University tennis tournaments.

The plan this year is to stage a pair of tournaments. One tournament will be for the men and another for the girls of the University. Both tournaments will be staged the first week in May.

Enrollment of tournament entries will begin Monday, April 25, and continue until 6 p. m. Friday, April 29. The entry will be free to members of the tennis club.

Greater Nebraska Luncheon.

Tickets for the Greater Nebraska luncheon may be secured at the desk in the Grand hotel this noon. The Y. M. C. A. cabinet for the coming year will be installed.

SERVICE MEN MAY OBTAIN WAR MEDALS

Captain Hagan, of the military department, reminds all ex-soldiers in the University that they are entitled to a Victory Medal. All students who have not received a medal but desire to possess one may do so by submitting their application and bringing their discharge certificates to room 202 for examination by Captain Hagan or Sergeant Patton.

Students who were members of the Expeditionary Force in Europe are entitled to the following in addition to the Victory Medal:

1. Service in any of the European countries—A clasp.
2. Service in a defensive sector—A battle clasp (only one battle clasp allowed for this service).
3. A battle clasp for each of the major offensive participated in.

Numbers 2 and 3 above may both be received provided the discharge certificate shows that the individual has seen the required amount of service. Eligibility for numbers 2 or 3 renders one ineligible for number 1.

"TAILOR-MADE MAN" IS WELL RECEIVED

New Type of Play Makes Hit at First Presentation to Large House.

The comedy-drama, "The Tailor-Made Man," which the Players present as their last play of the season, had an exceptional "first night." The audience was the largest that the Players have played to this season, despite the fact that the Engineers' Night was a rival attraction. The play called forth many laughs and various situations were greeted with much applause.

This is a new type of play and the University Players feel well satisfied at the reception it brings from a University audience. The Players handled the clever situations with a neatness which brought the most out of each line. The whole thing went very smoothly and left a very pleasing impression. A noticeable feature was the effective grouping in the drawing room scene in the second act. According to many, this was one of the best representations of a drawing room scene obtainable and the new scenery contributed to the finish of the performance. The light-comedy type as this is, will be seen again May 4, 5, 6, when "Seventeen" is put on.

To Walter Herbert as John Paul Bart was assigned a role calling for much snap and for a high type of acting. As the tailor's apprentice and the man for whom the play is named, he brought much applause, so skillfully did he extract himself from the various bad fixes the play placed him in. His acting was the best he has done and he handled a big part as few could handle.

John Dawson was a "knockout" as the German-American tailor and his character work was superb. Lucille Foster as Tanya Huber, Marguerite Stott as Kitty Dupuy, Herbert Venne as Rowlands, the reporter, Cyril Coombs as Doctor Sonntag, Gerald Lench as Peter, Rudge Norton as Teddy Jellicott and Helen Burkett taking the part of Corinne Stanlaw, did exceptional work. Miss Foster won the heart of the audience as well as other Tailor-Made Man.

The new talent first seen in this play gives promise of brilliant future work and augurs well for next season. The first performance of the Tailor-Made Man promises exceptional audiences Friday and Saturday night.

AWARD WRESTLING LETTER TO EIGHT OF VARSITY TEAM

Honor Emblem Granted to Members of 1921 Grappling Squad—Elect Captain Today.

Eight men received the honor "N" for their services on the wrestling team. The men are as follows: Captain E. C. Hoyt, Gayle Pickwell, R. S. Long, F. K. Reed, M. W. Power, R. Bengston, Stanton Troutman and L. C. Wertz.

Next year's captain will be elected this morning when the Varsity wrestling team will meet in Dr. Clapp's office. Nebraska had a very successful season in the mat game this year and a number of dual matches were staged here with a great deal of success.

Next year the Varsity will be without the services of Captain Hoyt who is without a doubt one of the greatest wrestlers ever developed at Nebraska. Gayle Pickwell will also be lost to the squad. Dr. Clapp, the Varsity wrestling coach, will probably have some difficulty in finding some one to fill the places of these two men.

FOGG WILL LECTURE AT LINCOLN HIGH

The names of the cabinet men will be announced in the Sunday Daily Nebraskan. Several new positions have been created for the coming year and at least two positions which were created during the past year have been so successful that they will be continued.

CHARTER SPECIAL FOR OMAHA DAY

Will Leave Burlington Station at 7:30 A. M. May 6th and Return at Midnight.

To properly care for the excursion, the transportation committee has arranged for a special train to leave the Burlington station at 7:30 a. m. on Friday, May 6, and return about midnight. To facilitate handling the great number which it will be necessary to transport on this special train, the students will be divided into groups by the enrollment committee at the time of enrollment and each group will be assigned to a definite section in the train. In this way, the different groups will be ready to get started on their trips at once when they arrive in Omaha. On the train the reception committee will assist the students in planning what to do during their leisure time in Omaha.

The enrollment committee, which will begin work on Monday, April 25 will at the time of enrollment permit each student to choose one trip which will last from about 10 a. m. till 2:30 p. m. according to the length of time required to make the inspection. These trips are the biggest features of the day. They are so planned and arranged that there will be one or more trips pertaining to every course in the University. Each group will be given luncheon at the business house or institution where it is visiting.

On the completion of the trips, the groups will be free for the afternoon and early evening. The reception committee will aid anyone in planning the afternoon and will act as guides for those who are unacquainted with the city.

The Nebraska Alumni Association of Omaha is working in conjunction with the Omaha Chamber of Commerce in receiving students and is arranging for transportation on the various trips. This is an enormous task, and it is necessary that the association know in advance how many there will take each trip. For this reason, we appeal to every student to enroll as soon as registration is begun rather than to wait till the last minute.

At 8 p. m. all the students will assemble at the new M. E. Smith auditorium at 10th and Douglas streets for an elaborate dance and carnival. The Chamber of Commerce has secured one of the snappiest orchestras in Omaha to furnish the music. The dance will be in the nature of a carnival. There will be surprises galore scattered through the evening.

TELLS ABOUT R. O. T. C. AT LELAND STANFORD

Maj. Leroy P. Collins, field artillery, U. S. A., who is on duty at Leland Stanford, Jr., University, Stanford, Calif., as professor of military science and tactics, has an article in the Stanford Illustrated Review for March on military training at the university. He gives credit to Maj. Jens Bugge, Inf. U. S. A., for putting military training on a permanent basis at Stanford which fitted many Stanford men to render valuable service in war.

"Carrying a gun," says Major Collins, "has never been a popular sport in college, and the same may be said of the country in general. We are a nation of hero worshippers during war or threatened danger, paying to our soldiers at such times something very akin to reverence, only to turn iconoclasts and ridiculers when the danger passes. This is not a very admirable trait of the American character either, but unfortunately it is one which our national life and history tend to accentuate rather than to eliminate. The British have the same weakness. Men go to college not only to learn professions, but to become better and more useful citizens, and military training and discipline add the something to the indispensable academic work and the highly desirable athletics, which fills the gap and gives the poise and patriotism, which neither of the others can do."

ADA STIDWORTHY GOES TO NATIONAL CONVENTION

Miss Ada Stidworthy, '21, left Thursday morning for Columbus, O., where she is a delegate of the local Black Masque chapter of Mortarboard to the national convention. Miss Stidworthy is the first delegate to attend from Nebraska, as the Black Masque organization at the University of Nebraska did not become affiliated with Mortarboard until after the convention last year. Representatives will be present at Columbus from many of the largest colleges in the country.
