THE COLLEGE PRESS.

In order to make the University of Nebraska an institution which can say with pride that she holds a position near the leaders in the world of journalism, the crying need of a University Press must soon be realized. Every other University in the country which emphasizes journalism and has a distinct journalistic department has its own printing establishment and other facilities.

Instead of dragging copy at intervals throughout the day from the editorial offices of the college day to a down town print shop, it would be rushed every few minutes to the College Print Shop, located on the campus. Extra editions of the college paper would be possible. Students would be the workers in this shop exclusively and a paper would be turned out that would represent real effort and conscientious work.

With its own facilities for printing, the Awgwan, Pulse, Blue Print, Daily Nebraskan and Cornhusker would be the products of the Nebraska University Print Shop. We have a splendid School of Journalism now, but its facilities are lacking. The establishment of a College Press at Nebraska would place the Cornhusker School in a prominent place on the journalistic map of the country.

Recently a speaker before the Nebraska Academy of Sciences explained how the interpretation of dreams, which the effects of a sub-conscious mind, can be utilized to help diagnose certain mental diseases—especially those which have to do with nervousness. According to the law of averages, with the number of students who habitually dream in class, it would seem that the University of Nebraska is inhabited by a nervous student body—or perhaps one with a strange mental disease.

WHAT WILL THE HOUSE DO?

The Nebraska Senate has voted to appropriate $300,000 for a new memorial gymnasium at the University of Nebraska. If a like amount is raised by the University. The barrier of the upper house has been removed. What will be the fate of the bill in the lower chamber? It was attempted to change the appropriation to one of $350,000 for University dormitories, but this was speedily voted down, 25 to 5. It is recognized that Nebraska has a new system of dormitories that is proving quite successful and which it is acknowledged will suffice for a number of years.

However, Nebraska is really ashamed to ask visiting teams of some repute to play at this University because of the inadequacy of facilities. The gymnasium is old, cramped and not abreast with the other lines of Nebraska's improvement. The athletic field and stands do not meet the growing needs of a school where sports are on the pinnacle they hold at Nebraska.

We need a new gymnasium imperatively. It will not only serve as a structure devoted to Cornhusker athletic needs, but it will be a monument to our University soldiers who died in the World War. With the endorsement of the Senate, the House cannot fail to pass the appropriations without delay.

The old call of "Swing your partners" familiar to the devotees of the ancient barn dance would have an entirely different application in 1921.

The height of stinginess is the host who heats his knives so the guests won't eat any butter.

The height of laziness is the man who gets up at five every morning so he can loaf all day.

And the height of ignorance is the man who believes that Easter Sunday is Billy's sister.

Yes, and he who laughs last is English.

By its goose egg victory over Cotner yesterday the Husker baseball speedsters showed real stuff.

Fair Damsels of Art Class Blossom Out Once More

It gives us great pleasure to announce that our art classes are at large once more. They hibernated all winter doing many things up there in the old library that we know not of but they have condescended to mingle with us common mortals now that summery days lure them from their den.

We think as we enter the campus that we may possibly have made the mistake of coming to Greenwich Village instead of trodding the path we thought we knew so well.

There they sit scattered in groups around on the grassy making a picture that makes us want to take up brush and paint and copy if we were only skilled as these talented maids whom we admire.

HUSKERS WILL CLASH WITH WESLEYAN TEAM

Schissler's Nine to Meet Methodists This Afternoon and Saturday on Farm Diamond.

Nebraska meets Wesleyan in the first game of a two game series at the State Farm diamond this afternoon. Coach Schissler has been putting the Huskers through the regular workouts the past week and is all set to take on the Methodists.

Munger will probably be the choice for the mound with Anderson working behind the plate. Captain Bejins will be at first and Pizer will cover the keystone sack. Bailey at short and Carr at third will complete the infield.

McCrary, Schoepel and Thomsen will be in the outer garden. Coach Schissler worked the Varsity against the Freshmen nine last night and the Varsity worked in fine style. Peterson was on the mound and the first year team was unable to connect, with only a few safe bingles.

The Huskers hit the ball for a number of safe hits but were able to secure the greater share of their runs on errors by the first year men. Pickett took the mound for the yearlings after the first few innings and held the Varsity helpless for some time. Coach Schissler expects to give the entire squad a chance to display their ability tomorrow.

To Invade Kansas.

The second game will be played Saturday afternoon and the Huskers will leave Wednesday for Kansas on a four-day trip. Monday evening the Varsity will play a picked team composed of some of the Varsity squad and Freshmen team. Pickett will be on the mound for the pickups and Munger will probably be the opposing pitcher.

The second team journeyed out to Cotner yesterday afternoon and brought home the scalp of the Bulldogs by a 6 to 1 score. The batteries for the second team were Peterson, Carman and Williams. Carman did especially good work in the box and will probably be added to the regular Varsity pitching staff later in the season. Peterson behind the bat played errorless ball, and polled out a number of nice hits. The entire team played like veterans and will be strong contender for places on the Varsity.

In selecting your spring wear, you will want to know that what you have chosen is of the newest.

And that is why we are saying some things here that in other years would not be necessary.

Our policy of buying only what we know we will have purchasers for prevented us from being overstocked and enabled us to actually offer entirely new garments in everything we show for spring.

Also, in buying after the market changed, we received the advantage of the new quotations so that the values are of the new standard.

So when you come to us you know that everything is new. New styles, new values, and the newest of the new styles.
