GYMNASIUM NOW ASSURED, IF--

Just as the Daily Nebraskan was being tucked away in bed Wednesday night the lower house of the legislature was securely tucking away a new memorial gymnasium for Nebraska as far as it is in its power to tuck it away. It was working overtime to do this. But along with our rejoicing we cannot lose sight of the fact that the gymnasium as a reality still rests on a contingency.

There must still be an "if" tacked on to the realization of the new Cornhusker gymnasium. The $250,000 ($100,000 less than that requested by the Regents and as passed on by the Senate) appropriated by the House is only available after $350,000 has been raised by popular subscription. It is therefore the duty of all University students and alumni to contribute liberally toward this fund. Already more than one-third of this amount has been pledged by students and "grads" and committee members are confident that by subscription the final goal can be reached. If you did not respond to the call for funds last spring, a voluntary contribution now will be an act of patriotism to the University of Nebraska of today and the University of tomorrow.

It has been due, in a large measure, to the painstaking efforts and sincere work of the student representatives Charles Reed, law-'21, of Lincoln, and Fred McFarland of York that the appropriation bill successfully passed the lower chamber. Here's to them!

Since General Wood has been chosen President of the University of Pennsylvania it looks like the Philadelphians will have to look for another hand to guide their destiny.

In spite of the fact that man is made of dust, it seems that his name is "mud" most of the time.

Sometimes a false conclusion has some logic after all—for example, a salesman might describe certain colors as fast, because they run.

When you follow a class discussion faithfully and your copious notes seem perfectly clear to you at the time—isn't it strange how foreign and cold they look during "cram" session?

JUST THE RESULTS DESIRED.

Recently a politeness reporter was sent out on the campus to find out how many students are courteous at all times. To this reporter's various queries the student body responded in the most kindly manner. But a silent observer, who has watched the daily conduct of students, has written an editorial which indeed explodes the theory of a Nebraska University that is 100 per cent courteous.

The reason this reporter was sent to seek out the discourteous and the reason she failed was preordained. This result of her efforts, we hoped, would lead to some criticism of the unkindly acts of University students through the Student Opinion column, in order that we might really see upon what "little things" Nebraska students need to polish up. And it has finally brought results. Some student has had the courage to express the results of her "silent observations." Her opinions have showed that Cornhusker students do not have manners that are flawless.

Let us have more Student Opinions on the same subject. Think it over: Are University of Nebraska students as courteous as they might be?"

The time-worn tradition of Senior Sneak Day is abolished in 1921 with the announcement that Chancellor Avery will entertain the fourth year students with an outing at Crete.

Entries in the famous Penn relays at Philadelphia are further proof that Cornhusker stars of the cinder path braska or of the Middle-west are the limits of their jurisdiction.

A REAL MAN'S JOB.

While the various campus organizations are considering the proposal of the Student Council on the Honor Spirit, it is well for them to see the responsibility they take in agreeing to uphold Nebraska's honor. It is one thing to acquiesce, but it is a real man's job to carry out the principle. It means that every member of the organization takes it upon himself neither to give nor take information during examinations, and that he will guard his weaker fellow-students from falling into the same sort of thing. Unless each organization is willing to go to this extent in fostering the Honor Spirit, the desired end will not be accomplished.

The ideal is too high, you say? Perhaps, but not impossible. To young Nebraskans there is no such word. Remember that Rome was not built in a day. Let every individual who cares at all about the moral standard of old U. N. give the thing a trial and see if his outlook on school life is not changed. Let this new spirit act and interact with the 4,000 other energetic young minds, and see if it does not boost Nebraska school spirit to the clouds.

EDITORIAL OF THE DAY

THE WORTH OF A SMILE.

(Grand Rapids Herald.)

Little Jimmy Godfrey, aged 12, climbed a tree—out in Kansas, City—to gather walnuts. He came in contact with an electric wire. One side of his face was burned, leaving an ugly scar. A damage suit against the power and light company was instituted on Jimmy's behalf. The chief element of damage about which the claim centered was that Jimmy had lost his youthful smile. On the witness stand, Jimmy was asked to try to smile. The only result was a puckering of the lips and a melancholy drawing of the face. A physician testified that the smile muscle in his cheek had been bound by the seared tissue above. The jury promptly returned a verdict giving Jimmy $20,000. That becomes the officially fixed value of a smile.

Moral: If a smile is worth $20,000 when you lose it, it is worth $20,000 when you use it. The world is full of Jimmy Godfreys—some of 'em little chaps like him, some of 'em big, grown-up folks. Some of 'em are like Jimmy used to—with a warning, cheering, helpful smile that makes life happier for everybody in it. Some of 'em are like Jimmy is now—"smile muscle" always gone—instead, a deep, dark, foreboding frown that makes the world a little darker and a little gloomier for all who come in contact with them.

They paid Jimmy $20,000 to compensate him for his loss. His loss! Do you get that? In other words, important as Jimmy's smile was to others, it was most important of all to him.

If all the "smile muscles" in the land were electrocuted—and all the radiance went out of the faces of those, you know them, who help us turn the dark clouds inside out—all the gold in the world couldn't shine bright enough to make a compensating light.

FRESHMAN HOP IS SATURDAY EVENING

Saturday evening, April 30, the freshmen will hold their annual hop at the Lincoln hotel. The committee in charge has been working hard to make the party a success. Tickets for the affair may be obtained from members of the Freshmen Hop committee, composed of Addison Sutton, chairman; Helen Bassett, Don Fairchild, John Lowe, Gene Porter, Alice Babcock, Florence Garbutt and Charles Mitchell.

VALLEY FRESHMEN WILL COMPETE IN TRACK MEET

Husker Yearlings Will Enter Team in Competition to Be Held Wednesday.

The first Missouri Valley freshman track meet will be staged Wednesday, May 11. Freshmen from nine of the Missouri Valley conference schools will compete in the same events and at the same time. The meet is to be in the nature of a telegraphic meet.

Four hundred men are expected to compete from all the schools. The results of the meet from each school will be wired to Washington University at St. Louis where the winners of the various events will be recorded and the school winning the most points will be announced later.

The Husker freshmen have a likely squad out for the cinder path sport and Coach Schulte expects the yearlings to hang up some good records for the other schools to compete against. Tryouts for this meet as well as the Kansas-Nebraska dual meet, which is scheduled for a week from tomorrow will be held Monday evening.

FIVE DELTA SIGS GO SNIPE HUNTING BUT LUCK WAS POOR

Five Delta Sigma Delta freshmen are wondering just where the joke comes in, when asked "How many 'snipe' did you get last night?" Here's the way the story was written up in the Nebraska State Journal Wednesday:

The season is not yet ripe for snipe hunting, at least that was the experience of five young men who tried holding their sack several hours Monday night at Capital beach lake, and who were hauled home hivering and wet and disappointed by two Lincoln men who had been to Milford.

The two men, whose names are given as Ira D. Howard and Isaac J. Fisher, were returning to Lincoln by way of Capital beach lake. They saw one standing in the road flagging them with a lantern. Thinking it might be someone in distress they hove to and turned off their engine.

Five men were standing in the road, each carrying a large bag, according to the story told by Russell P. Howard, recruiting sergeant for the Nebraska national guard. They asked to be hauled in to Lincoln. Once aboard they began a hard luck tale.

They had been standing in the cold waters of the lake several hours they said, with bags properly held. They had turned their backs to the point where the moon rose, had stood in a semi circle and whistled according to the most venerable traditions of snipe hunters, but the elusive snipe refused to even appear.

They were at a loss to explain their failure to bring home a large batch, but after consultation today decided that it was too early in the season, and that the snipe had probably not immigrated to this locality. They promised to reward their benefactors with a few snipe if their next trip was more lucky.

A part of the story is corroborated by police, who know that several men stood in the road Monday night, and allowed at least two cars to pass when it was seen that the cars were already loaded. Police had been wondering what became of the five men.

CALIFORNIA OFFERS THREE SCHOLARSHIPS

The following letter, relative to three scholarships in the University of California was received in the office of the Daily Nebraskan:

To The Daily Nebraskan:
The Agricultural College of the University of California is offering three research scholarships in agriculture with remuneration of $600 per year and the privilege of registering in the graduate college for a masters or a doctor's degree. Any agricultural senior interested in these positions should inquire at the Dean's office or write to Professor R. E. Miller, Chairman Committee on Research Assistantships, University Farm, Davis, California. In writing they should give full particulars regarding their training and experience and the particular phase of agriculture in which they are interested.
E. A. Burnett,
Dean of the College of Agriculture.

ALUMNI NOTES

Freshmen Track.

Freshmen novice meet will be run off at the same time as Varsity tryouts. This will act as a preliminary tryout for the Missouri Valley Freshman Telegraphic meet.
