MAYOR MILLER SPEAKS TO UNIVERSITY MEN

That the university student owes something to the community which provides his education, was the keynote of the speech given by Mayor Miller to the men attending the "Greater Nebraska" luncheon Friday, at the Grand hotel.

The student can serve the community in many ways, by unselfishness, idealism and leadership, said Mr. Miller. That he feels his responsibility toward the University has been proved by the enthusiastic support given the University appropriation bills by alumna in the legislature. Mayor Miller believes that in spite of the natural changes of the times extravagance is decreasing and democracy growing in the university. He also expressed himself as being in favor of the weeding out of all students who were not in school for serious purposes. "There is no room for them in the largest university to be found."

SALE OF TICKETS FOR JUNIOR PLAY TO START

Cast for "The Invaders" Announced—Rhue Green and Mildred Gollehan Have the Leads.

The story centers about Carson Bland, a self-made man who, with two partners, strikes a rich vein of gold in the mountains of Montana. He goes east to look after the financial interests involved and there further increases his wealth by skillful manipulation of the stock market.

In his attempt to invade society he forces a young woman of high social position to marry him as a part of a business deal with her father. He is deeply in love with her and the struggle to win her love takes up the rest of the play.

UNIVERSITY PLAYERS TO GIVE 'SEVENTEEN'

Herbert Yenne Dramatizes Famous Work of Booth Tarkington.

"Seventeen," as dramatized by Herbert Yenne, will be given by the University Players in three complimentary performances May 5, 6 and 7 at the Temple theater.

The management had planned to present this play as part of their season's series but as they were unable to obtain the Stuart Walker acting rights, they could make no charge for admission.

The cast is a well-selected one and has been practicing incessantly for the past two weeks. Two tryout performances which will be given at state institutions will give polish to the presentation. Special scenery has also been painted.

The cast is as follows:

- William Baxter.....Herbert Yenne

Door of Opportunity Opens for Women in Field of Journalism

By Wilma Winter.

When a girl sets out to knock on one of the doors that open to a journalistic career, which promises to open the most readily—the one labeled "society," "women's activities," "clubs," "children's stories," "features," "sob sister," "movies" or "straight reporting?"

It depends upon the girl. And it depends upon the paper.

The novice had best not be too particular. If any of the doors show the tiniest ray of light through the crack, the girl who wants to try her fortunes on the wheels of the public press would do well to take advantage of that opening. She can find her own particular field after she has been a member of a staff for a while. The first requisite is to "get on."

To be sure, the field for women's activities on newspapers has been greatly enlarged, especially since the war. Women had to be used to cover assignments and "beats" that heretofore were never opened to any save the short haired sex. City editors found that petticoats did not hinder the ferreting qualities of a nose for news. In fact in some cases, it was found that women could get things that men never would ask for.

But since the soldier reporter had come back, since the money market has tightened and since jobs have become a necessity rather than a luxury, it is not so much for the neophyte to say what position she will hold on a staff. In fact, she is lucky to get a chance to try out.

After she gets on a staff, the ambitious girl reporter who has a hidden desire to try out some particular line of writing, may put in all of the extra time on extra work she desires. If she has anything really worth while

VARSITY GOLF TEAM TRYOUTS NEXT WEEK

Students Urged to Sign Up—Entry List Will Close Monday Noon.

First tryouts for the Varsity golf team will be held next week. Entries may be made any time until Monday noon when the entry list will close. Everyone interested in golf is urged to enter the tryouts. There has been an insufficient number of entries thus far and Director Luehring wants more of the students to sign up.

"If we are to have a golf team like other universities of the Missouri Valley we will have to have more men turn out and a great deal more interest shown by the student body. We now have over two hundred and fifty names on the tennis roll and there should be approximately this number on the golf roll as well," said Director Luehring.

Pairings for the qualifying golf tournament are as follows: Aitken and Salter, J. Whitten and B. Wright, G. Gardner and F. Walrath, W. Roberts and H. Clarke, I. Rosenbaum and D. Gallagher, J. Lawlor and G. Fox, T. Roope and H. Hubbell.

Beginning Monday each player will play fifty-four holes, at least eighteen per day. Players must secure cards at the Lincoln Country Club house and turn cards in after each eighteen holes have been completed. All matches will be played at the Lincoln Country Club and every match must be completed before Thursday evening of this week. Additional entries should be handed in to Director Luehring's office before noon Monday.

This tournament will be followed by an elimination tournament which will give an additional line on Nebraska's Varsity team.

Word has been received from Drake University, University of Oklahoma, Washington University, University of Kansas, Grinnell, Kansas State Agricultural College and the University of Missouri, expressing a desire to enter the first Missouri Valley conference (Continued on Page Five)

SCHOOL CLOSED ON OMAHA DAY

Official Holiday Announced by Engberg—Pre-Medic Students to Enroll Here.

RED CROSS NEW GROUP

Enrollment Continues Monday and Tuesday—Fifty Cent Charge if Not on Special.

Dean C. C. Engberg has announced that school will be closed Friday, May 6, for Omaha day, in spite of the fact that a total of 1,000 students has not been reached on the enrollment list. This decision was made with the hope that more students would enroll were the trip assured. All students who wish to go on the inspection trips and to the dance must enroll. A charge of $4.50 to cover the entire trip includes fare both ways on the special, luncheon and dance. Students may enroll for one-way fare on the special and everything in Omaha for $2.40. If not going on the special either way, the enrollment fee is fifty cents. Students who have already enrolled, and wish to go on the special may do so. Those who do not go on the special but wish to go on an inspection trip in Omaha must meet the special at the Burlington station at 9 o'clock Friday morning.

Dean Engberg suggests that instructors encourage students to make this trip, and accompany them if possible. If any instructor wants to take a class or group of students on a special trip, arrangements can be made if he will leave his request at the main booth, between the Armory and U Hall, Monday.

Pre-Medics Notice.
Dean Cutter of the Omaha Medical School denied the rumor that he made a statement advising the pre-medics not to buy the tickets put out by the organization here. When Dr. Cutter was in Lincoln he said he would receive the pre-medics in Omaha, but he meant for them to go along with the others in the regular way. The 103 pre-medics who have signed up with Dean Lyman will be interviewed for the enrollment fee.

New Group Formed.
Mrs. Hattie P. Williams will conduct a Red Cross group who will visit the social settlement, the Visiting Nurses' Association, Deaf Institute and the Old People's Home. The group will study the housing problem under the direction of Dr. Edwards, head of the city health department. Ten have already enrolled in this group, and four more may enroll.

Enrollment in the fine arts department is very heavy and there is room for only a few more.

There will be an enrollment booth on the Farm campus Monday and Tuesday for the Agricultural College. There will also be a booth in Chemistry Hall.

Some Groups Still Open.
There is room for a few more to enroll in the following groups:

Group 1—Inspection of South Omaha stock yards and packing houses.
