JUDGE COSGRAVE TALKS AT GENERAL LECTURE

Judge Cosgrave, Lincoln lawyer and former judge, spoke to the members of the Law College at general lecture Friday morning at 11 o'clock in room 101, Law Hall. He told of the essentials that go to make the successful barrister, emphasizing the need for more men who place veracity above everything.

"A lawyer who does not exemplify all that is good in men has no business in his profession," said the speaker. "A profession is not to be judged by the failure of a few of its followers. If such was the case every profession would suffer. We don't condemn the medical profession because there are a few careless physicians, we don't blame the minister who marries a couple who cannot get along, and why should we condemn the legal profession because there are a few lawyers who do not believe that their character is judged even in a small degree by their clients?"

HOW MANY WILL TAKE OMAHA TRIP?

The committee in charge of Omaha Day must be able to tell the Chamber of Commerce at Omaha, how many students to expect on May 6. This is necessary so that automobiles, lunches, favours, etc., will be adequate to take care of students that come to Omaha. Mayor Smith of Omaha has written to the committee in Lincoln welcoming the students of Omaha. The stock yards, smelter, and other concerns in Omaha have also sent letters inviting University students to visit their
